"WHEN TRUE LOVE DAWNS" PLEASING FILM TOMORROW

The Arcade Theatre on Sunday will

"The Birth Of A Nation," After Three Years, Outstrips Every Rival

LEE'S SURRENDER TO GENERAL GRANT. SCENE FROM "THE BIRTH OF A NATION."

present Susan Grandaise, the sweetest girl in Europe, in "When True Love Dawns," the brilliant and pleasing drama directed by Louise Mercanton, the director of "Mothers of France" and published by the Brady Picture. The drama tells of the manner in which a beautiful young girl sacrifices herself for her family. She is in love with a young man of her own age but at the urgings of her relatives she marries a man much older than herself who is extremely wealthy. When true love comes to the heroine it is under the most startling and striking of circumstances. Miss Grandaise is superb in these emotional phases of this drama. In fact, she is superb throughout. "When True Love Dawns" constitutes perfectly clean, absolutely pleasing screen entertainment of the highest possible type.

Mrs. W. C. Glass, of North Dakota, left Friday morning for the return trip after spending a week here visiting her sister, Mrs. W. C. Haddon.

The Birth of a Nation!—and how the mere mention of it, to those who have witnessed it, stirs the senses and makes memories' pulses thrill.

This was the first great production and now—since half a dozen similar attempts have been made—people are just commencing to realize what a wonderful accomplishment it really is, for today it stands out resplendent in its true appreciation—the master of all master achievements.

Mr. Griffith's sublime realization does not depend upon its novelty to attract overflowing houses any longer—it has a far more potent and lasting factor—that of having proven by age and comparison its overwhelming superiority to every other attraction man can create.

Very often really wonderful accomplishments are first accepted without giving them their full measure of credit, simply because they are

Daniels and standing alone of their kind; then later, when rivals commence to appear on the horizon, the public sees the original in its true light.

After two successful years of continuous production before all portions of the country—in which fully two thirds of the people have witnessed it—The Birth of a Nation still outstrips every other offering before the public, as an attraction.

It will be presented—at the Arcade Theatre for one day, Tuesday.

The seats for the evening performance are now on sale and it is urged that those who wish to see this picture for possibly the last time should not wait until the evening of the show before reserving their seats, as they are bound to be disappointed. The matinee prices are: adults 50c, children 25c. The evening prices are: lower floor 50c and 75, balcony 50c.

HOUSE PETERS. MONDAY

Having scored such a pronounced success in "As Men Love," "The Lonesome Chap" and "The Highway of Hope," House Peters, Pallas-Paramount star, will be seen at the Arcade on Monday only in a picturization of the unusual story, "The Heir of the Ages."

Mr. Peters is surrounded by a cast of unusual excellence, including Nina Byron, Eugene Pallette, Henry Barrows, John Burton and Adele Farrington.

Picked Up By The Stroller

I miss those Company M boys and those hospital boys. I imagine that there are some girls left behind that are kinda lonely.

Some one told Fred J. Holmes when he joined the Home Guards, "Well, I see that you, too, are going to the front."

His daughter replied: "Oh, papa, has already gone to the front." You will have to have a mental picture of Mr. Holmes' "front" to get this.

I don't think it is very kind to call the Home Guards the "Ladies' Home Protection Society."

EXTRACT FROM MY DIARY

Sunday, August 19th—Strolled into church and heard the Rev. G. L. Clark preach a very good sermon. I recalled Pepys Diary: "This day, went to church. The sermon was very dull so I went to sleep and slept very soundly." Rev. Mr. Clark doesn't preach soporific sermons.

President Wilson in a letter urges the army and navy to read the Bible.
