Special Privileges Granted to Homesteaders In the Service of the United States

By NOLAN SKIFF

The present war began as to the United States, April 6, 1917. The present Congress, working in conjunction with the Department of the Interior, has passed legislation relieving homestead claimants who have entered the military service. In discussing the acts, it is difficult to fully explain the meaning of various portions thereof in a limited space. Of acts recently passed by Congress, bearing upon this subject, the most important is the Act of July 28, 1917, (Public No. 32), Military Service by Homesteaders During War, which provides, in part, as follows:

The benefits of the act are conferred upon a person who, before going into the service, had actually made a homestead entry, had effected and maintained a valid settlement upon a tract properly subject to entry by him, or had filed an allowance application upon the land. This last includes one who had filed a petition for designation under the enlarged homestead act or the stock-raising homestead law, accompanied by an application to enter, provided his entry be allowed pursuant to a designation made while the war lasts and credit will be given for the service of such soldier had after the date of the designation. The act does not protect any entry from cancellation on account of defaults of the homesteader occurring before he went into the service.

Period of Credit Allowed—Residence Required

A soldier is entitled to credit on the residence and cultivation prescribed by the homestead law for the time of his service during the war; but one whose discharge is on account of wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty is entitled to credit for the entire term of his enlistment, without reference to time of actual service. However, the homesteader will be required to show at least one year's residence and cultivation in connection with his entry, regardless of the length of his service or the fact that he has been discharged on one of the grounds indicated. During each year's residence which he may be required to show he is entitled to the five month's absence privilege like other homesteaders.

No Credit Where Claim Initiated After Service

Neither this act nor any other legislation contains a provision by which a person who initiates a homestead claim, by filing application or by making settlement on public land, after entering the army, navy or marine corps, or other organization in the present war, may obtain credit in connection therewith on account of his service.

Notice to Land Department of Entering Military Service

While the law thus protects entrymen engaged in military service from contest against their entries on the ground of abandonment and it is not obligatory upon them to advise the Land Department as to their reasons for leaving their claims, it is advisable that each shall notify the local United States Land Office of the facts in that regard. Credit are prearranged at the local office showing specifically who is entitled to credit for military service, period of credit allowed, residence required, and the rights of widows, minor children, heirs or devisees.

The act of October 6, 1917, relative to soldiers making necessary affidavits in connection with their public land claims, is so concise in its language that we quote it literally.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That during the continuance of the present war with Germany, and until his discharge from the service, any man serving in the armed forces of the United States who prior to the beginning of his service, was a settler, an applicant, or entryman under the land laws of the United States, or who has, prior to enlistment, filed a contest with the view of exercising preference right of entry therefor, may make any affidavit required by law or regulation of the department, affecting such application, entry, or contest, or necessary to the making of entry in the case of the successful termination of such contest awarding him a preference right of entry, provided his commanding officer as provided in section twenty-two hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which affidavits shall be as binding in law and with like penalties as if taken before an official of the United States Land Office.

The officials of the land office will be very glad to furnish interested parties information or literature in connection with the subjects above referred to, as well as any other matter having reference to the disposition of public lands within their jurisdiction.

RAINBOW DIVISION'S NEW COMMANDER

Maj.-Gen. Charles T. Menoher is the new commander of the Rainbow Division of National Guardsmen in France. He succeeds General Logan, who went over with the Rainbow men, but returned when he found he was not able physically to stand the demands of present-day warfare.

Humility.

Learn of the smallest to love their enemy and to fill with pearls the hand thrust out to harm thee. Be not less generous than the hard rock; make reparable with precious stones the arm which rends thy side. Mark the younger tree assailed by a shower of stones; upon those who throw them it less fall only delicate ferns or perfumed flowers. The voice of all Nature calls aloud to us: Shall man be the only one refusing to heal the hand which is wounded in striking him? To bless the one who offends him?—Haldane.

Creating an Impression.

"What's the highest judgment about?" "The best really judgment about anything. The only way he can make what he says seem important is to get as if he were angry about it."—Washington Star.

Probably the highest salaried musician in the past was Forinelli (1705-1782), the male soprano, who cured King Philip of Spain of his melancholy. The king retained him at a yearly salary of 50,000 francs.

Distinks of Hoes.

"Hoes are funny sorts of creatures," observes a poultry fancier. "They save their lives and alibies—especially alibies. If you move a hen she turns crusty, and won't lay eggs. She chatters and looks and takes an abominable time to get used to the new. If you wave a cloth within sight of the servants of your foul run, you

The result of American labor in the local shops has been that broken down locomotives are getting scarce on this part of the French railway system. On the other hand railroad officials are busy trying to keep the shops supplied with frayed locomotives needing mending.

Men who would vote for a strike at the first effort of a corporation to infringe the union's rules in America are working for army pay here today without a grumble. In fact they are satisfied.

"What do the men think of the work and the hours," I asked a young lieutenant who used to be foreman in the Pennsylvania shops at Jersey City.

"Well, it was pretty hard until we got used to it," he said. "Now it isn't so bad. The hours remind the men of how easy we were having it back home with the old eight hour day. We wouldn't do it for the Pennsylvania railroad. But this is another matter. All of us realize that it's for Uncle Sam and we're all satisfied to work any hours to beat the Germans. I hope the people at home realize what most of us have given up to come over here and work. First, most everyone of us had a good eight hour job. Second, in my case and all the same with some others I know, I've got a mother and wife and child back in Jersey City, who've seen me every day without a miss. I'm kind of homesick and I suppose they would like to see me but a fellow has to put all that aside when it's his country."

Within a few weeks, the American shopmen quartered here will leave to take over brand new shops, exclusively American, in another part of France.

Soon Over His Cold.

Everyone speaks well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after having used it. Mrs. George Lewis, Pittsfield, N. Y., has this to say regarding it: "Last winter my little boy, five years old, was sick with a cold for two or three weeks. I doctored him and used various cough medicines but nothing did him much good until I began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He then improved rapidly and in a few days was over his cold."—Adv.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
