people."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"It is gratifying to know that the two organizations (K. of C. and Y. M. C. A.) are working together in a spirit of cordial co-operation, which is as it should be."—New York Herald.

"The War Department has paid the Knights of Columbus a splendid testimonial for its efficient service on the Mexican border during the trouble last year by having called upon the organization to join with the Y. M. C. A. in the present war in the establishment of social, recreational and religious centers for soldiers. The country already owes the Knights of Columbus a deep debt of gratitude."—Detroit Times.

"The attendance at the Knights of Columbus buildings, the entertainment and recreation that are provided, the approval which is expressed by the cantonment commanders and others, and the appreciation of the men for whose benefit this work was undertaken, afford unmistakable proof of the excellence of the service the Knights of Columbus are rendering."—Dayton (Ohio) News.

"There is something typically American about the vigor with which this great and unaccustomed task has been shouldered and pressed through to success by the Knights of Columbus in a few weeks. The men who have done it are men who are accustomed to succeeding, however, and the chance to make life a little pleasanter for American troops was enough to enlist their whole enthusiasm."—Knickerbocker Press, Albany, N. Y.

"There is need for such work. The Y. M. C. A. is doing nobly and it will be stimulated in its endeavor through the zeal and energy of the K. of C. organization in the same field and in the same enterprise and prompted by the same spirit."—Denver Rocky Mountain News.

"Too much credit cannot be given when the history of these cantonments shall have been written, to the men who make up the Knights of Columbus; men who are giving their time and their labor and their money, without a cent's remuneration, that our soldier boys may have, in so far as possible, the comforts which they have sacrificed to make this world a fit place in which to live."—Lima (Ohio) Times-Democrat.

"No organization in the country is more active than the Knights of Columbus in furnishing recruits and raising funds for war work. Its patriotism has been recognized by the government through authorization at the army encampments and cantonments to build, equip and maintain buildings to be used as social, recreational and religious centers by the soldiers. The Knights of Columbus are doing a great work which will win increasing appreciation as it becomes better known."—Buffalo Enquirer.

"Tolerance and loyalty and service under the flag unite the Knights of Columbus and the Young Men's Christian Association in work that is of the highest value to a holy cause."—Portland (Oregon) Telegram.

"Disregarding what has been given, Portland will meet the K. C. drive with full hands. Any way of doing good to the soldier is the Portland way."—Oregonian.

Will you refuse your money to help make his lot a little more happy?

ATTRACTIVE RIDING COSTUME, THIS

Part of the wise woman's war work is to keep herself physically fit in order to perform the duties which war brings. Exercise, therefore is as popular and as necessary as ever, and with the smart set, horseback riding is the chosen form for winter mornings in the park. This attractive habit is designed for the young woman rider. It is constructed of oxford whipcord in hunters' green and has a wonderful vest of bright red. The riding hat is a tricorne of hat-tara's plush.

Tomatoes and Grapes.
An Italian grape grower accidentally discovered that the presence of tomato plants in his vineyard made short work of the phylloxera, with which his vines were infested. This insect destroys both the root and the stem of the grapevine.

Duty puts a clear sky over every man. Into which the skylark of happiness always goes singing.—Prentice.

Real Fighting.
"Well, have you been fixing your fences?"
"Been digging trenches," declared Congressman Flubdub. "I'm in for a real fight."—Kansas City Journal.

Hopeless Case.
"Why don't you vary your utterances occasionally by saying something optimistic?"
"What's the use?" asked the gloomy citizen. "The last time I tried to be cheerful the neighbors looked at me as if they thought I was going crazy. I'd rather be considered sane and keep my grouch."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Somach Troubles.

If you have trouble with your stomach you should try Chamberlain's Tablets. So many have been restored to health by the use of these tablets and their cost is so little, 25 cents, that it is worth while to give them a trial.—Adv.
