IRON RING STORY OF INTENSE INTEREST

At the Arcade Theater on Sunday the attraction will be "The Iron Ring," the newest World-Picture, Brady-Made, in which a star cast is seen—Arthur Ashley, Gerda Holmes and Edward Langford. The story concerns the rise to prosperity of Mr. and Mrs. Huletta, who live in a suburb of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Huletta have never been separated a night since their marriage two years before the story opens, but with Huletta's advance toward success his business calls him out of town on frequent trips. His wife feels that she is being neglected. She takes up with Mrs. Leonard, a not very desirable neighbor, and through the latter, meets Jack Delamore, a man of the city who has a very unsavory reputation. The breach between husband and wife widens until it seems that nothing can ever bring them together again. Then something startling happens to Mrs. Leonard which has a profound influence on the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Huletta. This interesting and entertaining story has been staged in a splendid manner. The direction makes it run swiftly and smoothly to a logical conclusion.

MANUFACTURE OF WHISKEY ENDS LEGALLY TONIGHT IN U.S.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Whisky making in the United States ends legally at 11 o'clock tonight. But whisky drinking does not end. There were 232,404,870 gallons of it stored in warehouses at the last report, not to mention supplies in saloons, wholesale liquor stores and with licensed liquor dealers. This supply will last several years.

While the food control law under which John Barleycorn is knocked out, is effective only for the duration of the war, prohibitionists declare whisky making never will be known again in this country. They are confident that with the experience gained from the present war experiment, nationwide prohibition will soon be adopted by Federal constitutional amendment.

John made a hard fight in Congress before the knockout was administered in Section 15 of the food control law. Herbert Hoover counted John out in order to save about 40,000,000 bushels of foodstuffs to fight the war.

What will happen to whisky distilleries is problematical. Some have already announced they will go out of business. Others plan to continue making alcohol for industrial purposes. Many may enter other lines—even making malted milk.

The law prohibits the making of distilled spirits for beverage purposes. Straight alcohol and denatured alcohol may continue to be manufactured. There are about 700 plants equipped for making alcohol in this country. Only about 600, however, actually have been making whisky.

Hoover's order stops all processes in the production of whisky at 11 P. M. "The use of foods, fruits and food materials or feeds may not even be initiated unless the entire process may be fully completed prior to 11 P. M.," his order stated.

He did not give John Barleycorn a single moment's grace. While 30 days from date of approval of the law—August 10—Would be tomorrow, Sunday, Hoover fixed the hour of John's demise at 11 P. M. tonight because the internal revenue laws prevent the operation of distilleries between 11 Saturday night and the following Monday morning.

Two other "dry" provisions in the food bill have not yet been acted upon by Hoover. One gives the President the right to commandeer any or all distilled spirits if necessary for redistillation and use in munitions making or other military purposes. The other empowers the President to limit, regulate or prohibit the use of foodstuffs to make beer.
