MY TRIP TO THE OREGON STATE FAIR

By HILDA BLOKLAND.
Our party chaperoned by Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe left La Grande for Salem at 1:30 Tuesday morning. At 5 a. m. we arrived at Pendleton.

As we left Pendleton we saw nothing but barren wheat fields and sage brush. But soon we came to the Umatilla River which is a broad quiet stream. As we journeyed on we came to the Columbia which is a most beautiful river. Soon we saw the Deschutes, a mad rushing stream coming down to join the Columbia. On the right were the white sand dunes which looked very pretty in the early morning sunshine. We saw houseboats all along the river.

As we passed on we saw the Interstate bridge, we saw some Indians out fishing. Next came the Celilo canal which is quite wide and some miles long. The railroad and the Columbia river highway run side by side. We were allowed a stop at the different falls. All are beautiful, but the most beautiful were Horsetail and Multnomah. At Multnomah we had our pictures taken near the falls. The great volume of water descends and with a mighty roar lands on the rocks below. We passed through a tunnel a mile long and when we got through we were covered with cinders. All the way the scenery was very beautiful. We saw where the public markets get their products for all along the railroad were acres and acres of vegetables.

We passed Crown Point and Rooster Rock, and finally we crossed the Willamette and reached Portland.

We had dinner in the Union depot at Portland. At 1 p. m. we boarded the Southern Pacific to go to Salem. As we left the suburbs of Portland we entered the mountains. As we passed on, the scenery was most beautiful, the mountains with the still water at their base with here and there a salmon springing out of the waters made a most beautiful picture. On the other side we could see small villages nestled among the hills.

At Oregon City we saw the huge volume of water which furnishes water power for its manufacturing.

As we neared the Capital City we saw hop fields, in one place people were gathering hops. At Chemawa we saw the Indian school where the little Indian boys and girls were at play. At 5:30 p. m. we reached Salem and we were let off at the Fair grounds, where we were met by our chaperones, Miss Fay Clarke, Mrs. Maris, and Mrs. Harrington met the girls, while Mr. Vedder and Mr. Staeger met the boys. We were given our passes which were blue ribbons with "Girl's Fair Camp" printed on them and they had "Boys Fair Camp" printed on theirs.

Then we were taken to our camp grounds and told to get ready for supper which was at 6 o'clock.

We had four tents, two for the boys one for the girls and one eating tent.

In one end of the eating tent was a stove and two small tables, there were two other tables with benches. We were seated first, a boy and then a girl with Mr. Carleton at the head of one table and Mrs. Maris at the head of the other. We had very nice meals.

The first evening we were sent to bed at 8 o'clock. The next morning we were called at 5:30 and went to breakfast at 6:45. At the breakfast table we found out that there were 90 in camp, 48 girls and 42 boys.

After breakfast we assembled in our tents and were given introductions; the boys took military drill for an hour and a half after breakfast and then were allowed to go until 11:45, when to get ready for dinner. The girls did not take military drill so were allowed the time from breakfast to dinner to do as they pleased. We had to make our own beds as we slept on cots.

The fair grounds cover nearly 80 acres. The first day we spent in ex-

HARRY CAREY ON STAR PROGRAM.

Harry Carey, who made such a big hit in the picture "Straight Shooting," will be seen at the Star Theatre today and tomorrow in another Western picture called "The Drifter." In this picture Carey returns to his favorite role of "Cheyenne Harry," the "good bad man of Western days that are no more. Lots of action riding and good faithful Western characterizations make this a mighty interesting picture. Another thrilling picture on the same program is Helen Holmes in the fourth chapter of the Railroad Raiders called "A Race for a Fortune." Helen has many thrilling experiences in this picture, one of them being when she is tied to a large anchor and thrown into the water. As the big laugh producer Lonesome Luke will show to his many friends what sort of a lively life he leads. It is sure some life.

This excellent program will be shown at the Star Theatre today and tomorrow with a matinee each day.

The entrance building is a large concrete building with three large arches. There are electric lights all around and in the evening when they were lit presented a very pretty sight.

There were two pavilions, the old one was where part of the county exhibits were and also some of the various college exhibits. O. A. C. had an experiment booth with Miss Helen Cowgill in charge, the U. of O. had an exhibit of stuffed game.

The county booths were very pretty the best one being Wasco County, which received first prize.

The prettiest part was the floral building. In it were all kinds of flowers, roses, daffodils, geraniums, carnations, sweet peas and ferns. In the corners were huge masses of fern with flowers woven in among them, it reminded one of fairyland.

The new pavilion was of cream colored stone. It stood in the center of a beautiful garden, flowers loaded the walks on every side.

As you entered on the right was a postoffice and on the left was Coos County exhibit. In one corner was a fish exhibit. All the different kinds of fish were exhibited.

Upstairs was the Indian rest room. The walls were covered with blankets with beaded designs on them. The Indian girls had a hospital where they took training.

The school for deaf and dumb had a domestic science exhibit. It was interesting to watch them talk on their fingers, they talked so rapidly and yet seemed to understand each other. In the textile building were exhibits of fancy work. There were some blankets made by ladies over 90 years old.

In one building there were exhibits of different kinds of automobiles. There were cars of every make and description.

On Thursday Governor Withycombe came out to our camp to have dinner with us. He gave us a talk encouraging us to keep up our Industrial Club work, for it was laying the foundation of our future life.

On Friday the boys and girls went to visit Salem. They were taken to the State house, and everyone had a fine time. The fare to the city was paid by the boys out of $10 which they had earned in cleaning the fair grounds.

Each day there were band concerts out at our camp grounds. One day the Chemawa Indian school came out to visit us. They brought their band along. They could play quite well.

One day the State Reform school came out. They wear a uniform of a sort of grayish blue.

On Saturday we were to leave for home so we spent most of the morning in getting one another's addresses and packing up. At 1:40 we left Salem for Portland. At four we arrived in Portland and had supper in the Union Depot. At 6:15 we started for La Grande. We saw the moon rise on the Columbia which is a most beautiful sight.

At 5:35 A. M. we arrived in La Grande. All reported a fine time and intend to try again the coming year.

LUTHERAN LADIES.
