Eye and Temper Savers.
"Those who do fine needlework of any kind," says a writer in the June Woman's Home Companion, "will find it advantageous to observe these rules closely:
"1. Do not sit too long at the task. If you wish to spend a day or a half day at it, keep at it steadily for fifty minutes, and drop the work for the next ten minutes, occupying your time with something else through which the mind may be relaxed. At the end of ten minutes go back to the needlework, again applying yourself to it for fifty minutes, and so continue throughout the entire day.
"2. Always observe closely the rule regarding light direction. Sit with your back almost facing the light, with the latter coming over your left shoulder.
"3. When working with net or fine laces that are white or light colored, wear a black apron that is without gloss, and never wear a dress or apron that has a figure or stripe of any sort in it. Use plain colors as a background for your work, and use colors that are receding, like blue, dark brown, or green."
This Safely Removes Worms.
Worms are a common disease of children and every mother should know their symptoms. Sallow complexion with dark circles under eyes, irregular bowel movement with stomach hard or swollen, grinding teeth or itching may mean that Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed at once. It is a mildly laxative remedy in candy tablet form that children like. Kills and removes the worms and lets the child grow strong and healthy. At druggists, 25c.—Adv.
Fight For Clean Milk.
New York, June 29.—(Special)—An interesting history of a decade's fight for clean milk is embodied in a report just issued by the New York Milk Committee which inaugurated in this city ten years ago the movement which has met with nation-wide success. Parallel with its work for clean milk has gone its fight against infant mortality.

The committee was organized by the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor in 1907. It worked as a committee of this association for two years and then became an independent organization. In accomplishment it has far exceeded the hopes of those responsible for its creation.
Starting with an infant death rate in New York City of 153 per thousand and the general public ignorant and, therefore, indifferent to the great waste of infant life, the committee has come to see at the end of ten years an infant death rate of 93 per thousand—a reduction of 40 per cent—and a public deeply interested in the problem.
In 1906, much of the milk supply of the city was of uncertain or bad quality, and the public generally indifferent. In 1916, the milk supply of the city is graded and labeled as to sanitary character with the supply made safe against the spread of disease by pasteurization or by rigid medical, sanitary, and bacteriological requirements.
One of the principal achievements of the milk was the establishment of the National Committee on Milk Standards a group of scientists whose work has resulted in standard legal regulation of the milk supply in all the leading cities of the country.

becomes a thing that nobody can brag of—all that the most faithful and adoring husband can do is to consume it in silence.
At this auspicious point enters the cooked food delivery committee. It has untold experts back of it? Scientific dietetics form its starting point. Balanced rations are the common chapter of its kitchen. Containers are projected bringing food to your dining table at a temperature far hotter than any local expert from Finland has the interest to achieve. Health, comfort, economy join hands to dance about this canned kitchen of the twentieth century. The high cost of living has come very largely to mean nothing nor less than the high cost of the home kitchen. And what a troubled and evil-cooking kitchen it is at that! If ever the moment for swatting retail cooking is to arrive, now is the time. So, between jeers, by all means let us nibble at the delivered dinner.
Too Lowbrow.
"John," said Mrs. Crosslots, "the cook says she's going to leave."
"What's the trouble?"
"She says she's used to working for cultivated people and she can't stand our line of phonograph records."
—Washington Star.
New Occupation.
"Do you like your new motor car?"
"Yes," replied Mrs. Chuggins. "My husband isn't away from home nearly as much as he used to be."
"How does he spend his time?"
"Trying to get the car started."
—Washington Star.

COOKED FOOD IS DELIVERED IN NEW YORK
New York, June 29.—(Special)—The cooked food delivery committee is New York's latest answer to the problem of beating the servant game. Once it was only the small suburbanite spreading a lower-middle-class income thinly over a 50 by 100 upper-middle-class lot who suffered. Then the whole round of suburbanites began to have difficulty. Help quite ceased to help and became a thing of consistent hindrance. Suburban hostesses of ancient lineage and high standing began to spend days and weeks of their time in "offices." Now the city hostess has little enough on her country sister. Servants are simply not to be had. "Home cooking"

ARMY CALLS PHYSICIAN FAMILY LEFT PENNILESS
New York, June 29.—(Special)—A young physician who, after the usual uphill fight, had succeeded in establishing a promising practice in a New York suburb, was recently called into federal service with the Guard regiment to which he belonged. He had barely finished paying his college debts and had no money ahead. Within ten days after he left home his wife and two small children were penniless. They had no near relatives on whom they could call. They were too proud to seek charity. Here was a college graduate, a capable professional man of good social standing, who saw his family left destitute because he placed the call of his country above their need.
This is no exceptional case these days. It is only one of a class that is multiplying by hundreds throughout the country. Soon it will be multiplying by thousands. It is to relieve these worthy needs that the department of civilian relief of the American Red Cross has been formed. The New York County branch alone already has 150 families under its care and expects many times that number as soon as the rest of the local Guard is called out on July 15th.
The average family of the enlisted men belongs to that class which is largely dependent on the regular wages of its men, husbands, fathers and older sons. It is a class that normally stands well above the pauper line. It is made up of the self-sustaining and self-respecting. At the same time the incomes of these families are small. Their savings are smaller if, indeed, they exist at all. The margin of economic safety is therefore slight. It takes little in the way of misfortune, curtailment of income or increase of budget, to drive these families below the line and, if they are not given timely and skillful aid, to add them to the class of chronic paupers.
What happens, then, when the chief support of such a family enlists for the war, and the income, meagre enough at best, shrinks to two-thirds at the most of the petty wages of a soldier? Furthermore, there is the prospect of the permanent crippling
