Regimental sergeant-majors, regimental supply sergeants, sergeant-majors of the senior grade, quartermaster's sergeants of the quartermaster's corps, ordnance sergeants, first sergeants, battalion sergeant-majors of the engineers, battalion supply sergeants of the engineers, electrician sergeants of the first-class, first-class sergeants of the quartermaster's corps, engineers and signal corps; assistant engineers and first-class musicians of the military academy, $60 a month.

First-class sergeants of the medical department, field musician sergeants of the military academy, $66. Hospital sergeants, master engineers of the junior grade and engineers, $84.

Quartermaster sergeants of the senior grade of the quartermaster's corps, band leaders, master signal electricians, master electricians, master engineers of the senior grade, master hospital sergeants, band sergeants and assistant band leaders of the military academy, $96 a month.

This pay is for first enlistments. It increases with each enlistment in the Regular Army. Because of special qualifications and service, certain men draw pay, or bonuses, beyond the regular enlistment pay, as follows:

Mess sergeants, $6; casemate electricians, $9; first-class observers, $9; plotters, $9; coxswains, $9; chief planters, chief loaders, second-class observers, gun commanders and gun pointers, $8 each; surgical assistants, expert first-class gunners F. A., and expert riflemen, $5 each; private first-class nurses, sharpshooters and first-class gunners, $3 each; second-class gunners, marksmen, dispensary assistants and holders of the certificate of merit, $2 each.

Enlisted men get all clothing and equipment free. Officers in addition to fixed allowances for quarters, heat and light, receive the following sums yearly, with provision for increase every five years for all ranks below brigadier-general in the Regular Army:

Second lieutenants, $1700; first lieutenants, $2000; captains, $2400; majors, $3000; lieutenant-colonels, $3500; colonels, $4000; brigadier-generals, $6000; major-generals, $8000 and lieutenant-generals, $11,000.

SAFETY CONGRESS STUDIES NEEDS OF WOMEN WORKERS

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Sixth Annual National Safety Congress and Exhibition of Safety and Sanitation opened at the Grand Central Palace today, thousands of safety engineers identified with every known industry attending.

The exposition is under the joint auspices of the National Safety Council and the American Museum of Safety, and will continue for five days. Prominent safety engineers attending point out that owing to the fact that thousands of women and untrained men are taking the places of the men who go to the front, safety precautions are more necessary than ever before.

An interesting series of exhibits show how the lives of our soldiers and sailors are being guarded. Demonstrations of the weird-looking gas mask for contending against suffocating and lachrymose gases, the various types of camouflage, or methods of painting scenery and arranging foliage so as to hide batteries and transports to deceive the enemy, and modern sanitary methods at war hospitals form an interesting department.

FAMOUS ROMANCE OF ADVENTURE IS PUT ON THE SCREEN

An interesting comparison of the time it takes to read a book and to see all of its incidents on the screen will be afforded when Clune's multiple-reel production of Harold Bell Wright's famous romance of adventure, "The Eyes of the World," is shown at the Arcade theatre, Sunday. Although the screen production contains about two miles of film and one thousand different scenes depicting the novel, which the author considerably amplified for the production, they are compassed in two hours and a half. It would require much more time than this for the reading of the book.

A Self Made Widow

Alice Brady Star of Five-Part Peerless Photoplay That is Often Amusing and Never Dull—Released by World.

Reviewed by Edward Weitzel in Moving Picture World

The title "A Self-Made Widow" suggests a tragedy, but there is nothing of that nature about this five-part Peerless photoplay from a story by Henry Albert Phillips. The author has started out to write an amusing tale, and never lets anything in the way of improbability interfere with the course of events. To thoroughly enjoy the picture it is only necessary to take everything in good faith and learn that fate and the scenario writers often play strange but entertaining tricks with the lives of some people.

Sylvia Smith, the heroine, is a simple country girl who elopes with a city chap, only to learn that he is already provided with a wife and family. She determines not to return
