WE TRADE AT HOME

When outside influences get up against the community that has adopted and has in practice the "We Trade at Home" slogan, then their efforts to disturb and retard community growth are nil.

A community with a practical application of all that is meant by the slogan "We Trade at Home" is simply doing for itself the thing most essential for ideal community conditions and business development.

Wallowa Couple Are Wedded

WALLOVA, March 23. (Special).—Mr. Hoke, county agriculturist, was in town Thursday and Friday with P. T. Forthner, the O. A. C. club organizer. They met the members of Wallowa club at the school house Friday morning. This is the first time Mr. Hoke has been in town for several weeks as he has been ill in a state hospital.

Mrs. William Spence and children of Lostine are in town, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spence.

Osborne Womack, who has been in Texas, wrote a card to his father, J. W. Womack, stating that he is now in New York, evidently on his way to France.

At a congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church held Thursday evening, March 21, it was decided that the elders should select a pastor for the ensuing year and they forthwith elected Rev. Mr. Atkins, the present pastor, to fill the position. Officers for the Sunday school were elected at this time also. They are as follows: Mrs. John McDonald, superintendent; Mrs. W. F. Poole, assistant superintendent; Miss Lenore Fuller, pianist; and Edgar Conner, secretary. Mrs. M. C. Davis was elected superintendent of the primary division, and Margaret Forstad organist. Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Davis have held their respective offices since the Sunday school was organized.

H. K. O'Brien, mayor of Wallowa, has issued a proclamation, whereby he declares the 6th, 7th and 8th days of April holidays, for the purpose of carrying on the Third Liberty loan drive.

Mrs. Jane Mann has sold her 100-acre tract on Diamond Prairie to Clarence Taylor.

Mrs. Gilles Pless has bought the 80-acre tract of wheat land of L. Feise, which lies six miles east of town.

H. E. Driver has sold his 200-acre farm three miles east of Wallowa to Neil Baker of Enterprise. This is one of the best farms in the valley. Mr. Baker will take possession next fall.

Rev. Dr. Geo. H. Feese, pastor of the M. E. church of La Grande, gave his popular lecture, "That Girl's Fellow" in the local M. E. church last Thursday night. The lecture was well received by those present.

Rev. Atkins of the Presbyterian church will hold special services during Passion week.

Lawton McDonald is absent from High school, being confined to his home with an attack of mumps.

Rev. J. Wesley Miller of Gooding college will preach in the M. E. church Sunday morning, March 24.

The Knights of Pythias will dedicate their service flag Tuesday evening, March 26, for their three members who are serving Uncle Sam.

The Wallowa Hardware company are unloading a carload of automobiles this week.

J. Ray Johnson and wife, who have been touring California this winter, arrived home Friday. They report an excellent trip, and one pleasure was a visit with the Wallowa boys who are stationed there.

Harry Pless, who is serving Uncle Sam, made a visit to Wallowa between trains on Friday.

Mrs. Earl Sherod returned home this week after having spent the greater part of the winter in California.

The Forum Literary society of the High school gave the following program Friday at the Gym: Song, by school. Debate, affirmative, Lola McNease; negative, Alice Campbell; subject, Resolved, that a young person should prepare for service in the rural community rather than for the city. The negative side won. Recitation, Muriel French. Vocal solo, Georgia Evans. Extens, speech, Gussie Cramer. Speech, Cressie Groot. Extens speech, Violet Osborne. Vocal solo, Lenore Fuller. Story, Nora Miller. The Jazz Supplement to The Tiger, read by Agathe Marvin. Piano solo, Elmer Goodnough.

The Sophomore class of the High school gave a farewell party Friday night to Dorris Green, who leaves next week for Milton, where she will make her home. The best wishes of the High school goes with her.

The first and second grades of the public schools are preparing the beautiful cantata "Cinderella in Flower Land," which will be staged some time before the end of the school year. Miss Ethel Mitchell, primary teacher, has this in charge.

Rev. Jasper Bogue of the Christian church will hold special meetings next week. He will be assisted by Rev. A. W. Williams of Evans.

Dethers Greer and family will leave next week for Milton, where they will make their home.

The Germans have been forced to reduce their rations to a minimum in order to save food for their fighters. Americans should be proud to voluntarily reduce their extravagant consumption of food stuffs and send American fighting men what they want.
