SUNSHINERS TO SEE COVE

OBJECT OF TRIP IS TO OFFSET PRUSSIANISM.

One Hundred Autos Will Make The Short Journey — All Will Be Welcome.

Did you ever hear the old adage "Make hay while the sun shines?" Well, you have of course, but now the adage reads the other way around, and it goes something like this "Make sunshine" while the war lasts.

"Come on, Brother, and go over to Cove with us next Sunday morning, and join our auto Sunshine brigade, and make the sun shine in Cove," said Brother W. D. Morehouse, of the "Sunshine" movement.

"I want you to put a big, big headline on this little 'sunshine' story, because it is our object to offset the horrors of this world-calamity Hun War, by scattering sunshine, like 'drops of water,' on the sands of tired humanity in Cove.

"Will you do it? For there will be a grand reception in the Cove city park, and after the 11 o'clock service, an open forum will be held, at which everyone is expected to lift up his or her voice and shout "Let the sun shine."

There will be a return "Sunshine Meeting" in La Grande by the good people of Cove, who will try to out-do the La Grandites, in the number of autos to be driven over here.

Who will say "Here is my car, at your service?"

Don't be backward, or afraid to hand in your name, or car number.

The committee in charge of this "Sunshine" movement does not care what brand of car you have to offer, so it will "Get there."

Don't all speak at once, or Brother Morehouse might be embarrassed by telling you he had more than enough cars for the small crowd. One hundred cars has been set as the limit, although some one might have the nerve to "raise the ante."

3500-MILE AUTO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Bird Lewis Had Fine Trip to the East.

A 3500 mile trip by automobile was finished when Mr. and Mrs. Bird Lewis arrived in Bridgeton late last evening to visit Mrs. Lewis' father, Samuel Carter, says the Bridgeton, N. J., News. It has been thirteen years since she visited her old home town where she spent her girlhood days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis spent seventeen days on the road. The first three days they felt the fatigue of the long drive but by that time they became accustomed to it and came in at the finish feeling first rate. They came from Oregon, one of the Pacific coast states to New Jersey, one of the Atlantic coast States, passing through ten states altogether. They had no real mishaps and in that long run across the continent had only four punctures. They came in a touring car, both being suitably attired for the trip.

They have many interesting sights to tell about including Indians and a motor train of eighty automobiles on the Lincoln Highway carrying soldiers.

MAY DECLARE WAR ON TURKS. Attacks on U.S. Consulate And Hospital At Tabriz Are Proved.

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 1.—(The American government has demanded that the Turkish government immediately explain the recent attacks by Turkish troops on the American consulate at Tabriz.

It was recently reported from London that the Turks had attacked both the American consulate and hospital at Tabriz, and the American government, after failing to elicit a reply from Turkey on the matter, requested the Spanish government to ascertain whether such attacks had taken place. The Spanish government has now officially verified the attacks.

GRAND DUKE'S MANIFESTO

MOSCOW, July 1.—(By United Press.)—On June 26th, the Grand Duke Michael, the former czar's brother, issued a manifesto declaring that, since the constitutional assembly has dissolved and Russia is in process of disintegration, it is his duty to restore order. He issued the manifesto calling on the people to overthrow the Bolsheviks and offering amnesty to all revolutionists.

ITALIANS TAKE MANY PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 1.—(By United Press.)—Striking suddenly in the mountains last night, the Italians, aided by the French, captured over 1500 Austrians, including 50 officers, says an official cable from Rome to the Italian embassy here. It is declared that the Italians now hold Echele Peak, Col delrosso and Mount Valbella.

RAIDS IN PICARDY.

LONDON, July 1.—Field-Marshal Haig reports successful raids on the Picardy front.

WILL THEY BE DRAFTED

Suggestion for Increasing Red Cross Working Force.

There are not enough Red Cross workers in Salem, says the Capital Journal. Other towns and cities report a similar shortage. Appeals to patriotism seem to have little effect; those best able to work are apparently not inclined to voluntarily answer the call to back up the soldiers who are fighting in France.

Many women are doing faithful work and among these is a large percentage of those least able to answer the call. In a city like Salem hundreds of young women with little or nothing to do at home have not gone to the Red Cross work rooms at all.

This condition leads to the conclusion that if volunteer work must be depended upon to supply the Red Cross hospitals and certain other needs and comforts of the soldiers communities must take more drastic action to impress the slackers; women might be registered just as the drafted men are and classified according to their means and ability to work. If such a course cannot be taken without legal enactment such enactment should not be postponed by congress. If all were compelled to do their share in every community that share would not be burdensome. Now all the work of patriotism and mercy is falling upon a comparatively few who are being overworked, as well as carried, because the community's allotment is not promptly filled.

We must realize that the country is at war—war that may tax our resource before the end comes—and that one kind of a slacker is just about as bad as another. It is a veritable melting pot in which true Americanism is being rendered—the woman who is not doing everything in her power to help the nation in its peril is not fit to be the mother, sister or sweetheart of an American citizen or American soldier.
