

LESS WORK

No coal, wood or ashes to lug. No waiting for the fire to burn up. Meals in a jiffy and a cool kitchen all the time. Bakes, broils, roasts, toasts. Better cooking because of the steady, evenly-distributed heat. More convenient than a wood or coal stove for all the year 'round cooking, and more economical.

The long blue chimneys prevent all smoke and smell.

Regulations Tell of Men Draw Who Will Receive Exemption In Draft

Rules Laid Down by President Give Local Boards Exact Instructions to Follow In Every Case

Men Who Have Dependents, Office Holders, Munition and Mail Workers Are Some Who Will Be Out of It

THESE CLASSES EXEMPT; STATUS MUST BE PROVED

These classes are exempt from draft upon proof of their status: Men indispensable to industries necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the national interest. Men with wives, children, parents, brothers or sisters dependent solely upon them for support. Members of recognized religious sects whose creed forbids bearing arms, students of divinity, ordained or regular ministers. Legislative, judicial and executive officers of the United States or the states of the Union. Men in the army or navy of the United States. Germans and aliens who have not taken out first citizenship papers. Workmen in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States and men engaged in the transmission of the United States mails. Pilots and mariners in the merchant marine of the United States. Criminals convicted of felonies.

supporting affidavits from heads of families living in the local area and belonging to the minister's church, sect or organization.

"A duly ordained minister of religion," the regulations say, "is a person who has been ordained in accordance with the ceremonial, ritual or discipline of a church, religious sect or organization established on the basis of a community of faith and belief, doctrines and practices of a religious character, to preach and to teach the doctrines of such church, sect or organization and to administer the rites and ceremonies thereof in public worship, and who as his regular and customary vocation preaches and teaches the principles of religion and administers the ordinances of public worship as embodied in the creed or principles of such church, sect or organization."

Preachers Not Ordained.

A regular minister is one who "as his customary vocation preaches and teaches the principles of religion of a church, sect or organization of which he is a member without having been duly ordained as a minister of religion and who is recognized by such church, sect or organization as a regular minister." Neither of these classes include those who "irregularly or incidentally preach and teach." Students of divinity to claim exemption must have been enrolled in a recognized theological or divinity school on May 18 last and must present supporting affidavits by the president, dean or head of the school.

"Persons in the military or naval service of the United States" embraces those within the classes defined at the time of the registration. Germans and "all other resident aliens who have not taken out their first papers" come within the mandatory rules of exemption. As to the former it is added:

"No subject of Germany residing in the United States, whether he has taken out his first papers or not, will be accepted for service. When in the opinion of a local board any person called for service is a subject of Germany, whether he has or has not declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States or whether he or some other person in respect of him has or has not filed a claim of exemption, he shall be exempted and a certificate of exemption issued to him."

Not all exemptions allowed by the local boards will be absolute. "No exemption shall continue when a cause therefor no longer exists," the regulations declare, and when the cause ceases the certificate is to be revoked. The provost marshal general is empowered to name representatives, who may take appeals from the local boards to the district boards, which are to sit in New York city and in each federal judicial district. Appeals from district boards may be taken to the president, and individuals have the same right of appeal that the provost marshal general has.

Subject to Discharge.

This right of appeal covers discharges as well as exemptions. Discharges must be applied for within seven days after notice to appear for examination has been mailed. The classes who may obtain discharges include custom house clerks, persons employed in the transmission of the mails, artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States, persons employed in the service of the United States designated by the president to be exempted, pilots, mariners actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the country. With the exception of pilots, who must have affidavits from the collector or deputy collector of the port from which they regularly sail—all these persons must submit affidavits from responsible officers that they cannot be "replaced by another person without substantial material loss of efficiency in operation or administration" of the service in which the applicant may be employed.

The regulations affecting "those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge desirable" require 8,500 words for their setting forth. Applications for discharge under these heads may be made by the man himself, by the dependent or by some person acting for him. The classes are the following:

"Any married man whose wife or child is dependent upon his labor for support." Such a man must present, within ten days after filing a claim for discharge, an affidavit signed by him, giving his name, age and place of residence; the name and place of residence of his wife; the name(s), age(s) and place of residence of his child or children, if any, and stating that he is a married man, the husband of said wife, the father of her child or children; that such wife, child or children is (are) dependent upon his labor for support as the term "labor" is used in the rules and regulations; that his income from which such support was mainly the fruit of his mental or physical labor and was not mainly derived from property or other sources independent of his mental or physical labor.

A supporting affidavit must be given

REVIEW OF THE LIVESTOCK MARKET

Portland, July 16.—(Special)—The receipts at the Portland Union Stock yards during the week past totalled about 1600 head of cattle, 2900 hogs and 3500 sheep.

The cattle that came to the yards this week were not, generally speaking, properly finished for presentation in the market, which the hogs, aside from a single shipment of California stock hogs, displayed a very even and desirable quality.

The lambs received for the week were not so well fattened as last week and the greater part of the butcher stuff was decidedly improved in tone.

Beef Steers.

The opening on Monday morning found the yards well filled and a fair sprinkling of good beef steers demonstrated the firm tendency of the market by crossing the scales at $9.50 @ $9.85 although not "finished stuff." At the close of Monday's market the supply of reasonably good steers seemed to be exhausted, and a gradual decline set in which continued during the week. A retrospective view will show a slump of 75c to $1.00 from prices that prevailed the previous week.

Cows.

The supply of cows at the beginning of the week was too much for the demand and they promptly slumped $1 @ $1.25 and found few large buyers even at the new level, though the really good ones went at $7 to $7.75, canners were not welcome buyers and went as low as $4.00, but came into better favor in the last day of the week, closing at about $5@$7. Bulls just about held steady during the week at former prices, closing at $5 @ $7.

Feeders opened the week comparatively active and continued steady through the week. There was a very satisfactory volume of business through the week but very few large deals, there being a steady current of small trading.

Hogs.

Hogs are topping at $16.15 with general quotation at $16 but later in the week slipped a little, closing the week with a dull and uninteresting bear fight which put the last offering of the week across at $15@15.75.

Sheep.

The sheep market has been steady all week with little or no change in prices for material of good quality. Lambs have gone as low as $9 but this was a practical cull. Choice lambs stand firm at $12.50@12.75. Good wethers are holding steady at $9@10.50 and first quality ewes at $6.50@8.

IDLE WOMEN. There are too many idle women in the world. This is not because of a lack of work, but a characteristic of certain females to think they have no responsibility in life. All life must be responsible or it is worthless. Vigorous work would cure scores of so called feminine ailments and make the world of women more helpful than it is.—Marie Corell.

ADVICE TO THOSE REGISTERED. Washington, D. C., July 16. (United Press)—In brief this is what each registrant is required to do: Go to your exemption board and find out what your red ink serial number is as soon as your board has finished numbering the cards for the big lottery. Watch for the drawing in Washington. Then find out whether you were drawn and the order in which you must appear. After that learn when you must appear for physical examination. In case of doubt as to any point, ask your local board about it.

Classes of Exemptions.

The regulations tell the circumstances in which persons may be exempted. The classes include officers of the United States and of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia; ministers of religion, students of divinity, persons in the military or naval service of the United States, subjects of Germany residing in the United States and all other resident aliens who have not taken out their first papers.

Emphasis is laid on the fact that "the statement on the registration of any such person that exemption is claimed shall not be construed or considered as the presentation of a claim for exemption." These claims must be made in the form of affidavits or such other evidence as may be required by the local boards within ten days after the physical examinations.

Officers who may claim exemption are defined as including "any legislative, executive or judicial officer." These must name and describe the offices they hold, the dates on which they were elected or appointed and when their terms of office expire.

Ministers who may claim exemption must be "duly ordained" or "regular." They must file affidavits "giving the name of church, religious sect or organization" in which they have been ordained or to which they belong, giving the dates of their ordination or the beginning of their ministry. Each affidavit must be accompanied by two
