Rheumatic Habit

Rheumatism is largely a habit; not a mental but a physical one. When rheumatism is not promptly or properly cured, the system has a tendency to continue to regularly create an excess of uric acid. Therefore no time should ever be lost in procuring and using a reliable remedy until healthy conditions are established. We know of no better remedy than our

ANTI-RHEUMATIC ELIXIR.

We do not believe there is any better, and back our belief by a guarantee to refund the money if the remedy ever fails.

If I Were a Farmer.

If I were a farmer I would keep at hand a few reliable medicines for minor ailments that are not so serious as to require the attention of a physician, such as Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, to treat slight ailments as soon for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds and croup.

Chamberlain's Liniment for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Tablets for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation.

By having these articles at hand it would often save the trouble of a trip to town in the busiest season or in the night, and would enable us they appear, and thereby avoid the more serious diseases that so often follow.—Ad.

AN APPEAL BY THE MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

We, the undersigned members of the Ministerial Association, respectfully request those arranging for mass meetings in connection with the various war relief and other patriotic activities not to appoint an hour which will conflict, so far as possible, with the Sunday evening services.

In so doing, we are not actuated by a spirit of captious criticism, but from principle. For it is clearly evident that a final analysis of the causes which brought about the war, reveals them to be of a spiritual nature. It cannot, then, be fought out solely on the material plane and with material means, no matter how necessary and vital.

RED CROSS News and Notes.

CUTTING MACHINE.—The fund for the cutting machine is still growing without solicitation just as it began, the following amounts having been given since the last report:

Mrs. George Gilbert $5.00
Mrs. Plake 1.00
Mrs. S. Zurbrich 6.00
Mrs. S. C. Zuber 5.00
Mrs. L. Scriber 1.00
Miss Pauline Lederle 1.00
Island City 10.00

And now that Auxiliary "A" is to repeat "Melodyland" in conjunction with the pageant of the summer set under Mrs. Ray Murphy, all for the cutting machine assures it for the chapter without a doubt.

The price of a machine powerful enough to cut both gauze and heavy materials is more than the first estimate, but the money is almost in sight.

The women who have spent so many hours every week throughout our chapter cutting by hand, appreciate the convenience all who have made the machine a possibility. But Melodyland! the pageant need not wait all on the purpose for which they repeat their programs. The public have demanded it and the house will be packed.

SAVE SMALL ENDS OF WOOL NO MATTER HOW SHORT.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Divisions and chapters are urged to notify Red Cross workers that all small ends of wool should be carefully saved from knitting. These ends, no matter how short, should be kept in bags until such time as a sufficient quantity has been collected to be sold to local wool manufacturers. Arrangements can be made with these wool manufacturers to buy this otherwise waste wool. This will aid in the conservation of the latter may be. As President Wilson and General Pershing have told us, we must look to God for help and guidance to insure a successful issue. It is likely that the Divine blessing and aid will be obtained by considering our own convenience rather than His honor?

The observance of The Lord's Day is the mark of a Christian nation, while granting to all full religious liberty, we claim it to be. Certainly we are not Jewish, Mohammedan or Infidel. And the consecration of Sunday as the Lord's Day has ever been marked by the offering up of the morning and evening sacrifices of prayer and praise.

It matters not that during the past thirty years there has been a sad decline in attendance at worship. The Church must still see to it that the altar fires are kept burning, and that these sacrifices shall not fail to be offered up and the faithful be given opportunity to be present.

Although these mass meetings are usually opened with prayer and dismissed with a benediction, the fact remains they are summoned to promote our own necessities rather than the worship of Almighty God. For this reason as a matter of conscience, we feel impelled to protest against any proceeding which subordinates what is due to God to even so exalted and paramount an obligation as that of patriotic duty.

The Great Liberator of the human race, on the eve of encountering that enormous offensive launched against him, declared "For their sakes I consecrate myself." So we in the noble cause of world freedom, must consecrate ourselves fighting for God, for country, for justice and humanity.

TO ALL PATRIOTIC CITIZENS:

The La Grande Chapter of the Red Cross is compelled to make another appeal to the patriotic citizens of this community. The funds of the Chapter are inadequate to the demands made upon it for the purchase of material and supplies which it is supposed to furnish.

At the present time the chapter finds itself in debt about $1,000, having expended since April 16, 1917, to April 1, 1918, $24,347.38. Their indebtedness at this time in excess of their assets is $1,017.59.

In order to hold the chapter's charter and continue the good work which is now more necessary and essential than ever before in the history of the war, the chapter has found that it will have to receive a regular monthly income amounting to from one or two thousand dollars, and to this end we appeal to you to fill out the attached subscription blank for as much as you can spare monthly for this very essential work.

La Grande, Oregon.....1918
I hereby agree to pay to La Grande Chapter of the Red Cross the sum of $..... payable on the first day of each month.

proud of, that will profit all who follow his example and emulate his virtues.

After the active duties of his usefulness had been so well performed, after ambition had placed upon his breast distinction's worthy and well-earned badge, then came locks of gray. Then a growing love of other days, and half remembered things, holding the withered hands of her who gave him the loyal love of her whole life, the mother of a family of dutiful children. Looking the hands of some in marriage vows and crossing others upon the breast of peace, holding upon his knees his children's babes, the white hair mingling with the gold, he journeyed on, from day to day, to that horizon where the dusk was waiting for the night. At last, sitting by the holy hearth of home, while evening's embers were changing from red to gray he fell asleep in the arms of those for whom he toiled that they might enjoy the promise, and felt upon his cold and pallid lips, love's last and holiest kiss. He had lived to the full heaping measure of his teachings and lessons of this order. He exemplified its every injunction of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity. The deep loss to this lodge is second only to the personal loss of his family and loved ones. And when the time came for this manly man, the exemplar of our teachings to join that innumerable caravan that moves to the mysterious realm, he did not go like the quarry slave scourged to his dungeon. But, soothed and sustained by an unflinching trust, approached his grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.
