SHERRY'S

PLAYERS RAISE THEIR OWN MAKE-UP

While "The Eyes of Mystery," starring Edith Storey, which will be presented at the Sherry Theater on Sunday and Monday, was in production, over $225 was diverted from the cash registers of New York barbers.

In this fascinating picture, which introduces Edith Storey to Metro audiences, most of the male characters are rugged, unkempt, full-bearded Virginia mountaineers. Director Ted Browning insisted that his players grow real beards instead of using the usual crepe tinsel adornment for their roles in this picture. The men were engaged two weeks before the production was started and ordered to let their beards grow. Production began the third week and continued for a month. All this time the men obeyed orders and kept away from the barbers, to their own discomfort and the barbers' loss.

As the men wore their "grizzles" for six weeks, a month and a half, or about forty-five days, the total sum of $225 was "lured" from the great tonsorial treasury.

"The Eyes of Mystery" is replete with thrills and interest and the star, Edith Storey, encounters many exciting adventures.

ARCADE

Stirring Story Of Northwest Mounted Police.

Crowding the last burst of speed from his jaded mount, a man dashed up to the saloon in the little Canadian town and flung himself from his horse. A terrible anxiety was written over his face, and he did not look like a man it would be well to cross.

With one swift glance at the horses at the hitching rack he swept on into the saloon. "Who owns that pinto?" were his words of greeting to the revelers. The owner, much the worse for liquor, spoke up and asked $20 and the other's horse to hunt for the pinto. "Done," said the man, and the gold piece changed hands. Turning on his heel, the stranger made for the door, but the pinto's owner grabbed him and insisted on buying. As the stranger refused, the man reached for his gun. There was a blinding flash, and when the smoke cleared away the stranger was gone and the former owner of the pinto lay dead at the feet of his comrades.

This is the thrilling opening and the foundation of the story of the Triangle play, "Until They Get Me," a virile story of life in the Canadian Northwest at the Arcade Theater on Sunday. Jack Curtis, Pauline Starke and Joe King appear in the leading roles.

"CLEOPATRA."

Ten-Part Film Spectacle Produced by William Fox With Theda Bara as Serpent of Nile. (Reviewed by Edward Weitzel in Moving Picture World.)

There have been many mimic Cleopatras since the birth of the drama but never before has a feigned "Serpent of the Nile" been given such a massive and artistic setting as the one furnished by William Fox for the ten-part production in which Theda Bara acts the Egyptian vampire. The scope of the story embraces many of the historical facts used by Shakespeare in writing both "Julius Caesar" and "Antony and Cleopatra," and it is evident that Adrian Johnson, the author of the scenario, has gone to the English poet for most of his incidents, rather than to Plutarch.

The scenes shift from Alexandria to Imperial Rome, and several historical moments that have been immortalized by the brush of some famous artist, are reproduced with impressive fidelity. The most important of these are the murder of Julius Caesar in the Capitol, the first meeting between Cleopatra and Caesar, and the triumphant return of the enchantress in her barge with Antony a willing captive.

Mr. Farmer Please Remember

Your main duty you owe to your country and yourself is the production of foodstuffs. This remains entirely in your hands. Now, to show you are a good red blood American farmer, produce more per acre than you have ever done before. In order to do this you must plow well at the time your ground is in condition and prepare a good "seed bed" and use the best drill you can get, and you have done your part in the great conflict.

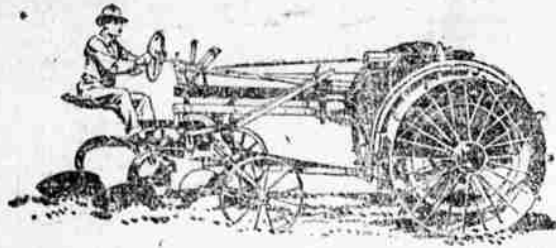

Remember, before ordering, we handle the best of everything in the implement line. Our prices are cheaper.

MOLINE Universal Tractor

As Powerful as 5 Horses
Does as Much Work as 7 Horses
Costs Less than 4 Horses
Requires Less Care than 1 Horse
Less Room than 1 Horse
Eats Only When it Works

The Ideal Tractor

No other tractor on the market will do such a great variety of work, nor in as compact a design and construction as the Moline Universal. It makes the horseless farm possible. It pulls the usual horse load—will do as much work as 7 horses, owing to its greater speed and endurance. It can be used for plowing, harrowing, planting, cultivating, haying and hoisting—in fact, all field work, and will deliver 12 horse-power on the belt.

A Real One-Man Outfit

The Moline Universal is easier to handle than a team of horses, weighs about the same, turns in a tight circle and will back with the implement attached. It is compact, simple, close-coupled, a wonderful puller and carries no dead weight. And best of all, it is operated from the seat of the implement attached. This permits one man to operate both tractor and implement.

Cut the Cost of Horse Labor

The cost of horse labor is almost one-half the gross operating expense on the average farm. A farm horse averages only 12 to 15 hours work a day through the entire year, and lives in it. It costs from 12 to 15 cents per working hour to maintain a horse, and requires 22 minutes a day to care for him, or fourteen ten-hour days a year.

And yet there isn't enough power to plow or dig or do scientific husbandry required to harvest more liberally, so that organic matter will be utilized, moisture conserved, and a good state of soil tillage maintained to entice manure frequently, and to harvest 22 ten-hour days a year.

Let us tell you how the Moline Universal Tractor can reduce the cost of power on your farm. It will pay you.
