PORTLAND MARKET LETTER
August 30, 1917
General conditions throughout the market have continued steady today, with the small volume of 300 cattle, 500 hogs, and 700 sheep moving promptly at prices quoted.

Cattle
The time of the cattle traders was mostly consumed in the examination of second quality to medium stockers and feeders, there being very little beef stuff offered in the yards today. Such good killing stuff as has been offered, changes hands very promptly at strong prices.

Hogs
The high price recently current for stocker and feeder hogs has caused a rush in that department which continues full strong with the demand. Just at present, while the price asked has not been altered, the demand for this quality of stuff seems to be slackening somewhat and today's offering did not pass readily. "Shipper and packer" offerings in this department went readily at quoted prices.

Sheep
The sheep market continues strong with a supply entirely inadequate to meet the demands. The prices quoted are being promptly paid for all offerings in all grades and the demand continues active and somewhat beyond the supply.

In addition to killing stuff a considerable market is developing for feeder and breeding classes in the sheep department.

PACKING SCHOOL SEPT. 4 TO 15

EXPERT TRAINING IN FRUIT PACKING OFFERED AT O. A. C.

The following letter from Prof. C. I. Lewis, chief of the division of horticulture at O. A. C., will probably be of interest to fruit growers of this county. It not only gives us information as to the value of a properly packed crop of apples, but also as to the conditions of this year's apple crop over the United States which is of much interest to all of our local fruit men.

"We are going to hold a fruit packing school at O. A. C. September 4 to 15. We shall take up the packing of both apples and pears. We shall have expert packers to assist with the work. The college has installed modern sizing machines and gravity carriers. The work will consist very largely of laboratory work, actual grading and packing. Occasionally a few lectures will be given on picking, loading cars, building the fruit houses, storage rooms, etc. It is quite an opportunity for people to come to the college and get the expert training in packing, so that they can go home and handle this year's crop. Never in the history of the United States was there more demand we should put up our fruit in good shape. There is a very light apple crop. The commercial apple crop is perhaps the smallest in 20 years, at least 12 per cent below last year's crop. There should be a good price realized for fruit well packed and graded. If students who are to come, could send me word a few days ahead, it will help us very materially in planning for amount of fruit, accommodations, etc., for such people. The only charge for the course is $2 which will, of course, not cover the cost of fruit that each person will probably destroy.

If one cannot come for the 10 days, let them come for a day or two and get what they can from the course. I am very anxious to help standardize the apple packing industry and to do this we must train packers. There are many districts in the state which are just beginning to produce apples and will produce large quantities the next four or five years. These are the districts which should be especially interested in our fruit packing school at this time.

CITY HALL CLOCK TOWER TO BE RE-BUILT SOON

New York Building Destroyed by Fire Last May Will Be Restored

New York, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Whether Tammany wins this fall or not it won't have the opportunity to infringe on the city's time to the extent of rebuilding the City Hall clock-tower. The Mitchel regime has deecided to do that before it goes out, if, as seems most unlikely, it does go out.

Plans for the restoration of the tower and clock which was destroyed by fire last May, were filed with the Bureau of Public Buildings recently. The tower will be remodeled after the original design of John McComb, the architect who designed the plans when the building was constructed in 1812, except that the clock will be retained. There was no clock in the original tower, and a second story was added to accommodate the clock recently destroyed. The second story is cut out in the new plans, and it is proposed to place the four faces of the new clock in the oval part of the windows in the first story of the tower.

When the committee started its work a search was begun for the original McComb plans. Nobody knew where they were or whether they were in existence. Finally John Quincy Adams, secretary of the Art Commission, found Mrs. E. S. Wild, a daughter of McComb, and learned that the plans were in the archives of the New York Historical Society. They were procured and Mr. Atterbury drew the new plans along the old lines.

The Board of Estimate has already appropriated $35,000 for the restoration of the tower, and the committee will ask for $25,000 more to fire-proof the whole top floor.

The following registered at the Imperial Hotel, Portland, Tuesday: Dr. F. E. Butler and wife, of Hot Lake; L. A. Stooft, of Elgin. Wednesday: Mrs. J. F. Corbett, La Grande; Miss J. Mitchell, La Grande; Miss Angeline Blizzard, La Grande.

Ladd Canyon News

Ladd Canyon, Ore., Aug. 30.—(Special)—The members of the Ladd Canyon Sunday school rendered a very good program last evening in the new school house, it being the first gathering of any kind to be held in it. Both Mr. Crymes and Mr. Randall gave interesting addresses to a packed house.

The new school house has just been completed and is really one of the most beautiful school buildings ever erected. When school opens the youngsters will surely imagine they have entered a lovely bungalow to receive their lessons, instead of the usual-style school house, for such it is. Besides the main room there is a kitchen, library and an extra room. The exterior is white, trimmed in green, and the interior is calsonimed in a light green and is beautifully and artistically decorated in a dark oak finish. We are all very proud of it and think Guy Fuller, who had the contract should be congratulated on his ability to do such lovely work.

The Ladd Canyon auxiliary of the Red Cross gave an ice cream social last Thursday evening, the 23d, in D. W. Miller's grove. The bright lights from the automobiles and hanging lanterns and the vases of flowers on the little tables gave the pretty grove a prettier appearance than it all ready possessed. Rev. G. L. Clark, of the Presbyterian church at La Grande, delivered a patriotic address which was very interesting to the large congregation. The proceeds amounted to $25.80.

Mrs. Roy Halley will entertain the Get Together Club at her mother's home, Mrs. Benj. Bainbridge, tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Minnie Drumamith has been home from Hot Lake several days, where she underwent a very serious operation for appendicitis and lockage of the bowels.

Miss Louisa Council, who has been ill for some time was taken to the hospital at Hot Lake Tuesday morning where she is rapidly improving.

"Advertising is intensive salesmanship. It is the modern method of scientific, economic distribution, and anything which tends to facilitate distribution—the most serious problem of merchandising—is not and cannot be extravagance, any more than a machine which costs $5,000 but pays for itself in a year, could be considered a waste."—Excerpt—Who Pays the Advertising Bills.
