

Let Spring Fever Out Through The Pores

The state of lassitude that is apt to appear in the spring is due to the system being loaded up with waste products.

The skin is sluggish during the winter months and more waste accumulates than the kidneys and skin can expel. Bathe often and use a good sponge and a flesh brush.

These stimulate the skin to healthy activity and get rid of waste products by the normal channels.

We have everything needed to make the bath both luxurious and beneficial.

MORE BOOKS NEEDED.

Two Million Volumes Should Be Supplied Soldiers.

This was must not be a war of destruction only. It must be carried on constructively as well. The result must be a net gain to humanity. Our fighting men must receive during inevitable leisure hours in training and service the humanizing, helpful effects of good reading. The public library must accompany the men into the war. Through the library war service of the American library association, thirty-seven free circulating libraries have been provided at training camps, and library service is being extended through the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and K. of C. buildings, and through chaplains to smaller camps, posts, forts, naval stations and vessels, and through all these agencies to our soldiers and sailors overseas. The imperative need now is for more books. Several hundred thousand have been supplied. Two million more should be supplied. Miss Halley, Librarian of the La Grande public library, is being depended upon to carry on this book drive in this locality. The library hours are from 1 to 6 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

The stage setting for the "Drum Major" to be given tonight at the high school auditorium, is one of the main features of the play. The cast and management is indebted to Miss Blanch Clark, art instructor in the La Grande schools, for the success of the operetta. The back curtain represents a street scene in a French town and was designed and executed by Miss Clark. At one side of the curtain is a church, with its red-tiled roof and a spire which reaches to the top of the curtain. At the opposite side are shops whose windows display

COMPLAINTS POUR IN.

Southern Oregon Banker Upholds R. N. Stanfield's Views.

PORTLAND, March 22.—Communities are beginning to complain that on account of the inequality of the distribution of war expenditures they are being slowly but persistently forced into community bankruptcy and are in danger of being branded as slackers through their inability to meet their apportionment of war subscriptions, as is shown by the following paragraph from a letter from a prominent banker of Southern Oregon to R. N. Stanfield:

"I am especially pleased with your vigorous statement in regard to getting more of the government money spent in Oregon for supplies. In this part of the state we are especially hard hit, because we have very little to sell, and have subscribed very liberally to all war activities as well as the rest of the state. The money has been sent out for the subscriptions, and unless some of it comes back, we will in the near future be unable to fill our quotas and be branded as slackers. Our one principal industry, the growing of fruit, has been injured rather than benefited by the war. We have timber resources here, but thus far there has not been much encouragement locally for developing this."

It is more fun to watch your money grow than watch it go. Buy War Savings Stamps.
