"THE GIRL AT HOME," TYPICAL BOY AND GIRL STORY

Vivian Martin, the dainty little actress who made such a pronounced success in "The Wax Model," "The Right Direction" and "The Spirit of Romance," will be seen at the Arcade today and tomorrow, supported by Jack Pickford, in the Lasky-Paramount production of "The Girl at Home," written by George Middleton and prepared for the screen by Beulah Marie Dix.

"The Girl at Home" is a typical boy and girl story. It reminds the older persons in the audience of experiences in their own youthful career and it brings surprising revelations to many of the younger generation. No two stars in the country are better equipped to appear in photodramas of this nature than the young couple whose names are seen at the head of the program. The story of "The Girl at Home" has to do with Jean Hilton, the wealthy ward of Squire Padgate who lives with the mother of Jimmie Dexter. The boy and girl are in love and Jimmie is preparing for college when his mother learns that her small income is wiped out. Jean is permitted to defray Jimmie's expenses without his knowledge.

Jimmie falls in with a fast set of older boys and becomes infatuated with Diana Parish, a cabaret singer. Diana, thinking he is wealthy, pays considerable attention to him. Back home, Jimmie's mother and Jean are depriving themselves of all luxuries that Jimmie may finish college. Squire Padgate sees Jimmie and gives him a severe scolding. Jimmie promises to do better and next morning banks his check for $200 which his mother has sent him as his monthly allowance. Diana thinks it is his weekly allowance. She sees a set of furs and decides to purchase them, getting the money from her boy friends. Jimmie gives her a check for $35 which she raises to $350. When the check is returned marked "No funds" a detective is sent to investigate. Diana rushes in, throws her arms around Jimmie's neck just as his mother, Squire Padgate and Jean walk into the room. How affairs are finally straightened out and Jimmie is made to realize that he must earn his own way is brought about in the most graphic and appealing manner, and must naturally be seen to be appreciated and enjoyed. The cast includes James Neill, Edythe Chapman, Olga Grey and Billy Elmer. The production was made for the Lasky Company under the direction of Marshall Neilan.

COLONIAL

WILLIAM RUSSELL WILL BE SEEN IN "THE LOVE HERMIT" AT COLONIAL TODAY

In this powerful dramatization of Clarke Irvine's gripping story of love and high finance William Russell plays the role of Tom Weston, in the employ of James Bolton, a prominent broker. Through his individual effort he doubles his employer's wealth and is invited down to Bolton's country place for the week end. There he meets Marie, Bolton's daughter, and falls in love with her. She leads him to believe affection is returned, and he takes her in his arms and kisses her, just as her father and Hillman, a suitor, enter and discovers them. Marie observes their entrance in a mirror, frees herself from Tom's embrace and angrily denounces him. Tom is ordered out of the house by the father and returning to his home with a bitter heart toward all woman kind vows vengeance upon the entire sex, and in years that follow, plays with the hearts of women as Marie had trifled with his. Finally, by manipulating the stock market, he brings Bolton to verge of ruin and Marie comes to his rooms, not for her father's sake, but to tell him that she has changed her ideas of life and feels no resentment toward the man who has paid her back in her own coin.

In the strong denunciation scene which follows and the tense love scenes which bring this unusual drama to a powerful surprise climax, William Russell does some of the best work of his long and successful career as an actor. He is supported by a splendid cast, including Charlotte Burton, Queenie Rosson, Ashton Dearhold and Harry VonMeter.

Elks Give Joy Ride.
Spokane, Wash., July 9.—(Special)—Headed by a former United States senator in his limousine with half a dozen children asking questions at the same time, the Elks of Spokane gave their first joy-ride to the orphans this week. Sixty-three autos carried the children from the institutions to a common rendezvous and from there the two-hour drive was routed. There were 316 children.

George Turner, former senator led the procession, Mayor Fleming and Chief Police Weir, followed with their cars and for once the majesty of authority was set aside as the children climbed all over the big chief and asked impertinent questions of the mayor. They wanted to know all about the workings of the machines and they found out, too.

When the long drive was ended and the autos deposited their loads at the institutions each child found a bag waiting attention. The bags contained candy, popcorn, peanuts, cookies and oranges. This was a feature added by the lodge members who had no cars to donate.

try to a program of food conservation. Tens of thousands of answers have come from county, city, and village organizations in response to the query sent out. All answers are alike: "We will see that every housewife in the State is asked to sign the pledge card of the food administration. We find women everywhere eager to pledge themselves to work for food conservation."

Red Cross To Aid Russia.
Washington, D. C., July 9.—(Special)—As an initial step in carrying out its purpose "to do something immediately to lighten afflicted Russia," Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Red Cross War Council, announces the dispatch to Russia of a special Red Cross commission. The commission carries with it a quantity of medical supplies and surgical instruments with which to meet most urgent needs.

Bread Saving Campaign.
Washington, D. C., July 9.—(Special)—The commercial economy board of the Council of National Defense authorizes the following:
July 10 is the day of the passing of stale bread from commerce all over America. On that day every baker in America—so telegrams and letters to the commercial economy board indicate—will make stale loaves non-returnable, prevent waste enough to feed 200,000 persons, and release scores of men now handling stale loaves for work in other occupations. And on that day, because loaves will no longer be returnable, it will behoove housewives everywhere to begin to order their bread in advance—one loaf for Monday and two for Wednesday and four Saturday, and so on—exactly as they order milk.

Russian Women in Army.
Petrograd, July 9.—(Special)—The woman's war battalion fully armed and equipped as infantry left for the front Saturday.

The kiddies had a fine time but the lodgemen who planned and executed the affair enjoyed the trip as much if not more than the little ones. So that another ride will be given the children later this month.

The Emergency Ration.
Washington, July 9.—(Special)—Not the least important part of a fighting man's equipment to be used by the U. S. Marines on the firing line, is the emergency ration. It will enable the sea-soldier to stick to his guns and keep up his physical strength when cut off from the base of supplies by the enemy barrage or other causes.

Every Marine on expeditionary duty is supplied with a half-pound tin case containing a two days' supply of food, consisting of chocolate and a condensed meat and vegetable compound that may be made into soup, or eaten raw if there is no opportunity to prepare it.
