"A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS"

Manager Trail, of the Sherry Theater, announces that he has booked Vitagraph's newest and greatest serial, "A Fight for Millions," and will show the first episode on Tuesday and Wednesday. Thereafter he will run one episode per week for fifteen weeks.

William Duncan "the strong man of the screen," and the dashing hero of "The Fighting Trail" and "Vengeance and The Woman," will again be seen as the hero, with Edith Johnson as the heroine, and Joe Ryan, the "Shoestring" of "The Fighting Trail," as the leading "heavy."

As in other Vitagraph serials, there is plenty of action in "A Fight for Millions" and a great deal of wonderful riding by Vitagraph's famous cowboys. The story was written by Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph company, and Cyrus Townsend Brady, noted as one of the leading fiction writers of the country. The same authors gave us "Vengeance" and the woman.

Like its predecessors, the story of "A Fight for Millions" will be in fifteen episodes, and Manager Trail declares that it exceeds in thrills and feats of daring any of the serials which have gone before. It was made in the Northwest, mostly in the Canadian Rockies, and most of the story transpires along the Canadian border, with the Northwest Mounted Police, the relentless foe of crime and criminals playing a prominent part in the narrative.

William Duncan, who directed the big picture in addition to playing the leading role in it, appears to greater advantage in this than in his previous efforts. Right in the early part of the story he begins a career of perilous adventure by plunging into a mountain torrent after being shot from a horse as it gallops across a swinging bridge hundreds of feet in the air. This is described as one of the most exciting stunts ever performed on the screen. In the same episode a man is shown ablaze from head to foot after the heroine hurls a lighted lamp at him. Subsequently he forces her to leap from the top of a mountain, using an improvised parachute.

Start right with the first episode, and then you won't be sorry when you hear your friends talking about it.

"THE DEMON"

"The Demon" marks a radical change in the character of Edith Storey's screen impersonations. This Metro All-Star picture which will be shown at the Sherry Theater, last time today, dramatizes the departure of Miss Storey from drama of Western life, into the field of romantic comedy and satire. As Fredita in "The Demon," the star has a role as different from those in her recent pictures, "Treasure of the Sea," "The Claim," and "The Legion of Death," as salt is to sugar. This characterization, that of an American girl sold in childhood in an Algevean slave market and reared in the bandit-ridden hills of Corsica, runs the range of emotions, and is just such a part as this gifted actress fairly reveals.

YANKS ARE DILIGENT TO LEARN FRENCH

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 21.—(By Mail.) There is great rivalry in France to see who can learn the other man's language first. All the French folk want to know American, as they call the English language, and the Americans are trying hard to pick up French. Try to talk to a Frenchman and he tries to reply in English, either through his desire to be courteous or to practice his "American."

This linguistic reciprocity brings out amusing incidents. On one of the main military highways where troops pass daily is a country cafe known as "Aux Bon Amis Reunis." It loses in translation, but means something like "Good Friends Reunited." A white-haired, thin, stooped old lady runs the cafe, while her feeble husband sits by the fire. Their two sons have died in France.

In answer to the query as to her ideas of the Americans, she replied, "They are good boys and always very kind. But they are always diligent." Every one who comes here carries a little conversation phrase book, and asks me to pronounce for him. They are always studious. But they learn French quickly.

Outside a doughboy was cranking a motor truck. It did not start quickly, and a group of French mechanics standing near came to his rescue. "Blankety, blank, blank, blank!" they exclaimed fervently, reeling off a choice collection of American swear words. The doughboy looked up with awe and admiration. "Thanks, gents," he said simply.

ARE USING SO MUCH DYNAMITE IN RUSSIA

TOKYO, Aug. 17.—(By Mail.)—The output of gold from mines in Korea for the first half of 1918 was only $1,600,000, a reduction of $300,000 from the same period of last year. The big American and European mines at Unsan, Sunan and Chieksan maintained their usual rate, making their total output $1,510,000. The reduction came entirely from the mines managed by Japanese and Koreans. Their smaller mines have been faced by an unchanging selling price for gold, but with increased mining costs, owing to a rise in the cost of dynamite, quicksilver and chemicals, and by the dearth of hands owing to the high wages paid by the prosperous factories on the peninsula.

DEATH FROM BURNS.

An accident that shocked the community occurred last Sunday when William Russell Barnes, the 26 months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Barnes had the misfortune to fall into a camp fire while camping with his parents on Catherine Creek near Union, Oregon, and received burns and shock that caused his death the following day at noon.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday by Rev. Archer at the Presbyterian Church of this place. The broken-hearted parents and relatives have the sympathy of the community.—Elgin Recorder.

Chemists' Show Opens.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(By Mail.)—The 4th National Exposition of Chemical Industries, opening here today reflects strides made by chemists of America during the past year in replacing the Made-in-Germany chemical business. Coincident with the annual show, various conventional American chemical and technical organizations are being held here.

CANVASS FOR WORKER.

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 23.—A complete canvass of the entire city to be made within the next few days in order to obtain a list of all the women of the city who will be available for Red Cross work this winter. The demands on the Red Cross are increasing so rapidly that the officers have been forced to abandon the old plan of depending on voluntary help at the work rooms, and a register is to be made of all the women of the city who are willing to pledge themselves to do three hours of work during each week. The canvass is in charge of Mrs.

KING BOOZE IS OUT OF WAR IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(By Mail.)—Compulsory temperance has reduced drunkenness in England approximately 82 per cent since the war began. It has increased industrial efficiency of the nation many fold and made a return to the old regime of unrestricted alcoholism impossible after the war. This is the purport of a report to the British people by Lord D'Alton, chairman of the board of liquor control.

Liquor may be sold but only at certain hours and in limited quantities. Saloons are allowed to sell alcoholic drinks only 5 hours out of every 24. If a dispensary sells out of its quota before closing time, its patrons have the alternative of soft drinks or going home. Treating has been prohibited by law. The bartender who tolerates it is liable to fine, and the establishment's license may be revoked.

The liquor board believes abolishment of the treating system has played an extremely important part in counteracting excessive drinking. A dynamic substitute for the bar-room and "free lunch" counter as a social gathering place has been found in the new canteens the government and various private concerns have opened where large numbers of laborers are employed—near the ship docks and munitions factories. The government canteens are operated without profit, and the privately owned eating places aim to charge, but little more than enough to pay expenses.

The strength of alcoholic beverages has also been lessened, the average dilution being about 25 per cent. Distilling of spirits except for war or medicinal purposes was stopped two years ago. O. W. Robertson, a member of the executive committee, who has appointed a sub-chairman and works in every precinct in the city. Mrs. Mosman is in receipt of a letter from Wallowa, which refers to the foregoing news item as follows: "Why don't we adopt the same plan in our chapter and all its branches. We have women here who should be working, just the same as the few who go day after day. It would make interesting reading to publish in our home papers why Mrs. Tom, Mrs. Dick, or Mrs. Harry, could not work at the Red Cross rooms three hours a week. We don't have the classes here that we should have, the women don't feel the need seemingly. There are a few, very few, who go every day, week in and week out, when there is work, but if more came these few women could be relieved occasionally."

CLOTHING FOR BELGIANS Mrs. De Lile Green, chairman of the Belgian clothing relief committee, urges the importance of all contributing such as they have in the way of outgrown or castoff clothing for the relief of the Belgians. Such contributions should be made at the New Fokby building. For more particulars—phone Main 724.

People Speak Well of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have been selling Chamberlain's Tablets for about two years and heard such good reports from customers that I concluded to give them a trial myself, and can say that I do not believe there is another preparation of the kind equal to them," writes G. A. McBride, Headford, Ont. "If you are troubled with indigestion, or constipation give them a trial. They will do you good."
