YANKEE OUTFIELD NEEDS MAKING OVER

BY H. D. HAMILTON. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) New York, July 17.—Just as badly as the Athletics need a general strengthening the New York American league baseball club will have to have a few outfielders on its payroll before it can expect to obtain fear-some consideration from its rivals. Lee Magee and Elmer Miller, two outfielders who are now gracing the staff of fly-chasers, are hopeless. Hugh High is some better, but is decidedly nothing to brag about. Tim Hendryx is the only man who appears to be anything in view of major league class. Frank Gilhooley's work this spring lets him out. If he comes back and shows the same class he displayed a year ago he will take rank with the best in the game. So far he is only a mediocre outfielder. Bill Donovan was well bilked when Lee Magee was turned over to him as the Federal league kicked in its dying throes. Once termed the only rival to Ty Cobb, and believed to be the final touch that would bring an American league pennant to the nation's metropolis, Magee has flivvered badly.

When with the Cardinals Magee played fine ball. He hit around .300 all the time, his base running was excellent, his arm was good, and he could run bases with the best either league boasted. That was when he was a National leaguer. Whether it is the difference in class, or whether Magee was greatly over-rated is hard to say, but the fact remains that he looks far worse than many recruit outfielders who are annually turned back from the major leagues.

Donovan has several pitchers who are warming the bench daily. He has so many fingers, in fact, that most of them are obliged to sit around and only keep in fair condition. If he could arrange a trade that would send any of these heavies to some club with a surplus of outfielders he would be conferring a great favor on himself. Surplus outfielders, however, are extremely scarce. The National league has most of them—and getting a good outfielder out of the National league would be akin to getting the fight out of the American army. His only salvation appears to be a process of minor league scouting that may save the Yankees a year hence.

MIKE GIBBONS IS IN A CLASS BY HIMSELF

BY H. C. HAMILTON. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) New York, July 17.—Mike Gibbons, middleweight has reached virtually the same stage of operations where Johnny Kilbane stands. These two masters of their art are practically out of some one to fight. For a lack of featherweights of class, Kilbane is being forced to take on the lightweights. Gibbons, out of classy middleweights, is forced to just sit around, for there really are few light heavies who look attractive when compared to Mike. Although recognizing the fact that Gibbons stands out over the many would-be rivals, the fans would like to see the St. Paul ghost take one more fling at the top-notchers. Jimmy Clabby is still far from being classed among the has-beens and Jeff Smith insists he can and always could whip Mike.

However, the most insistent cries for attention from Gibbons are coming just now from Soldier Bartfield, Ted Lewis and Mike Dowd. Lewis, a welterweight, has given Gibbons one tough argument, and Bartfield holds a newspaper decision over the man generally recognized as the king of the middleweights. Dowd is a graduate of the Gibbons school and is recognized as one of the best men the welterweight division has seen in many days.

Any one of this trio of welters would give Mike an argument—a hot one. And then, if he could induce Al McCoy to get into a ring with him there would be another bout of more or less possibilities. Al is not a champion and never has been, but he manages to hang on to what little claim he has to the title. Until he is soundly thrashed by Gibbons or some one else he will lay claims to the championship and some folks will believe him.

A revival of interest in the middleweights is needed. In the days of Stanley Ketchel this was the most popular of weights. It has begun to run down only since Gibbons whipped the best men in the division and began to spend his time clipping coupons. Mike spent most of last winter in New York trying to drive Les Darcy into a match. The Australian was absolutely unimpressable on the subject. It meant a clear title to a world's championship for either he or Gibbons, but Darcy blocked every move.

Since that time Gibbons has engaged in just one encounter and that with George Chip on July 4. Indications are he is beginning another campaign. If so, it will be welcome.

MANY FARMERS RAISING SHEEP AS RESULT OF PRICES

Portland, Ore., July 17.—Reports from throughout the Pacific Northwest received here today indicate that the present record-breaking price for wool has not only greatly stimulated the sheep industry, but also brought about the introduction of up-to-the-minute methods.

Thousand of farmers in Washington, Idaho and Oregon are buying small bands of sheep, and will raise sheep as a profitable sideline. Some counties report that within the next year the number of sheep within their boundaries will have been doubled.

In the Inland Empire, Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and parts of Idaho, men who have been raising sheep for years have abandoned the old range method and are now growing hay for winter feeding. The steadily dwindling range, due to the increasing number of homesteaders, is a factor in this action of the big sheep men.

Better stock is being secured in many parts of the northwest, so that better and heavier fleeces will result.

New Rosebush Disease.

Portland, Ore., July 17.—(United Press)—No, your rosebush is not growing walnuts—bombs that look like walnuts—your roses have a brand new and serious disease, say Portland rose experts today.

This new disease, a recent arrival from California, must be checked or the entire rose bush industry of the northwest will be ruined, say the florists.
