is extorting money from the soldiers of Uncle Sam.

Robbing civilians is bad enough but Uncle Sam's soldiers— Fifty cents for a pie!

I read this in the Ukiah notes in the East Oregonian:

"The auto truck from Pilot Rock came in Thursday evening with a mixed load, consisting of a lady, several men, a Jersey cow and freight of every description."

The only thing needed to complete the gaiety of the occasion was a drummer with a package.

BRITISH WOMEN WANT TO FIGHT THE KAISER

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 28.—(United Press)—British Columbia women want to fight the Kaiser. More than that, they're getting ready to take their places on the battlefield, like the Russian Legion of Death.

The women met in the labor temple last night to discuss details incident to the completion of the organization. Today they will telegraph Ottawa, offering their services as soldiers. Recruiting to the Canadian woman's army began several weeks ago and some of the women now have military equipment, including khaki suits, wide-brimmed hats and heavy army boots. Major Robinson, vice-president of the Great War Veterans' association, has volunteered to drill the women. The age limit is 21 to 45, and a high physical standard must be met before a prospective recruit is accepted.

Picked Up By The Stroller

The Stroller having nothing else to do and not being invited out to a banquet to eat free, strolled down by the depot—that palatial edifice to which we all point with pride and especially mention in our literature boosting La Grande—and there I saw Jerry Rusk, acting district attorney, and Deputy Sheriff Wayne Graham and Police Officer Christensen, waiting at the platform. Suspecting that this gathering of the majesty of the law meant something the Stroller concluded to stick on the job and watch proceedings, thinking possibly that there might be some excitement develop and somebody get beamed, the police not having done anything real devilish lately.

Presently a train hove in sight, west bound, which not being on the schedule was hardly according to law and contrary to the peace and dignity of the city of La Grande, and I thought maybe Jerry and Wayne and Christie had come down to pinch it or to search somebody's suitcase. But on the contrary they seemed just as much surprised as I was and I could see no warlike signs of drawing pistols or unflinching 41-centimeter fillies into action. The train stopped and it was a troop train going west. A bunch of hungry soldiers descended and they charged on Jefferson avenue and Depot street like Teddy going up San Juan Hill.

It was interesting to see those soldiers go after pies. After they got their lunches they came back and mounted the train and pretty soon an officer got off red eyed.

He came hustling up the platform until he saw Jerry and perceived by some hidden sign that he was an Elk. And he said things (omitting title of name and cause and profanity). He said: It was an indescribable outrage that some son of a sea-cook was so confoundedly unpatriotic and uncivilized as to run what appeared on its face to be a respectable eating place but which was in reality a dead-fall, a den, a dump, a cave where the Forty Thieves congregate, a robbers' roost, in which (to make the complaint more definite and certain) the aforesaid master of villiany had then and there charged and extorted from the members of Uncle Sam's army the sum of fifty cents (coin of the realm) for one emaciated, dyspeptic and attenuated pie, and the additional sum of twenty cents for one package of cigarettes which in all cities of the world sold for two jitneys, ten cents.

Jerry cleared his throat.

We thought we were going to hear something good, when the conductor signaled, and without any more hesitation the train started.

The officer climbed on, and as a final shot, told us that he and his boys would damn La Grande and give it a black eye from Greenland's icy mountains to the trenches of France.

All I have to remark is that I believe the officer is right.

It strikes me that the respectable vendors of food in the vicinity of Jefferson and Depot should find out who

Letters From The Front

Clackamas Aug. 26.—(To the Editor.)—Since reaching Clackamas I have been a very busy person and have found it impossible for me to supply you with news items of interest in the camp-life of the Oregon Field Hospital.

My duties as supply sergeant are quite heavy, and I find that in order to do things right, I must be on the job at all times.

G. W. Walker was here at the camp day before yesterday and was endeavoring to enlist with our company as cook. He was not successful, as I understand it, being unable to pass the physical examination.

With kind regards and best of wishes, I am very truly yours, C. R. HARDING.

Summerville News

Summerville, Or., Aug. 28.—(Special)—Professor and Mrs. W. L. Starr and their daughter Catherine, have returned from their sojourn in the Willamette Valley.

School opens here on the 3d of September.

E. C. Wagner and family have moved from the telephone office and are now living in the north end of town in a house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Needham.

Mrs. Frank Ott had a very acute attack of gallstones early in the morning of the 25th inst. Dr. Gilmore of Imbler, was called and some relief was effected and since then she has gradually been improving.

L. M. Hug says all she does now is to make and receive calls. No wonder she is the new telephone operator.

Low hanging telephone wires suffer separation when the formidable derrick finds it obstructing its way. The separation doesn't end the trouble, however, for to see the lineman, Mr. Sandford, going from place to place repairing and testing, one can surmise some of the thoughts and expressions from start to finish from all concerned.

It is reported that about 500 sacks

Makes Clubbing Arrangement With

The Oregon Farmer

Offers Unusual Opportunity to Its Readers

AMONG our large circle of readers there are a great many who are interested directly or indirectly in fruit growing, dairying and other branches of farming. All of these naturally wish to keep in close touch with agricultural activities throughout the state; and to know about any fight which is being waged for the measures Oregon farmers want and against all sorts of schemes that are detrimental to the people and agricultural interests of this state.

We have, therefore, made a special clubbing arrangement with THE OREGON FARMER whereby any farmer or fruitgrower, who is one of our regular subscribers and who is not now a subscriber to THE OREGON FARMER, will be entitled to receive THE OREGON FARMER in combination with this paper at the same rate as for this paper alone.

This offer applies to all those who renew or extend their subscriptions as well as to all new subscribers. If you are interested directly or indirectly in Oregon agriculture, do not miss this unusual opportunity, but send your order in now.

THE OREGON FARMER is the one farm paper which is devoting itself exclusively to the farming activities and interests of Oregon. It has a big organization gathering the news of importance to farmers, dairymen, fruitgrowers, stockraisers and poultrymen; and it has the backbone to attack wrongful methods and combinations and bad legislation, and support honest leaders and beneficial measures. We are confident that our readers will congratulate us on our being able to make this splendid and attractive clubbing offer.
