S-T-A-R

'49-'17 AT STAR TODAY ONLY.

When the Butterfly picture with the curious title, "'49-'17" comes to the Star theatre today only the villian of the piece will be played by the actor who took a prominent part in the first motion picture ever made on Danish roil. This is Jean Hersholt. Hersholt plays the role of "Gentleman Jim" Rayner in the present picture; which is a story of the attempted reconstruction of the typical mining camp of the days of the Forty-niners. "Gentleman Jim" tries to "come back" as the real thing, and very nearly succeeds after a series of adventures which make a corking good picture.

STORY OF ADVENTURE AND ROMANCE TOMORROW.

The rather unusual setting of an opal mine on an island off the Coast of California is the locale of the Butterfly picture, "Flame of Youth," starring Jack Mulhall, which will be seen at the Star theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday. Following is a brief synopsis of the story:

Old man Gordon had never seen any reason to regard his happy-go-lucky, spendthrift son as an asset in business until his clerk told him one morning about how that same son had cleaned out a certain resort of pugilists the night before. Now you know what the story book fathers would have thought of that. Right here is where most authors pull that "never-darken-my-door-again" stuff. But in "The Fire of Youth" it is all so unexpected. Instead of casting Jimmy off, Dad sent him to find out why so few opals were being sent to him from his rich opal mine on an island off Lower California. And he told him to take the six o'clock train.

Now Jimmy was engaged to a society butterfly who had a hankering after a title and she was not peeved at all that Jimmy was leaving her in the monocled society of a no-account count. But Jimmy was to get several jolts on the island which made a fly bite out of his sweetheart's indifference. And the least of all was when the man who was taking him to the island hit him on the head with a monkey wrench and tumbled him into the bay. Oh, boy! That started something and you won't sleep nights until you see the finish.

Eugene Challenges La Grande For Title

Charles Reynolds, coach of the La Grande football team, has received the following telegram from the Eugene football manager:

The Eugene high school football team challenge your claim to the state interscholastic championship. We hold at present the Willamette Valley and Southern Oregon championship, and we propose to dispute your claim to the above. Until such time as you have defeated us, we are ready and anxious to show that we are contenders and are also ready to take up matter with you of a game in Eugene Saturday, December 8, the winners of this game to hold state championship. Answer immediately.

FRED CHESS,
Faculty Manager Eugene High School Football Team.

Mr. Reynolds states that he does not consider Eugene's claim is justifiable as they have not defeated a recognized championship team. His reply to the above telegram follows:

La Grande, Dec. 3, 1917.

Mr. Fred Chess,
Eugene High School,
Eugene, Oregon.

Would suggest that you play some Portland team and establish a more definite claim for the Willamette Valley championship before we could consider playing a post season game.

LA GRANDE YARDMASTER IS VETERAN IN SERVICE

T. E. Buehler Holds Record with 24 Years at Same Job on Same Division.

T. E. Buehler, a resident of La Grande for over 24 years and yardmaster in the local yards for the same length of time, probably holds the record on the Union Pacific system for length of service as a yardmaster for continuous service on one division.

Yardmaster Buehler was born in Louisville, Ky., and started railroading in East St. Louis, running a switch engine there for ten years for the B. & O. railroad. He then worked for the G. N. R. R. during the construction of that road between Spokane and Seattle, coming to La Grande in 1894 as yardmaster. At that time General Superintendent J. Buckley was chief dispatcher of the road on this division.

During Mr. Buehler's 24 years of service on this division the traffic of the road has enormously increased, the size of the engines and the size and number of cars hauled has been largely increased and incidentally his salary by successive increases, corresponding with the increase and importance of this division point has also gradually worked up until today he is receiving a little more than double the salary he started at in 1894.
