CHILD'S WELFARE YEAR.

Movement Is Endorsed By President And Other High Officials.

Copy of letter from Governor Withycombe endorsing the Children's Bureau and carried out by the Woman's Committee of National Defense:

April 16, 1918
Executive Department,
Salem, Oregon.

Because of the many problems of reconstruction which are certain to follow the termination of the world war and also on account of the increasing demands and responsibilities of citizenship it is now more important than ever before that emphasis be placed upon child welfare work. Upon the youths of America who are privileged to witness the history-making events of this stirring epoch will devolve the duty of carrying forward to posterity the splendid precepts and lessons of national patriotism which are now being demonstrated.

Mindful of these responsibilities which rest upon Young America, it is indeed a pleasure for me to endorse heartily the children's year program outlined by the Children's Bureau and Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense. As we enter upon our second year in the war it is entirely fitting and proper that we increase our efforts to conserve the life and health of American children as far as possible and raise their educational, moral and working standards to the highest planes attainable.

Just as our European allies have found child welfare work imperative in relation to general war activity and preparedness, Americans are today obliged to face this movement as a necessary war issue. I am proud of the notable progress the State of Oregon has made in child welfare work, and feel safe in predicting that Oregon may be depended upon to do its full share in carrying out the children's year program through the efficient organization which has this movement in hand.

(Signed) JAMES WITHYCOMBE
Governor.

The weighing and measuring cards will be distributed in Oregon for the big drive for Children's Year the first of next week and will be in the hands of competent women throughout the state. In a letter received this morning from Washington D. C., of the 52 units, 48 states, District of Columbia and the three territorial possessions 47 are organized for this work, 27 have their programs formulated and 14 are already carrying on the weighing and measuring of the babies. This work has been endorsed as a war issue by President Wilson, Governor Withycombe and Frank W. Parsons, director general of the Civilian Relief, who emphasized it as a special part of the work of the Home Service Section.
