Some absorb the bad manners of their parents. Children like and need quiet, quiet tones of voice. Home should be a quiet, serene place. Now is the time to drive our young people forward, fill them full of sturdy ideals, with the American spirit of doing and achieving.

"Increase the number of your friends and you increase the value of your assets," says an advertiser. This is especially true of advertised articles. They win friends through advertising and, if good and true themselves, continue to make new ones in steadily increasing numbers.

Praised for Patriotic Work—The following letter has been received by L. J. French and others who assisted in the registration in La Grande last June: Dear Sir—I am in receipt of the compiled list of those patriotic citizens who served in taking Oregon's war census, and I feel that this list constitutes a roll of honor. I desire on behalf of the state of Oregon to express to you at this time the sincere appreciation which is felt of your patriotic contribution of time and energy to the success of the present war with German autocracy.

The success of the registration in this state was due to you and the other registrars and officials who gave unselfishly of their time in recording the names of those from whom the American armies are being selected. It is the spirit that you have shown in offering your services in this work that will win the war for democracy. Faithfully yours, JAMES WITHEYCOMBE, Governor.

Funeral Notice. Mrs. Mary Edith Woods died at her home in Union Junction, Nov. 15th. The remains were shipped to La Grande this morning on No. 17. The funeral was held from the J. C. Henry undertaking parlors at 3:30 P. M. November 16.
