Douglas Fairbanks—Photographer

(Line Forms on the Right)

And now that Douglas Fairbanks is bound to pour in on him from his thousands of admirers. The versatile Douglas, not satisfied with his many other accomplishments, has taken to photography with all the enthusiasm of the amateur and is here shown snapping a pose of his leading lady, Ellen Percy, between scenes of his new Artcraft picture, "Down to Earth," to be released shortly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CARD OF THANKS
 We wish to thank our many friends for their sympathy and many acts of kindness to us since we received the news of the death of our son, Bert Andrews, in the service of our country in France. We wish to thank all for their floral tributes, the various civic, military, fraternal and religious organizations which participated in the memorial yesterday, and especially the O-W. shopmen for their many acts of kindness and their active participation in yesterday's services.
 MR. and MRS. C. E. ANDREWS.

Home of the Man-Eater.
 Rev. H. L. Ford will give his lecture and entertainment Tuesday night, at 8:00 o'clock in the Christian church. 150 magnificent views of the Cannibal Islands, man-eaters, etc. Two illustrated songs of the "Sunny South" will be used. The "kurdatche" or bloody shoe worn by Australian aborigine chief will be on exhibit and things of interest. No admission but offering will be taken.

NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB TO MEET TOMORROW
 Tomorrow is the annual social day at the Neighborhood Club. The Modern Opera, to be given by Mrs. Geo. Birnie has been postponed and instead a musical program has been arranged as follows: Duet by Mrs. Geo. Birnie and Mrs. Norann Freese; vocal solo by Mrs. T. J. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO REGISTRANTS
 Under Jurisdiction of This Local Board Whose Order Numbers Are Between No. 1310 and No. 1386, Inclusive.
 There has this day been mailed to you a questionnaire which you are required by law to execute and return within seven days from date hereof.

Make Addresses—Mrs. Dora B. Schlike, of La Grande, president of the State Congress of Mothers, addressed the joint session of the irrigation and drainage congresses at Corvallis, on the duty of parents. She also addressed the county superintendents at Salem.

Ready for Snow—The O-W. mechanical department has the snow fighting apparatus of the railroad all oiled up and ready to go at a minute's notice. The weather has been so mild that the equipment has been idle but it is ready for the snows when they do come.

Spiritualist Church Entertainment
 The Spiritualist Church of La Grande will give an entertainment on January 8, at 8 p.m., in Harris Hall. The evening's entertainment will consist of an interesting program, refreshments, cards and dancing. Admission 25 cents. 1-3-18

Wireless Telegraph Class
 The telegraphy class will start at the Y. M. C. A. building tonight. It is important that all desiring to enroll present this evening. The keys will be set up and those who have already taken some instruction in this work will work at the keys. Mr. Divens, manager of the Western Union, will be the principal. 1-3-6c.

The Rode Ranch Sold—J. F. Stringham, the well known valley rancher, has added 400 more acres to his holdings which will be planted to wheat. Mr. Stringham and Fred Self have formed a partnership and purchased the J. D. Rode ranch a few miles out of town. The land is all tillable and one of the best buys in the Valley. Both men are taking advantage of the mild weather and are busy plowing so as to put the whole acreage in to Spring wheat.

The Income Tax Man Says—On account of transportation conditions and shortage in paper supply, the blanks for individuals with net incomes in excess of $4000.00, and for corporations, have not yet been received. Blanks have been received only for the smaller incomes. Therefore, salaried people and those with relatively small incomes are urged to call at the income tax office on Elm street, back of the La Grande National Bank, and have their returns prepared as early as possible so as to leave more time for the other folks later on.

pital, which is located in an old Chateau (castle). The building is very old; it was begun in 1516 and completed in 1632. (Some old.) It is full of all sorts of queer places and has many dungeons underneath. The walls are very thick and the windows covered by iron bars. There is a high wall around it and it has a very large yard. There is an old priest lives in one corner of it. All the day he paces back and forth in the yard and reads. There is the most beautiful mistletoe grows here, but a lot of good it does us. Girls seem to be very scarce in France, and what I have seen—oh, my, excuse me.

 This afternoon I did my washing, so took my clothes to a public wash-house and took my place alongside the French women and scrubbed my clothes on the rock edge of the tank, with a brush, the same as they did. They would jabber away and I couldn't tell whether they were talking about me or not.
 French seems very difficult to learn, but if a person says a word of French to a Frenchman, they will tear off a line of lingo at you and, of course, we look intelligent and say "oui, oui" (meaning yes, yes, and pronounced "wee, wee") to everything they say.
 We have had no mail, except for a few papers and a letter or two. One mail is mixed up somewhere, and I will certainly be glad when it comes. Reading matter is scarce, as the "Y" hasn't received its supply of books and magazines yet.
 We go to bed about 7 o'clock (no joking) as there isn't much else to do. There are quite a number of patients at the hospital, mostly measles and mumps, but I have had no nursing to do yet, so I haven't been in any of the wards.
 Day before yesterday an Observer arrived in camp and there was a grand rush for it. It was dated October 16, and the headlines were the message sent from Camp Mills, saying we were not submarined.
 It surely seemed good to get some home news.
 We are planning on a big feed for Thanksgiving, but don't know if it will become a reality.
 Well, I guess there is no more news at present, so will close. We are all well and hope you are the same.
 With love,
 LYNN STRINGHAM.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

MODART CORSET Front Laced
 through the corsets themselves.
 We cannot hope to convey in words the merit of a corset which finds its most fitting expression in figures.
 We can only tell you that the new design of MODART Front Laced Corsets seem to have acquired an added grace and to impart to the figure still something more of beauty and of poise.
 We consider MODART the best corset at any price.
