AT THE ARCADE THE ATRE TODAY ONLY

LOU TELLEGEN SUPPORTED BY MARY FULLER in "THE LONG TRAIL" FAMOUS PLAYERS-PARAMOUNT

ARCADE

LOU-TELLEGEN AND MARY FULLER TODAY ONLY

In presenting Lou-Tellegen and Mary Fuller in the Famous Players production of "The Long Trail" on the Paramount Program, it is felt that this stellar duo will be unusually popular with the amusement-seeking public when it will be seen at the Arcade Theatre today only.

Lou-Tellegen is seen as "Andre Dubois," the young French-Canadian trapper, living in the wilds with his little sister Michette. Mary Fuller plays Louise Graham, an orphan whose only living near relative is her scapegrace brother. The way Andre unconsciously compromises Louise and causes her hypocritical friends to desert her, and then marries her to save her from the advances of the uncouth lumberman of the place makes a tale that is intensely interesting in its freshness and originality. In the meantime, Louise's brother and Andre's little sister Michette have had an unfortunate affair and complications of all kinds ensue. Andre and Louise who all this time have been living a queer sort of double-house-keeping arrangement, and incidentally coming to care more and more for each other since their strange wedding.

Eve Unsell has brought the story to a most satisfactory ending and the final "fade-out" shows us the two standing hand in hand watching the disappearing figure of the constable down the "Long Trail," leaving them alone in their long-delayed happiness.

AT THE ARCADE WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

WAR CRANKS KEEP WASHINGTON AMUSED

(United Press.) Washington, Oct. 2. — The real President of the United States arrived in Washington the other day. He admitted it. "I come," he announced, as he stepped off the train from Keokuk, "to take possession of the White House. Wilson was elected by fraud. I will drive out the usurper." "Welcome," said a cordial secret service man. "Permit me to escort you to the White House."

Whereupon the self-styled President was whisked to police headquarters. Eventually he held forth in pomp at the Psychopathic ward of the Washington Asylum Hospital. In the last few months this institution has welcomed a few other presidents, the Queen of Canada (who had come to ask Secretary McAdoo for $500,000 for coronation expenses), the Most August Oracle of the People (including Mexico), numerous crack-brained inventors, miscellaneous "chums" of the President (who just wanted to chat with him), and sundry other members of the batty battalion.

One chap—educated and ostensibly intelligent—came all the way from California to arrest the President. He ran the secret service gauntlet at the Union Station and calmly walked up to the White House before guards nabbed him. Another sage came from New York with a weird tale of the shooting of 400 German spies on the Brooklyn bridge every day. He wanted President Wilson to have the same system started in Washington.

A woman working in a Government bureau had a revolutionary invention that she wanted to show to Mrs. Wilson. And on the psychopathic ward records there is a robust group of rabid pro-Germans, driven wild by propaganda and worry.

There is pathos in many of these cases. The latest addition is a devout little Western farmer who was haunted by visions calling upon him to end the war—at once. The man sold all his property and made the trip all the way to Washington. The moment he stepped off the train he asked to see President Wilson.

"Come right in here," said a detective, motioning to an automobile, "and I will take you to the President up town." The farmer entered and was whisked away to the psychopathic ward.

Eagle-eyed plain clothes men, stem the tide of cranks at the Union Station. Only the cleverest crank can get near the White House. And it takes a sane man to get inside.

MONTANA UNIVERSITY OPENS WITH LARGE ENROLLMENT

The four-quarter plan instead of the two-semester system was explained to the students today. The first quarter ends Christmas.

The university has five new members of its faculty. E. O. Sisson, formerly of Idaho, will be inaugurated as president of the university Thursday.

We chose to specialize on the Modart Front Laced Corset, to feature it in our advertising, to recommend it to our customers—only after a thorough study and search of the corset field. And only after we were convinced that no other front laced corsets compared with Modart in quality and fine fitting features, did we choose them.
