Social and Personal

Mrs. Albert Krause returned today from a visit with her mother in Portland.

Mrs. J. C. Specht, of Portland, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Neill.

Carl G. Helm, one of the Standard sheep organization, is here on business today.

Ray Logan and son, Hugh, returned from a business trip to Pendleton yesterday.

Dr. C. T. Bacon, who has been in Portland on official business, arrived home yesterday.

Mrs. Tap Thomas, wife of the custodian of the city park, is in Haines visiting her sister.

W. F. Abercrombie, of Adams, is here looking for land. He is a wheat grower in the Umatilla country.

Mrs. Cornelia Barker-Carse, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. G. Sawyer, left yesterday for her home in California.

Mrs. Ward Fowler, book-keeper at the Mammoth grocery, arrived home this morning from a few days' vacation at coast points.

Miss Opal Rice, sister of Sergeant Roy Rice, is over from Hells where she is employed as a teacher, visiting Miss Ethel Henning.

Miss Harriet Young is in Portland to attend musical recitals before returning to Pendleton, where she will re-open her studio this fall.

Mrs. Dan McDonald, who has been in North Powder visiting relatives, was in La Grande this morning on her way home to Pendleton.

Will Snodgrass and wife and daughter, who have been visiting relatives here for some time, departed this morning for their home in Cofax.

Pat Milligan, of Wallowa, Owen Milligan of Elgin and Peter Williams of Nyssa, all sheep men, are in La Grande on business pertaining to their flocks.

Sam Brookes came in from Imbler yesterday to take a day off and get away from farm work which right now is very brisk in the Imbler country.

J. G. Gyllenburg, accompanied by Misses Anna Gyllenburg and Helen Biggs, all of Baker, were Sunday guests in La Grande.

A party of North Yakima people, consisting of W. Stanley Coffin, Whitney Coffin and L. Warden arrived in La Grande yesterday and are guests at the Sommer Hotel.

Mrs. Henry Young has arrived home from a trip to Harney country. While gone she visited her children and to her delight found two new grandchildren to welcome her.

R. S. Carpy, an old La Grande boy, arrived here yesterday with his wife and will remain a few days before finishing his preparations to enter the United States service.

W. C. Cowgill, of Corvallis, who has been acting as a reporter on the Observer, disconnected himself with this paper Saturday night and will probably locate in Baker or in the Willamette valley.

O. C. Rickard, a member of the United States Government Surveying party, is at the Foley.

W. B. Barratt, of Heppner, is here today consulting sheep men. He is the head of the Woolgrowers Association. James Barratt is also here from Heppner.

Pete Thiesen, who has been coaxing the iron horse over the Wallowa trail since Henry Bader gave his grand opening when the railroad was extended from Elgin, is laying off this week. Peter Hiever has taken the sun during the absence of Mr. Thiesen.

W. B. Sargent, of the La Grande Investment Co., left for Portland yesterday to attend the state convention of the Elks. He will also visit Seattle attending the meeting of the real estate dealers and from there will go to Southern Oregon on business before he returns home.

Ed Donohue, who has been attending to business and looking after his trade, is reaping his reward. Today he announced that he had leased the entire lower floor of the Slater building on the corner of Fir and Jefferson streets and will have the same remodelled to take care of his furniture business, which has experienced a fine growth. The Salvation Army will create the room at once and workmen will be placed on the job to get it in shape for Mr. Donohue, who will exhibit his fall and winter stock of house furnishings in large quarters.

Dean Crow and De Lille Green and their wives have returned from a camping trip in Wallowa county and so far as known the same number of fish and the same amount of game infest the streams and mountains of that country as before the camping party left La Grande.

Archie Bacon, who has been working at the shipyards on Coos Bay and on the Columbia river, is home for a few days visiting his wife and his parents. Archie's hands show that he has been handling the shipbuilders' tools and he expresses a strong liking for the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Woods left yesterday in their automobile to spend several days on their vacation. "We are going to be systematic," said Mr. Wood, "and if the car doesn't go wrong or the differential break, we are going to wander around in the hills sleeping wherever night overtakes us."

Olat Smith, son-in-law of County Assessor U. G. Couch, is now employed in the Standifer yards at Portland setting machinery in the new boats. Mr. Smith is a high-class mechanic and left his former position at the request of the Emergency Fleet Corporation to do a class of work which it is very hard now to find men who are capable of handling.

J. L. Wilkins and Pat Healey are over from Heppner on business. Mr. Wilkins was for a number of years owner of the Palace Hotel at Heppner, but his property was burned a short time ago only partially covered by insurance. It is doubtful if the large hotel will be rebuilt for some time at least.

Charles Diaqua, for years one of the main men in the Grand Ronde Meat company has left his business in Clatsop. He has met the trade with a smile for so long and accepted a position with the Hux grocery store. Charlie admits that they will have to watch him for a time or from habit he will be cutting up the hams and bacon.

L. L. Snodgrass, proprietor of the Sommer Hotel, who has been with other La Grande boys at the training camp, will arrive home next Sunday. According to Mrs. Snodgrass, who is now managing the hotel in her husband's absence, "he will be home at 4:50 a.m. Sunday and at 4:55 we are starting for the little vacation in the hills which we have been promising ourselves for some time."

Born—Saturday, to Will Grandy and wife a fine baby boy whose name is Rhodus Grandy. Father William is the happiest man who has looked at Mt. Emily at 5 o'clock in the morning for some time. He is 15 years younger today and instead of hauling two cords of wood at a load he is hauling four.

The only regret in the whole matter is expressed by the old guard, some of whom remarked: "It's a boy up at Bill Grandy's—too bad the town is dry."

Rev. Charles H. Powell, general missionary for the Episcopal church came over from Cove Sunday and preached to a large congregation. Rev. Mr. Powell has a large territory in Eastern Oregon and is one of the good speakers. He keeps his home at Cove, although he travels most of the time. Mrs. Powell and the children run a mighty fine little ranch across the valley and the wisdom of Mr. Powell is apparent when one sees at that ranch, the fine chickens, excellent garden and high grade milk cows.

Broncho Bob Hall is in La Grande the guest of his old friend Jack O'Neill and family. Bob and Jack used to ride the Montana range together and later rode the Big Elk range in Oregon. Bob taught young Jack O'Neill his first lessons in rope spinning and also taught his sister's fancy trick riding, each of whom has taken several prizes in this line of work at the different fairs and round-ups.

Bob is on his way to Pendleton where he will ride some of the bucking baunties at this year's show. He was to have given an exhibition here yesterday but the sun prevented.

War! Warning! War!

Manufacturers have just advised us that the United States Government requested all yarn manufacturers not to make any more yarns until further notice, as per the following letter:

TO ALL SPINNERS OF HAND KNITTING YARNS: This is to advise you that the military needs of the Government are such that no more woolen or worsted hand-knitting yarns may BE MANUFACTURED UNTIL FURTHER DIRECTED BY THE WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD. You are requested to report to the undersigned, Mr. Herbert E. Peabody, the amount of yarn you now have on hand, the amount of raw wool in stock and grade of same, and what contracts you are now working on. You are requested to refrain from making ANY SHIPMENTS OF EITHER YARN OR WOOL UNTIL YOU RECEIVE FURTHER NOTIFICATION FROM THE WAR INDUSTRIES BOARD. After the foregoing information has been received, you will be directed as to what disposition to make of the yarn and wool you now have on hand.

Yours very truly,

HERBERT E. PEABODY,
Chief Woolens Section, War Industries Board
LEWIS PENWELL,
Chief Wool Section, War Industries Board.

This means that there will be no more yarns on the market for some time. To our many patrons, we will say, we have a limited amount of yarns of all colors on hand now. OUR PRICE 79c A HANK.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION. It is by no means an easy matter to cure this disease, but it can be done in most instances by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and complying with the plain printed directions that accompany each package.

"The Daughter of the Land," the new novel by Gene Stratton Porter, now on sale at Silverthorn's. Better drop in and buy a copy. Only a few are left out of a large number bought. Daily 8-231f

ASK ANYONE WHO HAS USED IT There are families who always aim to keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house for use in case it is needed, and find that it is not only a good investment but saves them no end of suffering. As to its reliability, ask anyone who has used it.
