1917 CRUSADERS TAKE HOLY CITY WITHOUT POMP

Description of the British Entry into Jerusalem.

COMMANDER ENTERS ON FOOT

Ceremony is Full of Dignity and Simplicity, the Significance of Which Was Not Lost on the Population—No Soldier Shouts of Triumph Over Defeated Foe—People Show Evidence of Delight.

The first detailed account of the British entry into the Holy City was received by the London Daily News from W. T. Massey at Jerusalem. He says:

"This central site of sacred history is liberated from the thralldom of the Turk without a British bullet or shell being directed against its walls, or so much as a stone being scratched. The Turks were forced to withdraw by General Allenby's strategy and the valor of his army. The Turkish artillery fired from a position quite close to the city, and enemy guns thundered from the Mount of Olives, but of our fire the inhabitants could make out nothing more than a distant rumbling of guns and the bursts of musketry. No Display Entering City.

General Allenby put the sanctity of the holy sites before every other consideration and approached the city only when the pressure of his troops in the mountains west and northwest forced the enemy to yield.

"I write this after witnessing the official entry of General Allenby and his staff and military commanders of detachments of French and Italian troops. There was no great pageantry of arms, no display of pomp. With the commander in chief and his small staff was a guard of less than 150 all told, including allied troops. There was a quiet ceremonial of reading the proclamation of military law, of meeting notables of the city and heads of religious bodies, and the official entry was over.

"There were no flags hoisted and there was no enemy flag to haul down. There were no soldier shouts of triumph over the defeated foe, but just a short military procession into the Mount Zion portion of the city, 200 yards from the walls.

People See New Era Open.

"The ceremony was full of dignity and simplicity. Its significance was not lost on the population, who saw in it an end of Turkish regime and the beginning of a new era of freedom and justice for all classes and creeds. Right down into the hearts of the people, who cling to Jerusalem with the deepest reverence and piety, there was unforgotten delight. I learn that prayers were offered up in almost every house in Jerusalem that our arms would be successful.

"At eight o'clock in the morning the mayor and chief of police came out under a flag of truce. The mayor, who holds his high civic position as a member of the Hassela family which possesses documentary proof of its direct descent from Malomet through the prophet's daughter, offered the surrender of the city. The formal surrender was arranged at noon December 8.

Turks Fight Stubbornly.

"Between the offer and the formal acceptance, there was sharp fighting on the outskirts, the Turks fighting more stubbornly than at any period of these operations and meeting bayonet with bayonet. The London troops were heavily attacked and strong machine-gun fire was poured into them from the Mount of Olives, but by noon the Turks were pulled back so far that we occupied ground 7,000 yards north of the city walls. The Welsh troops were operating from the north and east, and drove the Turks from the Jericho road. This was the military position at noon, December 9.

All Wear Best Rebel.

"It was a picturesque throng that from the outskirts of Jerusalem flocked in to greet the conquering general. Armenians and Greeks and men of all nationalities, southerly clad, stood side by side with Moslems dressed in the brighter raiment of the east. The predominance of Turkish in the streets added to the brightness of the scene.

General Enters on Foot.

"General Allenby entered the town on foot. Aside the Jaffa gate he was received by the military governor and a guard of honor formed by men who have done their full share in the campaign. Drawn up on the right of the gate were men from English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh countries. Opposite them were fifty men afoot representing Australian and New Zealand horsemen. Inside the walls were twenty French and twenty Italian troops from detachments sent by their countries to take part in the Palestine operations.

"Inside the walls was a crowd, densely packed in the narrow streets. The commander in chief, preceded by his aid de camp, had on his right the commander in chief of the British forces in the East.

Y. M. C. A. WORK IN COW SHED

Recreational Work for American Troops in France Begun in Humble Surroundings.

Paris, France.—Refreshments and amusements were provided by the American army and navy Young Men's Christian association for the first American troops stationed for training in the first-line trenches. The work began in a cow shed in a little village just behind the front lines under the direction of Ira D. Shaw, a former Columbia university football player. The equipment to begin with consisted only of a small supply of chocolate, cigarettes and matches, which were passed out to the men as they passed the hut on their way "up the line." Soon the cow shed was abandoned for a large, hospitable room with a magnificent fireplace. The association headquarters in Paris largely augmented the supply of refreshments and provided magazines, writing paper, and a talking machine, which was on "active service" from early morning until late at night.

The Y. M. C. A. secretaries did not confine their work to the huts, but went almost to the front trenches with newspapers, magazines, tobacco, and other supplies.

DAYTON HAS LEAGUE TO WATCH ALIENS

Dayton, O.—The American Protective League, to co-operate with Federal authorities in rapping down slackers and seditious aliens, has been organized here. Practically every factory, shop, business house and industrial enterprise in Dayton is represented in the league's membership.

The medium between the public and government secret agents for the transmission of information relative to seditious remarks and efforts to escape the draft is Dayton's postmaster, who is receiving written messages daily from citizens furnishing clues.

MEXICANS ARE NOT DRAFTED

President Carranza Denies Reports That His Countrymen Are Being Molested by Americans.

Mexico City.—In reply to lower house, which sought information regarding the statement that Mexicans are being drafted and enrolled in the American army, President Carranza said that there was no truth in the report that Mexicans are being molested or unlawfully enlisted in the American army, which was being organized on account of American participation in the war.

"He explained that the draft law required all foreigners, including Mexicans, to register and undergo medical examination; that those not American citizens or unfit for service were exempted and that the ministry of foreign relations has been doing its full duty toward Mexicans residing in the United States.

SAYS FRYING PAN MUST GO

Domestic Science Expert Says This Method of Cooking Food Is Wasteful.

Eugene, Ore.—"The frying pan must go," said Miss Lillian Tingle, head of the household arts department of the University of Oregon, before her class on the conservation of food.

"It is a utensil of the pioneer, who had plenty of food to prepare in the quickest and simplest way. The people of this country always have been wasteful, and unless we reduce materially our consumption of meat we shall face a meat famine.

"French people cook in a casserole, thus saving every bit of the nourishment of the meat. We could well learn from them in this matter."

Population of Denmark.

The latest Danish census shows the little kingdom to have 2,929,000 inhabitants, an increase of 165,000 souls in the five years since the previous census. The distribution ratio is seventy-five inhabitants to the square kilometer. The Copenhagen-Fredensborg county contains 695,000 inhabitants—i. e., more than one-fifth of the total population. The seventy-four other cities number 604,000 people. Hustle population 1,711,000. The three principal cities besides Copenhagen are Aarhus, 69,000; Odense, 45,000; and Aalborg, 38,000.

$500 LIBERTY BOND AS TIP

Hotel Employee Gets Nice Present From Old Patron of the Establishment.

Kansas City, Mo.—Ten years ago Joseph Bartles of Bartlesville, often stopped at the Baltimore hotel while on business in this city. Among the youths who served him was Alvin J. Hawkins, a poor, who took a liking to the Oklahoma man.

As the years went by Bartles continued to stop at the hotel, and Hawkins, now prominent, continued to look after his every whim. He was always alert in making the Oklahoma man's stay enjoyable.

Now Hawkins is superintendent of service at the hotel. The other day Bartles called and found his old friend on the job.

"I want to give you a little tip," Bartles told Hawkins, as he placed a folded paper in his hand.

When the host man opened the paper he found a $500 Liberty bond.

Makes Clubbing Arrangement With

The Oregon Farmer

Offers Unusual Opportunity to Its Readers

AMONG our large circle of readers there are a great many who are interested directly or indirectly in fruit growing, dairying and other branches of farming. All of these naturally wish to keep in close touch with agricultural activities throughout the state; and to know about any fight which is being waged for the measures Oregon farmers want and against all sorts of schemes that are detrimental to the people and agricultural interests of this state.

We have, therefore, made a special clubbing arrangement with THE OREGON FARMER whereby any farmer or fruitgrower, who is one of our regular subscribers and who is not now a subscriber to THE OREGON FARMER, will be entitled to receive THE OREGON FARMER in combination with this paper at the same rate as for this paper alone.

This offer applies to all those who renew or extend their subscriptions as well as to all new subscribers. If you are interested directly or indirectly in Oregon agriculture, do not miss this unusual opportunity, but send your order in now.

THE OREGON FARMER is the one farm paper which is devoting itself exclusively to the farming activities and interests of Oregon. It has a big organization gathering the news of importance to farmers, dairymen, fruitgrowers, stockraisers and poultrymen; and it has the backbone to attack wrongful methods and combinations and bad legislation, and support honest leaders and beneficial measures. We are confident that our readers will congratulate us on our being able to make this splendid and attractive clubbing offer.
