

A Favorite Food Olive Oil

Olive Oil has always been a popular food in Europe, and now we are beginning to realize that it is a safer and more nutritious food than meat. This is true because it is all nutriment and it leaves no waste products in the system. In fact, it helps to expel the harmful waste which accumulates from the use of other foods.

CALIFORNIA OLIVE OIL

is a special American brand which we sell. It is made from choice ripe olives. It has a delicious nutty flavor that is not surpassed by any imported oil—but the price is less.

Price, $1.00 Pint.

where he was a judge at the stock show.

Leave for Round-Up—The Jack O'Neill family and Mrs. A. Krouse departed for Pendleton this morning to visit at the Round-Up.

New Druggist Here—Silverthorn's Family Drug Store has a new pharmacist with them this morning. He is O. C. Richards, of the Tallman Drug Co., at Walla Walla, and has accepted a position here beginning today.

Leave for Canby—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Wickliffe, of California, who have been visiting for the last two months with relatives in Elgin, went to Canby, Ore. Their niece, Stella Bannadher, accompanied them and will visit her brother George, at Canby.

Returns From Trip—Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, of Enterprise, returned home this morning after spending three months in Spokane, Minneapolis, Buffalo, N. Y., and other eastern points, visiting relatives.

Sending Big Corn to Fair—J. D. Senty is sending to the State Fair at Salem a sample of broomcorn, raised on his farm south of town, that measures 12 feet in height and has heads over two feet long.

Return From Vale—Mrs. C. M. Hale, Mary A. Elmer and J. E. Woods returned this morning from Vale, Ore., where they had visited their brother and son, Edgar Woods, who was in the first draft of Malheur County. Mrs. Hale and Mr. Woods live at Imbler and Mrs. Elmer at Lostine.

Leave for Myrtle Point—Rev. S. M. Roberts and family left this morning on No. 17 for Myrtle Point, Ore., where Rev. Roberts will take charge of the South Methodist Church. His many friends regret very much that he left here.

Mother From Union to See Son—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wulf and Dr. Lamb, of Union, motored over this morning to see Clifford Wulf, who was operated on for appendicitis here last Tuesday night. Mr. Ed Wulf, while helping to put his hay into the barn, fell from the upper part of the barn to the ground, breaking his right arm which he is still wearing in a sling.

Special to Round-Up—A special train will be run Saturday to the Round-Up, the train being made up at Baker and leaving La Grande at 7 o'clock, arriving in Pendleton at 10:30 and leaving Pendleton at 10:30 P. M. for the return trip.

Return to Elgin—Mrs. L. W. Cruikshank and daughter Flora, returned to their home in Elgin this morning having been overnight visitors here.

Will Attend Round-Up—Miss Nest Smith of May Park went to Pendleton this morning and will take in the Round-Up.

Leave on Visit—Mrs. B. F. Meredith, of Salmon, Idaho, went to Elgin this morning to visit relatives for a week or so.

Will Locate at Minam—Mrs. J. J. Bradley and two children, of Marion, Ore., went to Minam this morning where they expect to make their future home.

Leave For Round-Up—Mrs. J. W. Lytle, Mrs. Jas. Moss and daughter Miss Lena, and Miss Pauline Oliver all of Alicel, went to Pendleton this morning for the Round-Up.

Return to Elgin—Mrs. J. Lewis returned to Elgin this morning after visiting here with her daughter Mrs. W. D. Stoupp, since Monday.

Leaves for Portland—Mrs. Nellie Jensen, who has been here from New York visiting relatives, went to Portland this morning on No. 17 where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Winkler. Mrs. Jensen was formerly Miss Nellie Winkler, of La Grande.

Goes to Pendleton—Mr. Rookwood and Mr. Beeher, of Forest Grove, went to Pendleton this morning.

To Attend Round-Up—Helen Currey and her recent guests left last night for Pendleton where they will take in the Round-Up.

Agriculturist Here—Mr. Mills, of Hood River, is in this county for today in the interests of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Go To Round-Up—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Van Buren went to Pendleton on No. 17 yesterday for the Round-Up.

Drafted Men Pass Through—Six hundred drafted men from Wyoming and Idaho went through this afternoon on their way to American Lake and stopped here for about 15 minutes. Three of the men who had gone up town, missed the train although they ran, but could not make it. While they were here they just about took over the town. A young lady was coming up the street in an empty car when suddenly about a dozen of the men decided they wanted an auto ride, so jumped onto and into the car and rode off with the young lady in it.

Returns From Idaho—Joe Harnett returned yesterday from Barber, Idaho where he has been in the employ of the Boise-Payette Lumber Co. He is well known here, having formerly been with the Palmer Lumber Co. at their camp.

Baker Visitor—William Pollman, President of the First National Bank, of Baker, was in La Grande this morning on business, returning on No. 6.

Drafted Men Pass Through—A large number of drafted men, or conscripts, passed through on a special train this morning about 9 o'clock. The men were from Idaho and Utah, and all seemed to be extremely happy and good natured, as they let out war whoops that very much resembled the old fashioned Indian war whoop. It is to be supposed that they were merely practicing up so as to be able to scare the Germans so badly with their yells that their ammunition would be unnecessary. The train was composed of nine coaches, a baggage car, diner and caboose.

Found Not Guilty—Archib O'Leary a man who was arrested on a charge of smoking cigarettes was tried in municipal court and found not guilty. It was proved he was smoking a cigar.

ROUND-UP OPENS WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE

Pendleton, Ore., Sept 20—Pendleton's annual Round-Up opened here today with a record crowd and a handier program.

And, because the nation is at war, this year's Round-Up is more or less of a patriotic affair. Today is patriotic day. All school children entering the Round-Up grounds were given an American flag. Everybody—men and women, young and old

Home Cookery

Spiced Peaches.

Seven pounds of fruit, three pounds of brown sugar, one quart of vinegar. Pour boiling water over the peaches and allow it to remain one minute; peel the peaches. Stick three cloves in each peach. Put sugar and vinegar on fire and let come to a boil, add the peaches, cook till perfectly tender. A few minutes before taking the peaches out put a little mace, a stick of cinnamon, a few allspice, a piece of white ginger in a bag or piece of net and drop into the boiling vinegar. After taking the peaches out of the vinegar let the juice boil down till thick. Put in jars and seal while hot.

Baked Pears.

Core and pare eight pears, fill the centers with one-quarter cupful of butter creamed with one-half cupful of brown sugar. Add four tablespoonfuls of chopped citron peel and one tablespoonful of lemon juice, mixed together. Mix two tablespoonfuls of sugar with one-half cupful of water and brush over the pears, sprinkle with crumbs browned in hot butter, bake for twenty minutes in a moderate oven and serve cold with a soft custard.

Fleet of Planes Would End War.

Colonel Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, British scientist and soldier, recently gave an interview on the part that he felt England and America together could play in an extensive manufacture of aeroplanes. He said: "If there were a regular system of aerial attacks on the munitions producing towns of Westphalia and also on the bridges of the Rhine not only would there follow tremendous destruction of the German munition factories and, as an inevitable corollary, diminution of supplies, but also grave interference with their transport communications."

"A united air service would be able to initiate its own offensive and itself become responsible for the protection of the realm from hostile air squadrons." "Reckoning that you have five machines on the ground for every one in the air, it is not difficult to gauge the point where America's aerial assistance would begin to exercise a dominating sway on the conflict. If next year America can produce 25,000 aeroplanes and keep 5,000 in the air the war would very soon be over. The road to the Rhine over the trenches could, if the allies, and England and America in particular, pull their full weight in aerial construction, be quickly crossed."

Picked Up By The Stroller

Like Mark Twain I wish to say that the rumor that I'm dead is a gross exaggeration.

I met a couple of pretty girls on the street and while they were soldiers in the vicinity they smiled at me and jollied me for three or four minutes. A little jolly now and then is relished by the best of men.

I strolled down street and picked up two pieces of coal—as precious as diamonds now—two lead pencils, two pieces of tin foil, a lady's garter, a powder puff, a baby's shoe, and an old newspaper. I was looking for a five dollar bill, but it made me think that the way people waste things is appalling.

I strolled into the wrestling match last night and there was a bunch of young boys hanging around. Their language was something fierce. I hate to hear young boys swear.

The drafted men are worthy of every honor. They are going to the front without a murmur. The ones that are doing the kicking are not doing the fighting.

tion for the contest as the match was made on Monday to be staged on Wednesday, to suit the convenience of Norgaard thereby leaving no time for training.

The match was promoted by J. E. Anderson. Jack Carlson refereed and C. D. Emahiser announced.

The attendance showed clearly that La Grande fans love the sport and will support a good exhibition of clean athletics.

O'Neill will be matched by Mr. Emahiser with Ad Santel, the world's 175-pound wrestling champion, in November, and the local fans will have an opportunity to see a world championship contest.
