A Letter From Mr. Garrick

La Grande, Ore., Nov. 10, 1917. Editor of the Observer,

Dear Sir:—

Would it not be wise in you to leave the Chief of Police alone. He stands for law and order and La Grande has known him longer than it has known the Observer under the present management.

Also she has for many months silently suffered under the pernicious influence of Commercialized Movies with their hypnotizing, poisoning and demoralizing effects on children and other weak minds.

commercialized movies may have to be endured for a short while longer but La Grande will not stand for the lid to be taken off the City, not even to accommodate the Observer.

Therefore leave the Chief of Police to do his duty without respect to person. You are apparently exulting over the Eakin verdict deceives no one. To the Public the verdict seems a deplorable miscarriage of justice and the question arises right here. Why does the Observer hound the Chief of Police.

Is the Chief of Police too much of an American, too loyal to his country and too patriotic making this town unhealthy for anarchist and pro-Germans. In these times of war and treason when every true man stands out boldly on the side of law and order. Neither the Daily Press nor the Judge on the Bench can afford to attack the officers of the law nor shield law breakers without laying themselves open to the charge of pro-Germanism and treason to their country.

Whereas, the class of help that is being proposed to supply the deficiency—not being used to the drudgery of the farm—is worth very little at the work they are capable of doing and at work requiring experience are practically worthless as the damage they do often exceed their usefulness, and.

Whereas, Food production is one of the most essential things for the winning of the war.

Therefore, be it resolved that the District exemption board for Union County be requested to exempt all actual farmers and what experienced farm help is now left on the farms, as they can do more, at home, to win the war than any place else.

MY CAR. I used to have, in other times, a roll of greenbacks handy; I always could dig up the dimes to buy the kids some candy. And when my wife reared up and cried, "I have to have a bonnet," I stripped an X off and replied, "Go blow yourself, doggone it."
