Elgin Benefit Netted $160

ELGIN, March 22.—(Special).—The Red Cross benefit entertainment, for which Mrs. Stafford has been working for the past several weeks, was a great success. The Red Cross drill, which was under the direction of Miss Pearl Phillips, was very pretty and well put on by twenty of the Honor Guard Girls who were all dressed in Red Cross nurse's uniform. Dr. Roberts, of Enterprise, rendered several musical selections, which were deeply appreciated by the Elgin people. The net proceeds were $160. Many neat and practical clothes are being turned into the Red Cross rooms for the Belgian relief fund.

The eighth grade of the Elgin public schools has the honor of going over the top in the buying of thrift stamps. They have purchased some $1,100 worth of stamps. Mr. Fred Hatfield returned to Elgin last week after an absence of several weeks on a business trip. Mr. Lou Stoop returned from a lengthy trip to Portland last Wednesday. All of the high school pupils are busy writing a thesis on the subject of "Thrift." Several wool productions are being handed in. Dr. Roberts returned to Enterprise Wednesday morning after aiding in the Red Cross program Tuesday evening. Many letters received this week and last from M. E. Honnie, state that he is in the best of health and enjoys the training and work in the army "Somewhere in France."

Why the Hoover Suction Sweeper Gets All the Dirt

The dirt in your carpet and rugs is of three kinds. The first, the light surface dirt, such as thread, hair and lint. The third, imbedded dirt. The heavy, gritty dirt that is carried in by the feet and sifts down into the body of your carpet and rug. This is the dirt that does the damage to the fabric and defies the effort of ordinary vacuum cleaners. The Hoover is the only machine that is designed to take care of all the three classes of dirt. Use the sweeping to loosen the clinging hair and thread. Use the shaking to loosen and bring to the surface the heavy, imbedded dirt. Use the suction to dispose of all of this dirt in a dustless manner. Powerful suction alone cannot dislodge the clinging or imbedded dirt, but the patented electric driven brush of the Hoover supplies the necessary help. Call Main 759. 3-23-18

THE BOOKWORM

A book census of La Grande would reveal in the homes of the people a vast number of sets of Cooper, Scott, Dickens and Bulwer-Lytton in large octavo volumes, dull brown covers, two columns of print to the page. Judging from the number of these sets donated to the public library in the past, we should believe that books in this form, excellent as the editions may be, do not appeal to the younger generation. In these days of cheap and easy literature, children avoid unattractive covers and fine print. If you want the young people to read really good, standard fiction, try buying just one beautiful edition of a single book, instead of a whole set. The following are suggested, but there are many other illustrated editions equally desirable. Where no series or edition is mentioned, the one which sells between one and two dollars is recommended. The cheaper series like Everyman's library are not popular with children. Blackmore: Lorna Doone. Doone-

Land edition, Harper, publisher. Jackson: Ramona. Little, Brown Kingsley: Westward, Ho! Macmillan or Crowell. Kipling: Kim. Outward bound edition, Scribner. Stevenson: Treasure Island; illus. by Wal Paget. Scribner. Loti: In Iceland Fisherman; tr. by A. F. de Koven. McClurg. Mulock: John Halifax, Gentleman. Harper or Crowell. Dickens: David Copperfield. Gadsby or Universal edition, published by Chapman or Macmillan. Scott: Ivanhoe. Illus. by E. Boyd Smith. Houghton or Dryburgh edition, published by Macmillan. Thackeray: Vanity Fair. Biographical edition, published by Harper or Macmillan edition. Bulwer-Lytton: Last Days of Pompeii. Dutton or Crowell. Hugo: Les Miserables. Crowell, or Little, Brown. Renard: Cloister and the Hearth. Scribner, Crowell or Harper. Burney: Evelina. Illustrated by Hugh Thomson. Macmillan. Austen: Pride and Prejudice, with 24 colored illus. by C. E. Brock. Dent. Bronte: Jane Eyre; with 6 colored illus. by Edmund Dulac. Dent. Twain: Tom Sawyer. Harper. Cooper: Last of the Mohicans; illustrated by E. Boyd Smith. Holt. Edgeworth: Castle Rackrent, and The Absentee; illus. by Chris Hammond. Eliot: Silas Marner, with illus. by Hugh Thomson. Macmillan. Gaskell: Cranford; illus. by Hugh Thomson. Macmillan. Goldsmith: Vicar of Wakefield. Illus. by Hugh Thomson. Macmillan. Grimm: Household Stories; illus. by Walter Crane. A complete report on the number of books collected for the soldiers is not possible until all gifts have been collected. Thanks is due the ladies who added to their work in the thrift campaign by also soliciting books for our soldiers and sailors. The boys in the army will be grateful to the boys at home who are giving their time for the gathering up of the books from the homes of La Grande. The Food Administration has instructed all public libraries to obtain and circulate all literature possible on food and cookery. A serious difficulty in this program is the impossibility of obtaining enough copies of the popular bulletins on war breads and meat substitutes. To overcome this lack, the library is beginning a card index of recipes. If you have tested new recipes for making war bread, or using cereals in new ways, pass them on to the library, where they may be copied by others. In the meantime, many excellent text-books and cook-books are in the library for your use. On request, the usual rules for the return of books in two weeks are sus-

MOLINE Universal Tractor

As Powerful as 5 Horses
Does as Much Work as 7 Horses
Costs Less than 4 Horses
Requires Less Care than 1 Horse
Less Room than 1 Horse
Eats Only When it Works

The Ideal Tractor
No other tractor on the market will do such a great variety of work, for it is as correct in design and construction as the Moline Universal. It makes the heaviest farm possible. It pulls the usual 3-horse load—will do as much work as 7 horses, owing to its greater speed and endurance. It can be used for plowing, harrowing, planting, cultivating, haying and harvesting—in fact, all field work, and will deliver 12 horse-power on the belt.

A Real One-Man Outfit
The Moline Universal is easier to handle than a team of horses, weighs about the same, turns in a 16-foot circle and will work with the implement attached. It is compact, simple, close-coupled, a wonderful puller and carries no dead weight. And best of all, it is operated from the seat of the implement attached. This permits one man to operate both tractor and implement.

Cut the Cost of Horse Labor
The cost of horse labor is almost one-half the gross operating expense on the average farm. A farm horse averages only 16 hours work a day through the entire year, and tires in six. It costs from 15 to 14 cents per working hour to maintain a horse, requires 25 minutes a day to care for him, or fourteen ten-hour days a year. And yet there isn't enough power to plow as deep as scientific methods require; to harrow more frequently, so that organic matter will be plowed, moisture conserved, and a good state of soil ultimately attained; to cultivate more frequently; and to harvest at the proper time.

Let us tell you how the Moline Universal Tractor can reduce the cost of power on your farm. It will pay you.

Another community reading will be given Sunday, March 24, at 3 o'clock in the library. Mrs. A. T. Hill has consented to read selected poetry. No admission is charged at these readings. At the last one, Mrs. S. A. Roe read "The Man Without a Country," a story which is enjoying a renewal of popularity at present.

Library hours: 1-6, 7-9 weekdays, Sundays 1:30-5:30, for reading only. In contrast to "The Man Without a Country," a story of a traitor to his country, is one of another tra-tor: "My Story; being the Memoirs of Benedict Arnold; Late Major-General in the Continental Army and Brigadier-General in that of His Britannic Majesty; with portraits and a map," by F. J. Stimson (J. S. of Dale, pseudonym.) This is a novel, but a novel so thoroughly worked out and so using the documents available as to be almost history. It is intended to portray Arnold as he saw himself, and succeeds admirably. It is said to be one of the big books of the year. It has been ordered for the public library.

Sunday-school workers may consult at the library a copy of R. H. Schaffler's "Easter," which contains suitable readings and recitations. It Sure Does the Work. Changeable weather and wet feet make March a dangerous month for coughs, cold, croup and whooping cough. Be prepared to get prompt relief. Don't let a cold run into serious sickness. Mrs. W. H. Thornton, 3523 W. 10th St., Little Rock, Ark., writes: "My little boy had a severe attack of croup and I honestly believe he would have died if I had not been for Foley's Honey and Tar. Two doses relieved him. I would not be without it at any price." Sold Everywhere.—Adv.

MODART CORSETS Front Laced

Looking Well

It is not solely a matter of good clothes. It also involves proper corseting.

The use of good materials, clock spring boning and the very superior designs that are found in the MODART Front Laced Corset, gives the proper poise to the figure that induces a carriage that will show clothes to the best possible advantage.

A badly poised or improperly corseted figure will never look well even in the best of clothes. A half hour in our Corset Department will prove to you by direct fitting that in a MODART Front Laced Corset, a superior garment is found. We know from our own experience that woman after woman has improved her appearance by the use of these corsets. They are comfortable, stylish and wear well.

The Nation Calls

—AND THE PATRIOTIC CITIZEN RESPONDS GLADLY

You are asked now to conserve fats that are necessary for starving women and children, and our soldiers "over there."

And, instead, the government says: "Use vegetable fats," which are pure, nutritious and inexpensive.

This is an easy request for Northwest citizens to obey. One way is to use PEARL SHORTENING—a government inspected, "Made in Oregon" product, composed largely of vegetable fat.

PEARL SHORTENING meets all your cooking needs; you will be relieving railroad congestion by using a local product, and you will be helping those "war-worn" allies of ours.

In other words, the employment of PEARL SHORTENING forms a strong link in the chain of food conservation.

Sold by all progressive grocers at a price that appeals to thrifty housewives.

Remember, PEARL SHORTENING is not a pork product.

Write for BOOKLET containing timely RECIPES. They are right in line with the food conservation ideas of the Food Administration.
