For which occurred in your paper Saturday, September 15th, in the Union news items. The number enrolled in the public schools the first day was 297 instead of 227, as reported. The enrollment was given out on the phone which may account for the error. After one week we have reached an enrollment of 312 with many others to come in when the harvest work is over. This compares very favorably with last year's enrollment, there being a greater number taking high school work. Teachers and pupils have taken hold of the work with enthusiasm and everything indicates a good school year.

Thanking you, and with kindest regards, I am very truly yours, E. E. ARANT.

NEW BASEBALL MANAGERS ARE MAKING NEW RECORDS

By H. C. HAMILTON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Sept. 10—A new crop of managers is striking hard at the records of the old school in baseball. Youngsters in experience, they are working the order of things by grasping the game in their hands and threatening to run it right into a personally conducted world's series before many more moons.

Lee Fohl and Jack Barry, two American leaguers, are babies as leaders of baseball clubs, yet this year they have slammed things around in such an exciting fashion that it has taken an awful lot of effort to convince them that they haven't the right to run away with a pennant. In fact, Barry has proven so obstinate along these lines that he hasn't yet been convinced and has a chance to win his argument.

Barry's case is hardly as remarkable as Fohl's, for Barry has always been considered one of the game's smartest players, and has had experience under the game's most astute and studious managers.

Fohl was just a sort of helper for Joe Brimingham while Joe was having his ups and downs in Cleveland. When he took hold of the Indians, it was generally believed his position was only temporary and that sooner or later he would surrender his place to some one better known as an exponent of winning baseball. But Lee fooled the gang. He trotted right into the race his first year out, made his team play baseball, and was considered a terrible obstacle last summer.

This year Lee again started it, and, while few critics gave him a chance for the pennant, Lee himself believed he would have something to say about the disposition of the annual flag, and he came mighty near getting his wish.

Fohl won't be ready to win a pennant next year with his present array of stars, but there's no telling what he will do to improve his team. He's a builder and is likely to win any time he gets the right start.

Hugo Bezdek, in the National league, is getting a lot of attention right now, following his great success in building a pitching staff for Pittsburgh.

O. C. Osborne, fireman for the O. W. and Pleasant Valley, was in town yesterday.
