The United States and Japan Natural Allies, Says Hayakawa.

Although a native of Japan and still a loyal citizen, Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actor, has lived so long in the United States that he has come to look upon it as the land of his adoption and one of the highest ambitions of this well known player is to see the two countries firmly established as friends and allies. When reading over the scenario of his newest Paramount picture, "The Secret Game," the fact that this point was strongly emphasized pleased Hayakawa. "I have no doubt," he said in speaking of the production "that some day in the not-far-distant future, we will see many of the scenes Mr. Fairfax has incorporated in "The Secret Game" enacted and written in the annals of history."

"The Secret Game" is a distinctly novel production, throwing a new light on the international situation of this country today—and tomorrow. It is to appear in this city at the Arcade theatre today and tomorrow.

There will also be a new Mack Sennett comedy called "Watch Your Neighbor." Charles Murray has the leading role and with the other fun makers present it is a safe bet that there is more than one laugh stored away in the two reels.

SHERRY'S

METRO PLAY SHOWS BIG CHARITY BALL.

An elaborate charity ball is one of the noteworthy features in "Under Suspicion," a Metro picture starring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, which will be presented at the Sherry theatre, last day today.

For the staging of this fashionable charity ball, one of the largest and most elaborate interior settings ever erected by Metro, was built at the New York studio. The set occupied practically all the floor space of the spacious studio, and several unusual "long shots" were secured. The set represented the ball room of a large New York hotel, and while not in replica of any particular hall room in a specific Metropolitan hostelry, it was a composite of the best features found in modern palace-type hotels.

Over a hundred couples in evening clothes danced in these fashionable scenes. The orchestra was stationed in front of a golden, shell-shaped sounding board, festooned with electric lights.

It is at this charity ball that the great robbery of the Woolworth diamonds is enacted with such gripping realism.

Dorothy Phillips, Broadway, "Triumph" will be the attraction at the Star Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday when Dorothy Phillips returns to the theater of stardom she has created through her excellent artistry as displayed in Bluebird screen-dramas. The story of "Triumph" originally appeared in Collier's. It is one of the most original and entertaining narratives Samuel Hopkins Adams ever invented. Joseph De Grasse, who has directed Miss Phillips in so many highly satisfactory Bluebirds, created the screen version of the Adams story and Lon Chaney and Wm. Stowell, who always support Miss Phillips in her various presentations, will again lead her assisting company in gripping portrayals of an extremely emotional and forceful screen revelation.
