VIOLA DANA IN BIG FEATURE

In New Metro Production Star Reveals Her Art of Dancing.

Viol Dana, charming Metro star of "The Only Road," a stirring story of Western life, has again made good use of the art which first introduced her to the public—that of stage dancing. In "The Only Road," this versatile little actress dances the fandango, and in her previous release, "The Winding Trail," another spirited Spanish dance was called for.

At the early age of five little Viola made her theatrical debut as a toe dancer. Later she took up dramatic work, though she did not lose her terpsichorean art, always keeping up with the latest dances. This knowledge she has found very useful in her picture work. Some of Miss Dana's other Metro successes are "Riders of the Night," "Breakers Ahead," "A Weaver of Dreams," "The Winding Trail," "Blue Jeans," "The Girl Without a Soul," and many others of equal note.

This clever little actress was born in Brooklyn but soon moved to New York, where she attended school. Miss Dana is the youngest as well as the most beloved of screen stars.

"NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY!"

Pretty Enid Bennett fits from the sublime to the ridiculous—at least in the titles of her photo-plays—as easily as you or I fit from home to office. For her latest Paramount picture now showing at the Arcade has been entitled "Naughty, Naughty!"

There is something in a name, too, in both cases, and "Naughty, Naughty!" is quite as intriguing as the name indicates—although not the comic-opera sort of thing one might expect. The story which was written for Miss Bennett by C. Gardner Sullivan, opens with the return of pretty Roberta Miller to her small-town home in the Middle West.

Now there is nothing particularly remarkable about that—the remarkable thing is the effect the trip had upon the heroine. She had left a quaint, glum-eyed youngster and had returned a smartly-gowned, very sophisticated young person with three thoroughbred huddlers. Lillyville — for so the town was called—gaped and bit its lips and murmured that it had known all along "Noa Yow weren't no place for a young girl."

Roberta, much bored at the fourteen year of her way in Lillyville, decided to reform the town to conform with her wishes rather than reform herself to conform to the town's wishes. And thereby hangs the tale. A certain young man, her sweetheart and the editor of the local news sheet, was one of the strictest of the strict in the community, and Roberta's efforts to remodel him are screamingly funny. Of course, she succeeds and not only convinces the church people, but that they ought to provide them as a means of entertainment for their young people within their very gates.

TO AID WESTERN FARMERS.

President Makes Available Sum Of $5,000,000.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 5.—The following statement was given out by the Treasury Department and the Department of Agriculture today:

Acting upon the urgent representations that many wheat growers in certain sections of the West who have lost two successive crops by winter-killing and drought, have exhausted their resources and may be compelled to forego fall planting and, in some cases, to abandon their homes unless immediate assistance is extended, the President on Saturday, July 27, placed at the disposal of the Treasury Department and the Department of Agriculture, $5,000,000 to enable them to furnish aid to that extent. The two departments are already actively at work formulating plans for making loans under this authorization, and complete details will be announced within the next few days and operations begun.

It may be stated generally that the Federal land banks in the districts affected will be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury as the financial agents of the government to make the loans and to collect them. The Department of Agriculture, through its special officers, including the county agents, will ascertain the needs of the individual farmers and determine the feasibility of the planting.

For Farmers Who Have Suffered.

The primary object of this fund is not to stimulate the planting of an increased fall acreage of wheat or rye in the severely affected drought areas, or even necessarily to secure the planting of a normal acreage, to enable them to remain on their farms, and to plant such an acreage as may be determined to be wise under the conditions, with a view to increasing the food supply of the Nation to add to the National security and defense. It is distinctly not intended to be used to stimulate the planting of wheat or any other grain where such planting is not wise from an agricultural point of view and where other activities are safer.

It is not intended that this fund shall be used to make loans to farmers who have banking collateral and can otherwise secure loans. The recent action of the War Finance Corporation, indicating its willingness to make advances to banks and trust companies which have made loans to farmers and cattlemen, should ease the general financial situation and in large measure enable bankers to extend accommodations to farmers having such collateral. Banks are urged to avail themselves of the offer of the War Finance Corporation.

Use In Fall Planting.

This fund, because of its limited amount, will be used necessarily principally in connection with the fall planting of wheat, or of preferred substitute grains in the areas involved. This will not exclude consideration of cases of individuals who do not intend to or who cannot engage in fall seeding, who might otherwise be compelled to abandon their homes and make great sacrifices provided sufficient funds are left after considering the pressing fall planting needs.

The loans will probably not be made for more than $3 an acre, and it is likely that a maximum of 100 acres in some localities and of 150 in others will be established. In addition to paying a reasonable rate of interest, each farmer will be required to contribute to an insurance fund out of the proceeds from the sale of his crops if his operations are successful.

QUAKER QUIPS

By the time a man is old enough to know better he is too old to take advantage of it.

Wisdom comes with years. The older a man grows the more he realizes how young he used to be.

Accidents will happen in the best regulated families, so a girl must expect to have her heart broken once in a while.

The man who is looking for a job sometimes realizes that there is plenty of room at the top, but mighty little at the bottom.

What He Wanted.

A stranger dropped into a green grocer's the other day and inquired of the shopkeeper if he had any nuts.

"What kind do you want?" asked the man.

"I don't know. Just name them over to me, will you?"

"Well, we have Brazil nuts, walnuts, almonds, coconuts," and he rattled off a number of other varieties, but the stranger shook his head.

"Fibberts?" suggested the man.

"No, no fibberts," said the grocer.

"Chestnuts?" asked the man.

The stranger smiled. "That's it, thank you."

"How many do you want?"

"I don't want any. I've been trying to think of the name of that street for an hour and thought that would be a good scheme to help me out. I want to get to Chestnut street. How do I get there?"—London Tit-Bits.

Superiority.

"Mr. Blobster has been a rich man for years, yet he still stands in awe of his butler."

"And how can you account for that?"

"I can't explain it unless it's because the butler is a much better grammarian than Mr. Blobster."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Hen Makes Nest In Tree.

J. A. Daniels of Silver Lake, Conn., boasts of a hen which lays eggs in a nest in a willow tree, ten feet from the ground. An employee of Mr. Daniels saw the hen crouching on a branch of the tree recently and discovered an egg in her lofty nest. Since then she has been laying regularly in this unusual place.

AIR FIGHTING STORIES TOLD

strapping chap, with a fine sense of humor and a winning smile. In his escadrille, they call him "head gimper" just because he is naturally a leader and the life of the unit. The escadrille is known as the "gimper squadron" and was the first group of American trained air fighters to take the field, or the air, rather, away from the German airmen.

"A gimper is a bird who would stick by you through anything," explained Rickenbacker. "If you were up in the air and ran into a dozen Boches and were getting the worst of it, perhaps, and the fellow with you stuck with you and give it to them until the Helms went back to Hunland, you'd know he was a gimper."

"If he didn't have motor trouble and his gun didn't jam, or he didn't accept any one of a dozen good excuses for zooming off home and leave you to do the same if you could get away, he'd be a gimper all right. A gimper is a scout who does everything just a little better than he has to."

"We call this the gimper squadron because every man has to prove himself a gimper by his actions. When a chap arrives, he's an egg. All good eggs soon become vultures and then they're promoted to gopher standing. That is when they have to prove themselves Gimpers, and they'll be Gimpers just as long as they make good. A man who isn't a gimper can't stay with the squadron—it's zoom for him back to the woods."

"Gimper means a lot to us. It means more than good, smart, or old pal, or comrade. I got the word from a mechanic I had when I was in the racing game. He was a gimper, and I knew when he finished with a motor, she would run."

In this man's life there were two kinds of people, gimpers and lumps. There were mighty few gimpers in the world and lots of lumps, as this mechanic put it and it took a good man to be a gimper.

"This pursuit and fighting part of aviation requires a type of aviator who will stick, especially the way we fly in groups. To do your best work you must have a mutual confidence in the gimper flying beside you. If you have a gimper with you you know he won't make a mistake or lose his nerve at the critical moment. A gimper couldn't do that; if he lost his nerve, just once, he'd never be a gimper again. We all know that, and no gimper ever loses his nerve.

"I don't mean a gimper will always pique into a crowd of Hung, no matter their number. A good gimper knows when to fight and when not to fight. If he hasn't a chance, he draws off, flies around until he gets his altitude and then drops on the Helms. A gimper doesn't need to be foolhardy. He watches his chances, but never gives up when another gimper is being strafed.

When you're flying around up there, over Germany, and being followed by a string of black puffs from the German Archies, and hear them exploding, and when you see some German planes off to one side of you, it is the easiest thing in the world to pretend you don't see them and keep straight ahead until you pass them. Usually, the Germans are willing for you to do that unless you stop them. But a gimper never lets himself fall to see them. He maneuvers around until he can pique on them and let them have it until they run home. Then he's satisfied he's a gimper."

Germany Demands That Russia

Shall Take Stern Measures.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Dr Carl Helfferich, German Ambassador to Russia, has sent a note to Foreign Minister Troitzky demanding stern measures in the search for and punishment of the persons guilty of the murder of Field Marshal von Eichhorn, the German military commander in the Ukraine, according to advice from the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Zurich. Dr Helfferich demands, it is said, the destruction of the "hotbeds of anti-German intrigue in Moscow and Petrograd."

Mr. Grain Farmer:

Are you prepared to handle your grain in bulk? Do not wait until Spring and Summer when you are buried with work and worried with labor shortage, but build your granaries now.

You can buy the lumber and roofing paper for a first-class 1000 bushel portable granary for $54.58 and it will last for years. Sacks for the same amount of grain will cost you $125.00 and this would be a dead loss against this year's crop.

A granary of this size can be moved anywhere and can be filled directly from the thresher, doing away with high priced labor handling and sewing sacks.

The boys in the trenches need the sacks for sand bags for the protection of their very lives and perhaps your boy is among them.

Spend your money in your own valley by buying lumber manufactured at home. When you buy sacks part of the money goes to India.

BUILD YOUR GRANARIES NOW

Be prepared by building them before the farming season opens up. Be sure to get good lumber, well seasoned, as low grade lumber will give you trouble in a few seasons. Don't use green lumber.

Save money—keep what you spend at home—prevent loss and damage from exposure to weather—leave the sacks for our boys in the trenches; help win the war by building granaries now.

Portable granaries of this type are universally used in other sections. One trip with a good team will haul the material for one granary. For particulars as well as prices on Union County lumber for all farm purposes, see
