

FOR BETTER PICTURES

Of course, it makes a difference who develops your films. Wouldn't you rather have it done by people of years of experience than by amateurs.

Most people of this locality have us do their Kodak finishing and for the benefit of a few who do not we invite you to give us a trial. If the pictures you get finished here are not as good or better than you can get anywhere else, there will be no charges for them.

LAUDS AMERICAN SOLDIER

John B. Howarth, a Y. M. C. A. war work secretary in Paris, writes that at the center at which place he is stationed, accommodations for 3500 men are at hand, that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has charge of fifty women workers and F. S. Edmonds, a Philadelphia lawyer, looks after the business affairs. He says the American soldiers are clean, cheerful, wholesome fellows and an army any nation might be proud to claim.

HINTS ON SUCCESS

The unluckiest man in the world is the man who thinks he is lucky.

The trouble with most good people is that they make a business of it.

The law is reason dulled by compromise between many conflicting viewpoints.

The least important benefit to be derived from the study of the law is the actual legal knowledge which one obtains.

The way to get what you want is to show that you deserve it before you ask—and then perhaps you won't have to ask.

Blue sky or a promise of what may happen can be sold by a man who knows how, but it takes a lot of training to learn how.

When a young man comes out of college he must have confidence in himself, but he should not advertise his self-confidence.

Learning how to sell the public something that the public doesn't want is a service to society as well as an invaluable training of oneself.

Almost always before a specialist can get in action, it is necessary for a lot of nonspecialists to go out and get the money for the specialist to specialize with.

One of the greatest dangers to the successful career of a public man, whether he be politician or merchant, is that he may overestimate the composite intelligence which makes up public opinion.—From "If I Were Twenty-one," by William Maxwell.

TIPS FROM TEXAS

Our idea of a proper literary person is one who collects a library of thrift stamp books.

Our idea of a capable woman is one who eliminates all the red tape when she gets ready to take her husband to church.

Our observation is that a girl has to be about five years old before she understands that she hasn't anything fit to wear.

As a general thing, even the most indifferent man would hate for people to think his legs are the same shape as his pants.

The time may come in this country when any woman with a husband will be glad to swap an O-bonehead for a T-bone steak.

We judge from what we have read in ancient history that about the quickest way for an old-timer to attract attention was to blow a ram's horn.—Dallas News.

AVOIDING ACCIDENTS

Turn out the gas—use your breath for living.

It is often easy to tell "just how it happened."

Keep your head, arms and body inside a moving car.

Accidents may be avoided through the use of common sense.

Look where you are going. Don't walk north while looking south.

There is greater personal advantage in knowing that "it" can't happen to you.

Most accidents are due to haste, carelessness, forgetfulness and ignorance.

A WANT AD will do it.

Optimistic Thought. Rejoice today, for tomorrow you may be ashes.

Gone, and Forgotten. "And this bumbled-down cratger?" "Was the home of a poet. It's dead now." "The path to the door is overgrown with weeds." "Yes, it has been some years since the postman quit delivering returned manuscripts at the poet's door."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Domestic Tragedy. Wife (returned from overnight visit)—"Did you get yourself a good dinner last evening, dear?" Hub—"Yes, there was a bit of steak in the ice box and I cooked it with a few onions I found in the cellar." Wife—"Onions? Jack, you've eaten my bulbs."—Boston Transcript.

BEST IN THE LONG RUN

Who Began Trench Warfare?

THE trench, which always encircled the Roman castra, or camp, was brought to France by Julius Caesar and used by him on the very battlefield where to-day the Allies and the Huns have 25,000 miles of trenches. With rings of trenches, gradually drawn smaller, probably the first modern trench warfare, the Turks in 1667 took Candia!

Vauban, builder of Verdun, in 1673 employed the first parallel trenches, the system of the present war. Defeat, not foresight, turned the Germans to trench warfare. But Goodrich never had to dig in.

Since twenty-two years ago Goodrich manufactured the first American pneumatic automobile tire, Goodrich has driven ahead to the big, graceful, masterful—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

But whether Goodrich was revolutionizing tire manufacture by bringing forth the first American clincher tire— Or originating the one practical non-skid, the cross-bar, safety-tread, or tough black tread rubber— Goodrich built tires to one end—SERVICE VALUE—what they are worth to the motorist on his car and on the road in COMFORT of an easier riding car—ECONOMY in gasoline saved,—and LONG MILEAGE.

Small difference whether you buy GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.
