Of School Children Reveals Astounding Conditions of Neglect

The general increase of decayed teeth among American children has brought the necessity of preventive measures home to every parent and teacher.

Government investigations show that over 50 per cent of children suffer from diseased teeth.

Have a dentist examine your children's teeth and give them whatever attention he may deem necessary. Then supplement the dentist's work by providing your children with the best tooth brushes, dentifrices, etc.

We carry an excellent line of tooth brushes, and all of the advertised, trade-marked dentifrices.
