"My Little Boy" With Little Zoe Ray and All-Star Cast.

When the boy and girl who had been sweethearts from childhood married against their uncle's will the old grudge would never be reconciled. The little boy that came to them proved the medium of reformation for the modern Scrooge; and then came the shock of grief that Eugene Field so poetically expressed in "Little Boy Blue." Elliott J. Clawson has combined these issues of sentiment in "My Little Boy," a delightful Bluebird play, to be exhibited at the Arcade theatre tomorrow night with Ella Hall leading an all-star cast, including Gretchen Lederer, Emory Johnson and Little Zoe Ray. Elsie Jane Wilson, one of the few women devoting themselves to presentations of photoplays, directed the production and finished an elaborate offering of great artistic charm, skillfully acted by a cast especially chosen for individual tness to play the various roles. "My Little Boy" promises the best of entertainment.

MARGUERITE CLARK'S NEWEST PICTURE

Winsome Marguerite Clark as "Bab," heroine of Mary Roberts Rinehart's story which appeared recently in the Saturday Evening Post, has scored one of the greatest triumphs of her entire career. Bab's Burglar which was directed by J. Searle Dawley and which includes an exceptionally good cast, will appear at the Arcade theatre on Friday and Saturday.

"GOD'S LAW" A THRILLING PHOTOPLAY. "THE MAN HATER" TOMORROW

The picture, "God's Law" that was shown at the Star last evening more than pleased the audience that saw it. It will be shown again tonight for the last time.

It has been so thrillingly produced that it almost chills the blood of the audience by an actual picture of an innocent man's narrow escape from the electric chair. Nor is it any dream of the dramatist simply for the sake of a thrilling "movie." There are a number of similar shocking cases in the legal history of this country to inspire the story.

This picture is a protest against capital punishment itself and against abhorrent "third degree" methods which bring confession and convictions of possibly human beings. It has the endorsement of the Humanitarian Cult with its membership of over 100,000 in New York state, alone and other philanthropic societies.

On Thursday and Friday "The Man Hater," Mary Brecht Pulver, will be shown at the Star. This story was recently published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Winifred Allen has the role of the spirited young miss, the self-appointed mother of four youngsters, who has severed diplomatic relations with all men. Finally, in order to give the kiddies a home, she marries one of the enemy, but she tells him frankly that she hates him. How the big, clumsy fellow resorts to strategy in order to overcome this dislike provides the humorous situations of the sparkling comedy.

WHAT MOTION PICTURES ARE DOING FOR THE WAR

BY MELVIN G. WINSTOCK. SEATTLE, Jan. 15.—(To the Editor)—As a motion picture man I am indeed proud of the part our industry has and is playing in support of the policies of the administration. Twenty thousand screens in this country, since the war began on our part, have been given over unreservedly to the common cause. We have at times used material authorized by every branch of the national activity and we shall at all times until the end as loyal patriotic American citizens yield such service as shall be required. President Wilson, Secretary Baker of the War Department, Hoover of the Food Conservation Commission, and others have acknowledged that service and expressed grateful appreciation. We have put strong effort behind the two Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns and take pride in feeling that a part of the glory was ours.

Few people in the face of all this quite appreciate too, the terrific burdens now being borne by picture theatres from the smallest to the biggest. Each pays an annual tax imposed by congress. The amount to be raised in this manner approximates $65,000,000 per annum. All pay city, county and state taxes. Each is required to pay a ten per cent tax on every dollar and every admission. Each pays three quarters of a cent a foot per day for every foot of film displayed in the performance. Every thing used in the making and showing of pictures has advanced in price from fifty to five hundred percent. Owing to the

Infantry Private Held

CAMP GRANT, Jan. 16.—Oscar Brehrer, infantry private, arrested and suspected of being a relative of Lieutenant Sporeman, is held pending Washington advices. He has been under observation since detecting making military notes on a book mark in a Bible. It is alleged he admitted he was a German seaman, and escaped from Buenos Aires.

Government Control Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Plans for government control of coal, including price fixing on production costs were given the senate coal investigators by Chairman Peabody, of the federal coal production committee. He said price fixing would stimulate the operation of low vein mines where the production cost was greater.

Harris Grocery Farmers Phone, Black 192 408 North Fir Street Across the Track

Just an old post. We had all been staring at it so long that we were sure we saw it creeping. Well, the enemy potted away at the hole in five minute spells almost all night, and didn't hit a single American. Mr. Short simply outgassed him. And when there was a chance for someone to get hurt, he took the chance himself rather than give away our position by having me fire.

Those present at the luncheon were: Colonel R. Eberhard, chairman; H. M. DuBois, Chas. Reynolds, Rhen Luper, John Collier, Wm. Miller, T. J. Scroggin, John Wells, W. E. McClure, A. L. Richardson, F. L. Meyers, C. L. Bales, S. A. Roe, Robert S. Eakin, J. G. Snodgrass, G. C. Hopkins, W. Halsey, U. G. Couch, H. E. Coolidge, A. C. Mampton, A. T. Hill, J. D. McKennon, F. B. Currey, G. A. McNeill, W. S. Parker, Geo. H. Currey, S. D. Crowe, F. H. Gouly, J. G. King, Fred E. Kiddle, A. W. Nelson, C. H. Scranton, C. C. Pennington, Pat Foley, H. S. Brown, Dr. W. D. McMillan, F. W. Whiting, F. L. Lilly, R. J. Kitchen, Geo. T. Cochran, Ed E. Kiddle, Walter M. Pierce, Clarke Leiter.

Clarke Leiter presented the aims of the Knights of Columbus war drive and urged Union county to go over the top in this as it had in all the other big drives. T. J. Scroggin called attention to the visit of the Canadian officers and the public patriotic meeting Friday night, January 25, at the Mormon tabernacle. The meeting is under the auspices of the government. Walter M. Pierce told of his pleasure in meeting the Canadian officers in Portland and riding with them to Salem. He said their appearance here will be the event of the year, that they are real fighters from the trenches and have a real and thrilling message to deliver. The speaker of the day was H. M. Du Bois of the high school, who told how geography was playing an important part in the west front and Italian campaigns. His description of the topography was accurate and direct and he illustrated his talk with maps, showing the mountain ranges, etc. Pat Foley won the prize for the best answer at the roll call by giving his occupation as "raising fighters for Uncle Sam." E. E. Kiddle was next, saying that cup of scalding coffee and started up the communication trench. It was raining and snowing and the water in the communication trench was up to your ankles over the duck-boards. "It got dark early and the snow was so thick in the air you couldn't see the wire from the front trench. "Mr. Short stopped us in the front line and explained what we were going to do. He had it figured out that the enemy cut those wires last night, so he could make a raid tonight. And if he didn't intend to raid, he would certainly expect our engineers to be out fixing the hole—and would pot 'em. "Our job was to crawl out under the wire on both sides of the hole. Mr. Short went out first and placed every man in position. We waited five hours." Then we saw a figure about fifteen yards away. I asked him to let me shoot. He said no and went at that object himself. "And what do you think it was?"
