FRENCH STUDY ENGLISH; SAMMIES' BENEFIT.

Paris, Aug. 3—(By mail)—(United Press)—It has been suggested by a state functionary, who resides in the zone where the American army has taken up its quarters, that the tradesmen and officials of this district be made to take a course in elementary English. This idea was inspired by the difficulties "Sammy" has in making himself understood. The practical means of realizing this, says the writer, would be a wholesale distribution of a pamphlet giving the simplest English-American phrases and their French equivalents. The proposal is favorably commented on and may shortly be realized.
