ZWEIFEL-CLAIR WEDDING.

Reuben J. Zweifel and Ouida Irene Clair were quietly married at noon Thursday, June 6th. Mr. and Mrs. Al. Daniel witnessed the wedding. Mrs. Zweifel has made a host of friends and became very popular as a washer and ticket taker of the Star Theater for the past year. The bride is a San Francisco girl and a sister of Mrs. Ed. Ford, cashier at the Arcade. Mr. Zweifel is a highly respected young man, owns and conducts the Zweifel Tailoring and pressing establishment, and is a volunteer member of the local fire department, and is popular in Elk circles. Their many friends wish them hearty congratulations. At present Mr. and Mrs. Zweifel will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ford.

Mrs. L. E. Salladay, of Twin Falls, Idaho, who has been visiting her mother Mrs. T. E. Pierson of 702 Adams Ave. was joined by Mr. Salladay Wednesday and Thursday they left for Seattle in their Franklin car to visit Mr. Salladay's parents. Mrs. Salladay was the honor guest at several dinner parties while in La Grande and on Monday night gave a theatre party to the friends who had been so gracious to her during her visit here. Miss Frances Pierson will join them here on their return and visit several weeks with her sister.

BAKER AFTER IDIERS.

BAKER, Ore., June 8.—To rid Baker of loafers the Commercial club Thursday recommended to the city council that it pass an anti-loafing ordinance similar to the one recently adopted in Portland. The need of help on the farm is the incentive for the ordinance.

RED CROSS News and Notes.

Salvage Department American Red Cross

A new department of the Red Cross which asks no money—but which turns waste into money—originated in Los Angeles with the simple idea of saving tin foil and selling it to a smelter. This was the germ of the larger idea—why not salvage all possible waste and market it for the Red Cross? Taken up with spirit and enthusiasm by the California chapter the salvage scheme was extended to cover so many articles that were once thrown away that the Chapter now averages $1200 a month for marketing the city's waste. On tin foil alone, in eight months, they realized $1175.

Not only in this new department making much money for the Red Cross, but what is equally important, it is inculcating on a broad, sound basis the saving idea, and making it applicable to all articles of commercial and domestic use. The scheme has spread to army encampments, so that articles formerly thrown away are through the Salvage Department, sold back to the manufacturers after rendering full service in the camp. The biggest and most significant note in the Salvage scheme is the fact that the Salvage Department does not merely collect junk and sell it as junk, but salvages the waste of the country, or what an extravagant American thought was waste, until this department shows the money in it, by getting the manufacturers to buy back the "waste" and resell it to a satisfied public to the mutual advantage of manufacturer and consumer. And this at a time when saving of every scrap of metal, glass, rubber—in fact, any manufactured article is not only desirable but an absolute necessity, and when it becomes a national duty to conserve labor for manufacturing incident to the war.

As the plan progresses, it has become apparent that materials to be salvaged may be almost limitless. Manufacturers, who at first balked at buying back "worthless" spoils, cold cream jars, metal containers, and the like, welcomed the idea when it was suggested that a little stamp bearing the legend, "Salvaged by the Red Cross," be placed upon the article to inform the public that seconds were being sold solely because the spoils, etc., had been salvaged by the Red Cross.

When the right time comes along it is intended to have manufacturers of cameras, chewing gum, toilet-waters, tobaccos and innumerable other goods enclose in each package of their goods notices to the public that the box, spool, bottle or what not enclosed, may be salvaged by the Red Cross. Those who have made close study of the plan are convinced that if the plan is made a national one, the Red Cross will become absolutely self-supporting. There are 4000 chapters of the Red Cross in the United States, and if each one averages $100 a month the Red Cross will have $400,000 a month to spend for the alleviation of misery and distress.

The Salvage Department asks for no money, only for what you formerly threw away. It is ever patriotic duty to save the little scraps and help win the big one.

La Grande Chapter has appointed Mrs. T. N. Murphy chairman of the Salvage department. She is busy organizing her committees and will in a few days make full announcements through the columns of the Observer. In the mean time do not throw away anything that can be salvaged. Her headquarters will be the New Foley Building.

SHERRY'S

EARLE WILLIAMS STARRING

"The Grell Mystery" is a Thrilling Detective Drama.

The story by Frank Frost, is action throughout and filled with highly dramatic situations. It is directed by Paul Scardon and presented by a cast of Vitagraph favorites, headed by Earle Williams and Miriam Miles and including Denton Vane, Jean Dumar, Mabel Trunnelle, Frank Crayne, Bernard Siegel and Robert Gaillard.

Robert Grell is to marry Eileen Meredith, but still is loved by Lola, a dancer and former sweetheart, now the wife of Harry Goldenburg, who seeks to blackmail him. Lola tries to protect Grell from her husband who beats her and goes to Grell's home to collect his blackmail. Lola follows and stabs him to death.

Helen Meredith, sister of Eileen, enters the library and believes the dead man is Grell. She picks up the dagger, leaving on it her finger prints. At the moment, Grell reaches home and looks through the door. He believes Helen the murderer of Goldenburg and to protect her flees with his valet.

Torn between love and duty he determines to bring the girl to justice, but Lola's past is accidentally learned and a motive for the crime established. Foyle forces a confession from her and Helen's innocent but damning activities in the mystery are explained. Grell, freed, marries Eileen and Helen forgives Foyle for placing loyalty to duty above love for her.

Charlie Chaplin in "His New Job" rounds out the program.

ARCADE

ROY STEWART IN UNUSUAL WESTERN

A bitter feud is raging between the ranchers in the vicinity of Grindstone, New Mexico, and the officials of the Rex Copper Company. The trouble has already passed the stage of threats and has culminated in open warfare.

The ranchers, under the leadership of Jeff Flagg and James Lee, whose range is nearest to that of the copper company, claim that since the erecand the waters which make the thirst of their cattle have been polluted. Frankly, the cattlemen state that it is a question of the survival of themselves or the copper company, and they do not intend to be swept out.

The cattlemen have gathered together from far and near and guns are being filled with asiduous care in the Grindstone district.

"Faith Erdurin" is the name of this unusual Western story which departs from the conventional paths and supplies entertainment of a rare and high order. Roy Stewart's smile that prizes the worries of the heart of the millions, and Fritzie Ridgeway's bonnie beauty are very evident and extremely satisfactory in this Triangle picture which will be shown at the Arcade theatre on Sunday only.

KAISER INSULTS LADY GUESTS

Outrages By His Officers Prompted By Examples Provided By Ruler.

Reason for outrages committed against the young womanhood of Belgium by the officers and men of the German army is undoubtedly provided in the truths now coming to light of the insulting manner in which the Kaiser himself has frequently received prominent ladies at his receptions in the "White Room" of the Imperial Palace, where his generals and other officers are present and have seen the disrespect shown female guests by their own ruler.

The Kaiser is a slave to beautiful hands and has often distressed ladies of the court by his bold, public admiration and insulting insinuations. A case now receiving considerable at-mention here in America is that of Miss Gertrude Astor.

Most of the rings and bracelets worn by the Kaiser are duplicates of ornaments he has noticed on female hands while admiring and fondling them, even strangers, in public; but this is but one of the many sensational peeps into the private life, the habits and mannerisms of "The Mad Dog of Europe," as shown in Rupert Julian's startling screen production, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," to be shown at the Star Theater today, tomorrow and Monday.

SAYS IT ACTED LIKE A CHARM

Coughs, colds, sore throat or bronchial troubles which persist at this time of the year usually are of an obstinate character. That is all the more reason why a truly reliable remedy like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be used. Mrs. Margaret Smale, Bishop, Calif., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is a grand remedy; more than is claimed for it. I was suffering from a cold last week and used the medicine and it acted like a charm." Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.
