COUNTRY SLOW WITH MONEY

TREASURY DEPARTMENT WORRIED OVER LOAN

Many States Are Lagging in Their Quotas — State of Oregon A Winner

Although Oregon lagged a little in her Fourth Liberty Loan subscription—that is lagged according to Oregon's usual briskness—the fact remains that Emory Olmstead, A. T. Hill and all others who were in charge of the loan in this state have cause for rejoicing.

A dispatch from Washington says the Treasury Department yesterday openly admitted that the slow progress of the fourth Liberty loan towards its $6,000,000 goal is a matter of serious concern. With the three weeks' subscription period half gone, the loan is only 30 per cent subscribed. The total reported to the treasury up to Wednesday night is $1,731,463,200.

There is no use in denying or attempting to camouflage the fact that Liberty Loan committees throughout the country are confronted with a serious situation, said the treasury statement reviewing the campaign reports. "If the loan is to be subscribed a daily average of $467,000,000 must be raised between now and October 19. Cognizant of the fact that the loan never can succeed at its present rate of speed, canvassers throughout the country are stating plainly to all citizens that they must buy bonds in larger amounts than heretofore. Wealthy persons particularly must go deeper into their capital or extend their credit and not depend upon their current income to pay for bonds. People of moderate and small means must pledge their future earnings in greater degree."

"Double The Third." "Double the third" has been adopted as slogan in many districts to stimulate subscribers to do twice as much as they did in the last loan.

Despite the serious interference of the influenza epidemic with campaign plans, analysis of reports show that it is not the states where the epidemic is worst that have the poorest showings. In New England, where the disease has been most widespread, some of the best records have been made.

St. Louis district managers reported Wednesday that influenza was spreading and affecting many workers, but those remaining were going ahead with a determination to achieve this district's quota early next week.

The city of Minneapolis on Wednesday became the first federal reserve district center to raise its quota, with subscriptions of $27,000,000.

In the Chicago district 1942 communities have been awarded honor flags.

Twelfth District Moving Alaska, Hawaii, Oregon, Idaho, and Washington in the San Francisco district all have obtained more than 50 per cent of their quotas. Officials are frankly puzzled over the situation shown by their reports. In spite of most favorable accounts of local achievements coming from all parts of the country, disappointing results are shown in the subscriptions cleared through the federal reserve banks.

Compared with the third loan at the same period of the campaign, the fourth is behind in actual money returns.

The Dallas district reports every county in the drought stricken district of west Texas oversubscribed. Even Mexican laborers are buying bonds.

Nine counties in northern California reached their quotas Tuesday and two of them doubled.

PROMINENT MAN DIES.

Widely Known Man Succumbs After Short Illness.

W. L. Walker, member of the council of the city of Joseph, and prominent farmer of this section, passed away last Thursday evening after a short illness. He is known from one end of the county to the other. He was mostly engaged in agricultural pursuits here, but also has been in the real estate business. He was respected as a man of honesty, and was ever striving for the best of the community. He was a good neighbor and father and many will miss him. Interment took place Tuesday in the Prairie Creek Cemetery, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Cook.

William Lewis Walker was born August 7th, 1867, at Lawndale, Illinois. He left there in 1882 and settled near Salem, Oregon, where he lived until 1887. On December 27th, 1887, he was united in marriage to Miss Rozalia Klader, at Arlington, Iowa. To this union eleven children were born, of which number ten are living, as follows: Mrs. A. R. Tracer, Junction City, Oregon, Mrs. G. W. Starr, Flower, Montana, Winfred L. Walker, Portland, Oregon, J. Dee Walker, Joseph, Oregon, Albert K. Waiger, U.S. Navy, New London, Conn., Leo, Victor, Helen, Willis and Wayne, all of Joseph, Oregon. Besides his wife and children five sisters survive him: Mrs. J. W. Shields, Cheney, Wash., Alice Walker, McMinnville, Ore., Mrs. G. A. Shields, Amity, Oregon, Mrs. J. A. Bowley, Independence, Ore., Fannie Walker, Amity, Oregon. He came to Joseph in October, 1914, where he died October 3rd, 1918.

Alleviates Earache.

If earache does not occur often possibly home treatment will alleviate the suffering, which is always so severe while it lasts. Wring out hot cloths and apply them to the ear. This often brings quick relief. Or moisten a small piece of cotton, saturated with sweet oil or laudanum, and place it carefully in the ear. This is generally efficacious if the trouble is caused by the hardening of the wax.

Coughed So He Couldn't Sleep.
Bronchial coughs, hickling, in throat and asthmatic spasms break one's rest and weaken one so that the system is run-down and serious sickness may result. Enos Halbert, Paoli, Ind., writes: "I had a severe cold this fall and coughed continually at night; could hardly sleep. The first bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me, entirely curing my cough." It covers irritated membranes with a healing and soothing coating, loosens phlegm and clears air passages.

SHERRY'S

NEWEST MARY GARDEN FILM.

"THE SPLENDID SINNER," HERE

The immediate result of Mary Garden's sensational success in Goldwyn's "Thais," in which she made her debut in motion pictures, is her appearance in a second Goldwyn production. Persuaded to essay another role before returning to the operatic stage, the great diva elects to portray a woman of today, created expressly by Kate Jordan for the further display of Mary Garden's extraordinary gifts as an actress in the silent drama. The result is "The Splendid Sinner," said to be fully representative of the Goldwyn standard in modern production and to touch a new height in story-telling as well. It is in this powerful play of today that Mary Garden is presented at the Sherry Theatre today only. A comedy also will be shown.

"The Prussian Cur."

The amazing crimes of the Kaiser's propagandists and secret agents in America are revealed with startling realism in "The Prussian Cur," the William Fox war-spectacle, coming to the Sherry Theatre tomorrow and Saturday.

This tremendous picture is not only based on recorded events of the world war, but it contains sensational inside information, and the manly side" revelations by Capt. Horst von der Goltz, who served the German government as a secret agent for ten years and at one time faced death in the Tower of London for his attempt to blow up the locks of the Welland canal in Canada. Moreover, Capt. von der Goltz personally appears in many of the stirring scenes.

The burning of factories, the destruction of merchant ships, the poisoning of public opinion with insidious German propaganda, the stirring up of labor troubles—all are woven into this stupendous picture play.

Through the various scenes move the mightiest figures of the last half century—Woodrow Wilson, Abraham Lincoln, General Pershing, Ambassador Gerard, General Foch, the Kaiser, the German Crown Prince, Bismarck, Von Hindenburg, Von Tirpitz, Von Bernstorff; hundreds of spies, secret service men, writers and speakers; thousands of persons appearing as factory workers, mobs, soldiers, sailors and students.

Every scene in "The Prussian Cur" is accurate as to history. The session of the United States congress on the eve of war, the great factory strike, the busy war activities, the landing of American troops in France and other momentous events form a mighty historical panorama.

Yet the story is softened by an inspiring love romance of two young Americans—a man and woman who risk all for the cause of human liberty.

assurance as that of the allied military successes. If the imperial German chancellor and the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister had hoped to start a popular move for peace, every sign pointed to their having grossly deceived themselves.

In general the opinion was expressed that the utterances of the enemy statesmen indicated no willingness to grant the demands of France for her lost territory, and expressed the view that a conference to discuss this question would be useless. It was pointed out in addition, that the Germans accompanied their peace move with an order for the starting of fire along the wide front, the horizon at the moment being ablaze with the flames from towns, villages and farms shedding a sinister glow upon the road of the German retreat.

Say Huns Are Insane.

"It must indeed be the case," declared the Petit Journal, "that the authors of these barbarous proceedings are out of their minds to sound such insane deeds at such a moment, betraying their pacific intentions."

Premier Clemenceau's newspaper, l'Homme Libre, declares that everything is subordinate to the question if the enemy does or does not accept simply and purely the principles and conditions stipulated by President Wilson.

"There is no necessity to have an armistice nor long negotiations for that, or to mince matters of compromise," that organ says.

The newspaper, France Libre, the nationalist Socialist organ, declares that it would accept in advance completely and fully what President Wilson would say and do, alluding to him as "the one whose noble intelligence and high moral integrity make him the world arbitrator."

PRESIDENT'S REPLY IN PAPERS

PARIS, Oct. 10.—President Wilson's reply to the German peace note was published in the noon editions of the newspapers Wednesday, and was greeted with general satisfaction and expression of approval throughout Paris.

"The note could not be improved upon; substitute Paris for Washington, as the date line, and the reply might have been dictated here," is an epitome of French public opinion as indicated by the popular reception of the presidential document.

Paris was on its way to luncheon when the newspapers containing the note came out, and the people literally fought for copies of the edition.

Will Give Huns No Respite.

The significant passage in the note in which President Wilson refuses to entertain the possibility of a cessation of hostilities and demanding the immediate withdrawal of the German troops, is interpreted as meaning that he allies will give the Germans no respite in their retreat.

ARCADE

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, THE STAR, AT THE ARCADE

To speak of the artistic ability and celebrity of Douglas Fairbanks as a screen star is comparable only to varying coal to Newcastle. Douglas Fairbanks needs no introduction to any audience, nor is it necessary to call attention to his remarkable distinction of being the greatest optimistic force in the field of silent drama. But in every photoplay in which this athletic Arcraft star appears, his admirers naturally find some new and more difficult stunts to engage their attention and to afford them fresh delights. It is not only the Fairbanks smile which attracts, nor the delectable athletic feats of which he is the most capable exponent in motion pictures, but his skill as an actor is conspicuously displayed in every portrayal he attempts. Thus, as a newspaper reporter in "Say, Young Fellow," his art is capably shown, and it is quite likely that the novelty of this picture will make it one of the most attractive of his large repertoire of picture successes.

Conserve Fuel

At this time when the saving of coal is so vitally necessary, an electric heater in the home or office is doubly important. Its use in the early fall to take off the chill, rather than having the furnace fire in commission when not absolutely necessary, means saving tremendous quantities of coal--

The Fuel Administration says, "SAVE COAL." You can do so by using Hedlite Heaters.
