well—not only to subscribe its just resting on Washington, and H. E. Dixon, adjutant of the Home Guard battalion will have direction of their march. The band, Company L, Home Guards, Home Guard girls and citizenry will move off in the order named.

Speakers to Bring Message. After the parade the Methodist Church will be the mecca and there, it is assured, will occur one of the best sets of speeches La Grande has listened to in a long time. Judge M. Ginn, of Portland, recognized as one of the ablest orators of the state and a man who throws his voluminous energy into any worthy enterprise with great force, will be introduced and speak just for a moment, as his main address will come later in the week as one of the patriotic developers of the mid-week's program. A. C. Spencer, assistant general counsel for the O. W. and Phil Metcalf, mine host of the Imperial Hotel—a man familiar to every Eastern Oregonian, who has ever been in Portland—will be the other speaker and both these men are adept at the business. The tone of their speeches will be to arouse the public to a sense of duty in supporting the soldiers in France for carrying on every arm of the service.

With this foundation to build the demonstration on, the committee in charge have ample faith in the ultimate outcome, and believe that when the drive is over a week from tonight, Union County will once more have arisen to its duty and performed it

Not By What We Say---

Not by what the other store says—but by a comparison of values can you make the efficiency of your dollar 100 per cent. What you are doing today—these trying times—to make your dollar efficient you should have done "before the great war."

REMEMBER 10 years of efficiency against 10 years of waste would have made you not only independent but rich.

Fifteen years of efficiency has placed the J. C. Penney Co. where it is today—The largest mercantile organization of its kind in America.

Visit the "Busy Store for More" to night—see the crowds—there's a reason—extra clerks, assuring you prompt attention.

quota but oversubscribe it, and thus may we, in our remote locality, thrust another thorn of worry in the House of Hohenzollern, and insert another brick in the wall of democracy being thrown around the world; all can't fight in the trenches; all can't give large sums to the Red Cross, but all can take advantage of the existing opportunities to buy a bond for Liberty—if not in a lump sum, then via the Ben Selling method of a dollar down and a dollar a week.

As speakers, stories and appeals generally will emphasize during the next seven days, these sums are not donations but investments in 4 per cent interest bearing, non-taxable bonds—bonds as sure and sound as the strongest government under God's canopy of stars. To impress these truths upon the populace is the purpose of the string of demonstrations and speeches next week. If all do their part, meaning Mr. and Mrs. Everybody and their sons and daughters, the task will be simple but if left to the other Mr. and Mrs. Otherfellow, it immediately becomes a burden and impossible task for the few.
