SHERRY'S

"THE LITTLE RUNAWAY."

Glady Leslie and Edward Earle in Irish Comedy Drama. Gladys Leslie and Edward Earle are featured in an Irish drama, written by Paul West, noted short story writer, and it is one of the best subjects dealing with life on the Emerald Isle, seen on the screen for some time. It is a comedy-drama and one of the better grade. Miss Leslie and Mr. Earle make a good team when it comes to putting over the straight comedy and in Paul West's latest contribution to the list of screen dramas, they are afforded opportunity after opportunity to show what they can accomplish along these lines. William P. S. Earle directed the production and in the supporting cast are seen: Jessie Stevens, who gives a remarkably good characterization of the Irish type of mother; Mary Maurice, the grand old lady of the screen who, since this production was made, has been called to her reward; William Dunn, who will be remembered for his work in numerous Vitagraph pictures and Betty Blythe, who has an important role in Arthur O. Empey's "Over the Top." This is a corking good comedy-drama offering and all will be the better for having witnessed the screen version so capably given by the principals and cast. Miss Leslie is casted as Ann, the little Irish girl who lives with her aunt and grandmother. The little family manage to support themselves by weaving Irish lace. Lord Killowen, who owns the little township has placed Harney Dowd and his son Peter in charge of collecting the rents, as he needs the money. Peter collects and leaves for America with the money collected. Ann resolves to find him and leaves for America. She arrives without a penny and is taken into the house of a kind-hearted policeman. Killowen learns of her presence and Lord Killowen and Ann return as husband and wife.

ARCADE

PERSHING'S CRUSADERS.

The United States government, through George Creel's Committee on Public Information, Division of Films, of which Chas. S. Parr is director, is offering to the public the first of its official war films, "Pershing's Crusaders." There are eight reels of this film, which graphically shows how every able-bodied American is helping to win the war. These pictures, which show the grim earnestness of the United States government in its war aims and its determination to stamp out Kaiserism, were taken by U. S. Signal Corps and Navy Photographers and cameramen of the French General Staff at home and abroad. In addition to this, "Pershing's Crusaders" will show interesting scenes photographed by the cameramen of the Allies. Each week, as important events happen over there, they will be shown as a sort of curtain-raiser to the big feature. "Pershing's Crusaders" will be shown at the Arcade Theater for two days starting Wednesday. In order that everyone may see and thus realize the results of American effort in this war it has been decided to show this film at popular wartime prices within the reach of all. In this comprehensive picture one will see Uncle Sam's soldiers in the making; the work at the cantonments; the activities of the great war charities, the Red Cross,

Knights of Columbus, Masons and Y. W. C. A.; how the army is fed and clothed; the making of arms and ammunition; farmers in the fields doing their part and workmen in factories, each and all giving his best effort for his country; the building of ships on a scale such as the world has never seen; the navy in action; American aviators in the air somewhere in France and the boys in khaki with General Pershing on the Western front. It is a revelation of a nation aroused in all its might. When you see what your government is doing to insure your freedom, you will put your shoulder to the wheel with new vigor.

LEE POY TELLS ALL ABOUT IT

THE DALLIES, Or, July 29.—"The army life is a great life," according to Lee Poy, who was drafted into the army at Camp Lewis. Writing to a tailor named Wilson here, Lee Poy says:

"Hello, old friend Wilson. Attention, present arms! I feel very fine in here. I am enjoying myself to stay in camp. I have pass examination. The officers have me for limited service. I got very good job now old top Wilson. I am working in officers' mess. Waiter on tables. I got very good cuts. I will close now, wishing you very good business and had all clothes that you can pressing. (Say) Wilson, the army life is a very great life."

LAYING COAL SUPPLY.

Evidently the railroad companies have taken the "hunch" issued by the government a few days ago, as it was men yesterday afternoon in the railroad yards, men were busy with two steam shovels unloading coal from gondola cars, while other men with shovels were unloading coal from box cars.

This simply means that these cars will be released for handling commercial coal in the fall and winter, when coal will be very scarce.

AUTO SALES ON THE WANE.

L. C. Smith, of Smith's Garage, stated this morning that his sales of automobiles this year is fully one-third less than they were a year ago.

Asked what caused this heavy decrease in business, Mr. Smith replied that it is entirely due to government prohibition of the manufacture of any further supply of strictly passenger automobiles and that when there is a chance of getting a car in Portland, the only way he can get the car to La Grande is to go to Portland and drive the car here on its own wheels.

OFF ON A FISHING TRIP.

Geo. H. Tracey and R. D. McKennon left this afternoon for a few days' fishing at Minam. They promise to get some trout, if there are any to be had, and their friends will be watching for their return.

Caprices and Conceits in Veils

Why the veil? Merely masculine minds will never figure out the answer although they will have the rest of time to ponder the question. Veils were and are and will continue to be. They are a strictly feminine institution and whether they are worn to add charm to the face or to call attention to charms already there, or for some other reason, these are mysteries only the veiled lady can solve for us. But they make opportunity for capricious ornamentation and for variety—two very good reasons for the loyalty with which women favor them.

New face veils this summer are nearly all woven with a large mesh; the hexagon-shaped mesh appears to be best liked. Two examples of this particular weave are shown at the left of the picture. They are circular and float about the face. The veil at the top indulges in the caprice of little and big chenille dots and little pasted-on velvet leaves, all of them dancing in all the wayward wandering breezes they chance to meet. A few dots splattered over a lovely chin, make us think twice of its delicious curves. A silk scroll wanders in the most aimless and happy-go-lucky way over the veil before, but it just misses the eyes and just hits a very alluring pair of lips, which goes to prove that a veil should be taken seriously and adjusted with care.

At the left appears the "war bride" veil—one of the small consolations allowed to the girl whose sweetheart is away in the service of his country. It is of navy blue chiffon and is draped about a navy blue or navy blue and white turban. This one is finished with a narrow silk fringe, but most of them are simply hemmed. They are probably destined to a short-lived popularity—but they are very charming.

Veils should be tried on and selected carefully as hats are, for some faces look best under a plain, close mesh without figures. Scrolls or dots or other figures in front of the eyes, are never pleasing; they look and are uncomfortable.

New Needle Knobs. If the knob on the end of one of your knitting needles of bone or wood comes off and is lost, as sometimes happens, mold a little ball of melted paraffin, or of beeswax, on the needle. It will harden, and stay on quite well. If you are knitting lace edging, and have only long steel needles, cut them short with a wire cutter, add a paraffin knob at one end, and you have a pair of dainty little lace needles.

Mr. Grain Farmer:

Are you prepared to handle your grain in bulk? Do not wait until Spring and Summer when you are buried with work and worried with labor shortage, but build your granaries now.

You can buy the lumber and roofing paper for a first-class 1000 bushel portable granary for $54.55 and it will last for years. Sacks for the same amount of grain will cost you $125.00 and this would be a dead loss against this year's crop.

A granary of this size can be moved anywhere and can be filled directly from the thresher, doing away with high priced labor handling and sewing sacks.

The boys in the trenches need the sacks for sand bags for the protection of their very lives and perhaps your boy is among them.

Spend your money in your own valley by buying lumber manufactured at home. When you buy sacks part of the money goes to India.

BUILD YOUR GRANARIES NOW

Be prepared by building them before the farming season opens up. Be sure to get good lumber, well seasoned, as low grade lumber will give you trouble in a few seasons. Don't use green lumber.

Save money—keep what you spend at home—prevent loss and damage from exposure to weather—leave the sacks for our boys in the trenches; help win the war by building granaries now.

Portable granaries of this type are universally used in other sections. One trip with a good team will haul the material for one granary. For particulars as well as prices on Union County lumber for all farm purposes, see
