PROFITS OF POULTRY RAISERS INCREASED

Poultry raising in the last few months has become a matter of past history. Where formerly could be seen a poultry pen filled with many thriving chickens, cackling and scratching, now can be seen a barren waste, where, perhaps, one chicken, lean and hungry, cackles for its former associates.

Why?
A careful study of the question by the leading poultry men who wish to see poultry raising flourish among the populace brought forth this:

That in order to encourage the raising of poultry those conditions brought about by the war and by other causes must be counter added. The one solution is food.

So these men began to experiment with feed. Many attempts and experiments finally brought forth a product which has completely revolutionized poultry raising. This product takes into consideration the welfare and fertility of the chicken.

An analysis of the constituents shows it to contain among many other things, soy bean chips, sunflower seeds, hulled oats, cracked corn, etc. Not a particle of waste matter can be found in this scientifically blended product.

So popular has this become that car load orders are pouring into the mills where it is made.

Advantage of this is being taken by all, even by the sheepherder for the product of these excellent feed and leading poultry raisers cannot be looked upon without some regard.

The people of this locality can also have the full benefit of this wonderful product for a local firm has purchased a carload direct from the millers and is detailing as well as wholesaling it at a price which is amazingly low, even if the wonderful results were not taken into consideration.

The feed can now be bought in this city from the firm which does business under the name of the Hooverized Grocery, across the tracks, next to Stilwell's Market.—Adv. 7-12-18.

OLD RESIDENT GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS
"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled at cutting me open, as I am 75 year old. A neighbor advised trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was a yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by druggists everywhere.—Adv. 7-12-18.

MASCOT IN FIGHTING

Went Through The Marine Drive Without A Scratch.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY AT THE MARNE, July 12.—Jimmy the U.S. Marine's Mexican ant-eater mascot, has been through the recent Marine drive on the Marne and is back in the Marine billet, unscathed.

When the "Devil Dogs" began the march towards the German lines, Jimmy fell right in line. All the coaxing, threatening and pleading that the pluck of the regiment could do was of no avail. Jimmy's comrades were going into trouble—well, then, so was Jimmy.

While the hand-to-hand conflict raged between the Marines and the Huns, Jimmy was here, there, everywhere, scurrying back and forth, his eyes pleading to be allowed to aid.

After the battle, the Marines, realizing that they would never be able to keep Jimmy out of any more engagements, immediately fashioned a miniature gas mask and "shrapnel helmet with which the mascot will be armed the next time he goes forth into the fray.

ASSET TO THE NATION

Burdens of War Should Not Fall on the Children.

"To be strong for victory the Nation must let her children play," says Charles Frederick Weller, who as a secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, is aiding the recreation drive started by the Children's Bureau and the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense.

"No time nor money can be spared from war-winning activities. But the winning of the war depends on man power, and man power can not be sustained in any nation without health and wholesomeness in the children. Far worse than exhausting America's financial capital would be the exhaustion of child life, her man-power capital.

"England and France began as America has been tempted to begin, by letting the children pay too heavily for the war, in child labor, increased delinquency, overtaxed nerves, weakened bodies, and premature deaths. But England and France are already turning to lift war's burden from the children by giving them a chance to play. England began in January, 1917, granting Government funds to local play centers. Can America do less?

In this summer vacation time, especially with schools closed, fathers and elder brothers called to war and many mothers to labor—there is urgent need to give the boys and girls an American square deal—to 'keep the old folks from sitting on the children's safety valve of play,' as Jacol Riis would say it."

The recreation drive of July and August is to culminate in "patriot play week," September 1 to 7, 1918, in which the work of 11,000,000 women in organizing recreation in 10,000 communities will come to a close.

WITH QUARTERMASTER'S CORPS

A note from Roy L. Couch, from Kept, Wash., states that he has joined the quartermaster's corps for special service, but has not yet been called. In the meantime he is working for a farmers' co-operative concern, where he will probably stay until he is ordered to move. He will give a longer account of himself from the other side of the water.

Don't Always Blame the Telephone Operator When You Are Called By Mistake

Were you ever called to the telephone when another number was wanted?
When this occurs, the operator, to be sure, may have humanly erred by ringing on the wrong line. More often, however, it is the fault of the person making the call.
People often ask for 456, for example, when 510 is wanted and then either "hang up" when the mistake is realized or become impatient when the wrong person answers.
Unfamiliarity with the work of telephone operators often prompts unjust criticism. Please don't forget the earnestness of the operator's effort when some occasional service difficulty does arise.
