BACK UP THE WAR PROGRAM URGES A NAVAL OFFICER

BY J. W. PEGLER. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) WITH THE AMERICAN FLOTILLA IN BRITISH WATERS, July 10.—(By Mail)—"Take off the lid and show the people back home what a fierce fight we're up against." Thus a highly-placed American naval officer, attached to the command of this destroyer squadron, endeavored to say something about a grave situation, without being able to say anything definite. The officers tell plenty—in confidence. The correspondents attached to the American destroyers know that ships have been destroyed by the U-boats in far greater tonnage than at present they can be produced. They know also, something of the methods by which our destroyers are fighting the unseen menace and of the handicaps which are hampering the fight—handicaps which give the Germans the advantage and which the Americans back home could remove in a few months. But the naval officer couldn't tell what he knew, for publication. And the correspondents are on their honor to submit all their work to the censorship. "It would help the enemy if we should tell our people all they ought to know," the naval expert continued. "A frank statement of the whole submarine situation, with its bearing on the land campaigns, might be of considerable practical value to him. Perhaps it would also stimulate his sinking morale for a time—that depends on whether it would not eventually help us to win this fight. If the people could only know, they wouldn't for a minute hold back the support we need." Though the censorship, with its evil tendency to shut the peoples' eyes to the peril, he maintained, the officer said ours need not become a losing fight. Under present conditions, he advised, the people back home can give best aid by backing the war program of the Army and Navy Department without question, however grotesque they may seem. "Just now there are a hundred important facts which would illuminate the public mind," he concluded. "As long as civilians can't know these things the best they can do is to trust the departments that really do know, to make the right decision."

Doing Good.

Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. Jantzen, Delmeny, Sask., says of it, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy myself and in my family, and can recommend it as being an exceptionally fine preparation."—Adv.

PETROGRAD HOTEL LIFE EXPENSIVE

Petrograd, July 2.—(By Mail)—This is a good place to omit for your summer tour unless you are well-protected with green-backs. Hotel life isn't even tolerable at less than $25 a day. The fare from London and back amounts to about $1000, including maintenance.

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.—Adv.

American Lake Ready.

American Lake, Wash., July 25.—American Lake cantonment camp will be completed on schedule, or by September 1, said contractors and army men here today. Half of the 198 large barracks are in some stage of construction here today. Stables are being hurried, and scores of smaller buildings are under course of construction. Water, electric and sewer systems are being put in. Field Hospital No. 30, from Portland, is established here. Other military units are assembling, preparatory to the great mobilization which will take place late in the summer and early next fall.

Humboldt River Is A River Of Doubt

San Francisco, July 25.—(Special)—South America's "River of Doubt" has a rival in the Humboldt River in Nevada which comes forward with an entirely new claim to distinction. The Humboldt River flows southwesterly through the central portion of Nevada near the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. This river is declared to be, in point of size and length, the crookedest river in the world. It is so crooked that sportsmen bring strange tales of fish and game that become confused in trying to follow the river's course and act as though intoxicated. At one place adjacent to the railroad, between two points two and a half miles apart, the river's length is eight miles and by actual count its course is alternately north twenty-five times, east eighteen times, south thirty times and west forty-one times; also it may be stated that at thirty-three different points it is within one hundred and fifty feet or less of itself, the current flowing in opposite directions by these points. This "runaway river" crosses the Southern Pacific tracks 28 times necessitating as many bridges costing in all $634,000. By way of showing how completely "locoed" it is, the Humboldt ends its course by running into the middle of the desert and corkscrewing its way out of sight in a huge sink. On account of its devious way this stream is a sportsman's paradise. Ducks and geese after following its treacherous course a short distance, become deluded and forget their direction, returning five and six times to the point at which they were disturbed. Fish experience the same difficulty and become so perplexed that they refuse to swim. The Indians have discovered this and simply net the fish while they are dazed. Fred A. Rieker, valuation engineer of the Southern Pacific, and not Baron Munchausen is responsible for this account of the peculiarities of Nevada's crooked river.
