SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE HELPING SOLVE NATION'S FOOD PROBLEM

(By George Martin, United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Aug. 20.—Uncle Sam has just recruited and trained an army of 800,000 American boys and girls, who will be on duty at state and county fairs everywhere this fall.

Their work now consists of helping their fathers and mothers preserve, pickle, dry and can the enormous surplus of America's war gardens. Their work at the fairs will consist of practical demonstration of methods. It is estimated that this juvenile army will exhibit its prowess and products to about 20,000,000 Americans. They will be the principal attraction at the series of Food Training camps the department of agriculture is organizing for every section of the country for late August, September and October.

The boys and girls in this great food drive are the members of the thousands of Boys' and Girls' clubs organized by and working under the direction of the United States department of agriculture.

The national headquarters is at Washington with a specialist of the juvenile extension department in charge.

Each day at the Food Training camps the children will can and dry food products in different ways, giving the public a correct idea as to how it should be done.

The particular boys and girls who will demonstrate for the state colleges of agriculture and for the government, are now being chosen through a series of competitive tests in practically every community in the country. These contests are being held in the schools, at community fairs and picnics, and at other public gatherings. Only the winners in the larger local contests, who have shown by their work that they are capable of discharging the tasks the government will give them, will be permitted to demonstrate at the Food Training Camps.

In addition to this the girls will conduct exhibits and demonstrations on home baking, cooking, methods of arranging the canned and preserved foods into balanced menus for the family, efficient home management, and garment making.

The boys in addition to their work in the field of canning and drying, will conduct exhibits on poultry husbandry, and the raising of farm crops, and demonstrations with farm animals such as calves, pigs, sheep and horses.

ALFALFA HAY

Ninety per cent of the hay in Walla Walla County, in all probability, has been sold to cattle and sheep men, leaving a very small percentage to be shipped out.

I am extra fortunate in having about two thousand tons of strictly number one leafy alfalfa hay to dispose of. I can sell the same within ten days to be shipped away, but much prefer to see the sheep and cattle carried through until spring, as I realize that there will be a big stock loss the coming fall and winter unless properly fed.

I can furnish feed ground for the most of this hay. You can ship your stock to Portland via the O.-W. R. & N. on a 'feed in transit' rate, and stop and feed my hay with no extra charge.

Hay will be $25.00 before January first. You can get this hay from me, if you speak in time, for $20.00 per ton. First come, first served.
