

A HINT To Amateur Photographers

Our store is the best place to buy good photograph materials. A competent druggist is by nature and training careful as to the quality of the goods he sells. Quality counts in photographic supplies and freshness counts also. We look after this department as carefully as after our medical drugs, and will guarantee the reliability of anything in this line we supply.

It pays to have the kind of supplies you are sure to find here and it costs nothing extra to get them.
