Fohl Doesn't Like "Shine Ball"

New York, August 13.—(Special)—Lee Fohl declares that if the White Sox win a pennant this year it will be through unfair tactics. He charges every White Sox pitcher with disfiguring balls. He has a collection of balls used by White Sox pitchers, which, he says all have the tell-tale black spot, where some substance has been used to shine them.

It isn't improbable that Fohl is right, for Dave Danforth is credited with having discovered "shine ball" while with Louisville and taking it with him to Chicago.

H. H. Weatherspoon, of Elgin, was in town Saturday and reports that his potato crop is good, which sounds good to us all. He has about fifty acres in potatoes and is an authority along that line. His advice to those who planted the late varieties of potatoes is not to be discouraged yet as there is still a chance of their being good. He says that in the Elgin country all those who worked the ground thoroughly will have good crops, and of course, those who didn't, won't.

The De Moss Entertainers consisting of George De Moss, his wife, their two sons Elbert and Homer, and Miss Mable Bertsch gave a very pleasing recital at the Methodist church last evening. The De Moss family have been famous for their musical ability since

Mr. De Moss' father pioneered the Grande Ronde valley in 1872. George De Moss was born at Cove, Oregon. For the last forty-five years the De Moss family have traveled about giving concerts all over the United States and Europe. The original combination consisted of the elder Mr. De Moss, his wife and five children.

The party travel about in a big touring car enjoying the country as they go. "It was not like this in the old days," says Mr. De Moss, and he told of being attacked by Indians while the party was staging it to Utah. The coach outran the Indians and was rescued by soldiers and escorted to safety.

When not on the road the De Moss' live on their farm at De Moss Springs, Sherman County, Oregon. They leave today for Union.
