Mrs. Metcalf of Union spent the week-end here with her daughter Mrs. Clarke Webb.

Miss Evelyn Foss, of La Grande, was registered at the Hotel Moore, Seaside last week.

Ruth Wilkins of Joseph visited Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Byers at Rockaway Beach, Tillamook last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clyde of La Grande, registered at the Hackney College, Seaview, Washington, last week.

Mrs. F. G. Hambleton and daughter of Enterprise, registered at the Long Beach Hotel, Long Beach Wash, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Charboneau returned Sunday morning after a two weeks' vacation at Portland and other places.

Mrs. B. E. Nutter of Pendleton arrived here Saturday night to visit with the Swalberg family for the next two weeks.

Harry Bruce of Boise stopped off in La Grande Saturday night on his way to Portland for a short visit with his cousin, Mrs. Oscar Hopper.

A marriage of interest to many La Grande people was that of Samuel F. Wilson, a well known lawyer of Portland and capitalist of that city and Mrs. Donella Campbell Miller, at Redwood, Cal., last Tuesday. The wedding, which came as a complete surprise to their many local friends, was solemnized at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. Campbell, and the officiating clergyman was Mrs. Miller's pastor when she was a child in New York City. Mr. Wilson and his bride are now on their wedding trip, after which they will be domiciled at Hotel Multnomah, Portland. Mr. Wilson is a member of the firm of Winter, Wilson & Johnson.

GAIL KANE IN ROLE OF INDIAN MAIDEN IN THRILLING PICTURE

Supposedly cut off by his wealthy father with only a poor Mexican mine in place of the big fortune he had expected to be his, the young hero of "The Red Woman" goes to Mexico to make his fortune. There he meets and falls in love with a young Indian girl named "Maria." Later it is announced that the young man has really fallen heir to his father's entire fortune, the father having made a will keeping this bequest secret for six months after his death in order that his son might have an opportunity of making good. Following the announcement that the young man is a millionaire, the girl from back home who had been engaged to him but who had broken the engagement when she thought him practically penniless, follows him to Mexico. Maria tells the young man that he must go back to his old home and marry the society girl. The man goes back to the east, but remains only a short time. Then he returns to Mexico and then comes the startling and wholly unexpected climax of this exceptional drama. Miss Gail Kane is the star of this attraction. The supporting cast is large and capable. This newest World Picture Brady-Made will be shown at the Arcade theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

BIRTH OF A NATION AT ARCADE AUG TWENTYEIGHT

"Yankee Doodle" in the North and "Dixie" in the South, is the term that has been aptly applied to "The Birth of a Nation," as indicating its commanding position among all master theatrical achievements.

Not only has this wonderful realization proven itself the peer of all attractions, but it has taken its permanent place in the hearts of every American audience, as the real, long awaited drama of the Republic—the only genuinely native one ever attempted on so large a scale.

To behold it once is the duty of every citizen—to see it several times is to fully comprehend and realize all its manifold wonders.

Love, romance, blood and iron constitute its warp—and every other awakening passion that can move the human breast—its wonderful woof.

Griffith's original and stupendous production, "The Birth of a Nation," will appear Tuesday, August 28th at the Arcade for one day only. Reserved seats for the evening performance will be on sale Saturday. The prices are: Matinee, Adults 50c, Children 25c, Evening Lower Floor 50c and 75c, Balcony 50c.

GERMAN SUBMARINE INTELLIGENCE OFFICE LOCATED.

(By Arthur E. Mann, United Press Staff Correspondent) Stockholm, July 11.—(By mail)—Allied secret service and intelligence officers, with the cooperation of the police of the Scandinavian countries, have recently succeeded in unearthing and dispersing a large and well organized German submarine intelligence office headquarters in Gothenburg, Sweden.

In their investigations the officers discovered a naval intelligence map of the waters surrounding the British Isles and the North Sea. The water area on the map was divided into small squares, each one numbered. An elaborate code was also found for use in conjunction with this map.

Messages based on this code, although apparently reading like private mercantile telegrams and cablegrams, could in reality be deciphered into accurate descriptions of Allied warships or of belligerent or neutral merchantmen.

From the spy headquarters in Gothenburg, agents were sent to Scandinavian ports and attempts were made, whether or not, to get them into England. These agents were supplied with the code and map mentioned and were reporting to headquarters on the sailings of merchantmen. It is supposed that in some way the headquarters in Gothenburg communicated the information to German submarines at sea, probably by wireless stations hidden along the coast.

"One of the chief branches of the Gothenburg office was in Christiana and a Norwegian was actually engaged there to go to England on the espionage service, being supplied with the code and map in addition a process of invisible ink writing for mail reports. Another branch was in Malmo, Sweden. It is believed that many of the agents of the German spies in Gothenburg were Scandinavians. At about the same time of the discovery of the Gothenburg office, a German giving the name of Klein was arrested in Sweden, charged with a plot to murder British Ambassador Buchanan in Petrograd. Klein was afterward released but deported from Sweden.
