SCENE FROM "SIRENS OF THE SEA"

Star Theatre, Sunday and Monday

ARCADE

"The Ship of Doom"

"The Ship of Doom" is notable particularly for lighting and photographic effects, which equal, if not surpass, any of those employed in recent pictures. The play is replete with the spirit and tang of the sea, which flashes on the screen in all its silver magnificence. Primitive emotions, rugged and stirring, last night depicted in a vital way. The acting services of equally all the action Do to Be Saved or How to save presents I Am Saved? We are doing. The great services tomorrow.

Services for tomorrow are as follows: Sunday school, 9:45; preaching at 11 a. m., preaching at 3 p. m.; Epworth stage several years ago, has chosen by the Paramount company for picturization by Miss Pa Frederick, one of the screen's greatest emotional actresses. The arcade theatre has arranged to present "Mrs. Dane's Defense" on Monday and Tuesday.

"A Bedroom Blunder," a Mack Sennett screamer will be on the same program.

Society

Annual Elks' balls and banquets have come and gone and will come and go in the future, but one thing is certain none in the past have ever reached the brilliancy of last night's event, nor is it likely that any will in years to come. In the first place, the attendance was an even 500. In the second place, there was a happy blending of simplicity and informality about the annual festival to which only Elks may attend; some balls in the past have been the occasion of display of great finery and lavish decorations, but last evening it was informal in every respect. And, oh, what a time all did have. From early evening until 4 this morning the fun kept up, and the impression is general that the dance and banquet last night stands head and shoulders above anything ever attempted in the past.

The committee in charge was showered with congratulations. Every man was at his post, and every committee did its full duty. Upon the great attention to details by these committees can be placed largely the responsibility for the great success of the evening. The dance hall, where a splendid orchestra of 12 pieces under the baton of J. David Haines played and played and played some more, keeping the audience keyed to a high pitch. There was just a touch of decoration here and there to break the monotony of the walls and chandeliers, but there was no effusive effort at decoration. The great banquet room on the first floor where 300 people crowded about the festal board, the tables were here and there a touch of decoration color—fern leaves were used as center pieces and there were bring colors at just the right spots to make the decorations simple and keeping with conservation in time war, but nevertheless marked enough to be ample under the conditions. They were indeed "just what."

Dr. M. K. Hall was the toastmaster and in his happy vein called upon the three-minute men of the evening. H. E. Coolidge, J. W. Howies, Colon R. Eberhard and H. Dixon were the speakers. Each handled his theme with pointedness, eloquence and grace.
Then after the magnificent banquet was ended the guests once more went to the ball room and there, until just before the breaking of the gray streaks of dawn, continued the merrymaking. The Observer would like to go into this magnificent event in great detail, but we believe that by pronouncing last night's ball the grandest social event the Elks have undertaken, and doing so unqualifiedly, the Observer has stated more forcibly than in any other way, the greatness of the event.

The committees who did the work are:
General Committee—Harris F. French, E. E. Kirtley, J. C. Hughes, Clint VanFleet, W. M. Wilson, Lee Hanford, J. H. Peave, Lloyd Scriber, C. R. Eberhard, Herbert Pattison.
Invitation—J. H. Peave, A. B. Cherry, C. Clyde, Ed. Coolidge, W. M. Wilson, H. E. Dixon.
Music—Harris F. French, J. C. Snodgrass, G. L. Larison, W. M. Wilson, J. C. Hughes.
Refreshments—Clint VanFleet, Harris F. French, J. C. Hughes, Lloyd Scriber, C. R. Eberhard, C. D. Emahiser, Herbert Pattison, Lee Hanford, Ben Deelous, Ed. Moon, Chas. Disqua.
Decorations—E. E. Kirtley, Harry Pattison, T. J. Seroggin, Fred L. Myers, Lot Snodgrass, Delite Green, Dr. G. L. Bickers, Pat Foley.
Floor—Lee Hanford, C. H. Scranton, J. C. Hughes, Dr. Richardson, Frank George, Harris F. French, C. B. Mayes, Hugh McCall, M. W. Kiddle, Dr. Mount, Fred S. Ashley, A. H. Parsons, J. H. Minnaugh, John Jacobs, E. Hall.
Reception—Exalted Ruler, Officers and all members of lodge.

The members of P. E. O. and their husbands as guests met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Underwood, Friday evening. Music and games and a two-course luncheon was served. The men present were required to take a lesson in knitting.

Mrs. Charles McCallister was very pleasantly surprised by a number of friends Wednesday night in honor of her birthday. The guests were laden with beautiful carnations and delicious things for refreshments. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sommers.

Mrs. A. T. Hill was hostess to a successful Red Cross sewing party Wednesday evening. There were eight ladies present and dainty refreshments were served.

The 500 Club met at the home of Mrs. W. R. Jones on Thursday afternoon. The house was artistically decorated and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Trombley of Pendleton are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gale Sturdevant.

Everybody Hooverize! Every little bit helps.

The Neighborhood Club enjoyed an excellent program on Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting. Mrs. J. D. Lynch, whose topic was "Western Writers," after speaking briefly upon the subject as given, very cleverly converted her subject into one of greater interest at present. "Writers of the Western Front," "Where the West Begins," a poem of peculiar beauty to Western people, was read by Mrs. Stella Inglo. Mrs. Mossman depicted Western Art and Artists, showing pictures of the works of the most prominent. Following the trend of the thought suggested by the first speaker she spoke feelingly of the Western Front and the art which had been inspired thereby, ending with an earnest plea for the Red Cross. Miss Cecile Hindman gave much pleasure to the club with her piano selections: (a) "Impromptu," by Schubert, and (b) March by MacDowell. Responding graciously to an encore she gave Chopin's "Nocturne." Miss Hindman is a pianist of musical ability and displays splendid technique.

One of the finest entertainments the Methodist church young people have yet attempted was given last evening when living pictures from three of Longfellow's masterpieces were presented at the church in tableaux form. Interspersed with the pictures and the readings of the various epics were several musical features. The first group of pictures consisted of several scenes from "Evangeline," in which the story was read during the presentation of the pictures. Miss Standish pictures came next and then Hiawatha scenes. All were exceptionally good and though given with but little preparation proved a happy surprise to the rather small audience present. Some 20 or 25 characters took parts in the pictures. Miss Minna Cooper was the directing genius of the splendid entertainment.

The Rebekah lodge gave a dinner Friday and the menu was fine, and there was plenty of everything that was good. The proceeds will go for buying Saving Stamps. They also took out of their funds some time ago and gave to the Red Cross as their mite. They will try to help win the war any way they can.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, cure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

No More Currency Panics

Do you remember the shut-downs, the business depression and the lack of employment which followed the currency panic of 1907?

To prevent another currency panic the Federal Reserve Banking System keeps on hand an immense supply of currency to furnish the banks which belong to the system of which we are one, so that they may at all times meet the currency requirements of their depositors.

Doesn't it appeal to you to get its protection, without cost, by becoming one of our depositors?
