

WHY MORE NORMAL SCHOOLS ARE NEEDED

It costs the State of Oregon $400,000 per year to reteach pupils who have failed to make their grade because of poor teaching.

The boys and girls who thus lose a year, have a year taken from them, which you or no one else can ever give back to them.

If the people could only realize the difference between poor teaching and good teaching, they would not hesitate to vote for the Normal School Bill.

The trained teacher will see to it that the great majority of her pupils progress, while the poorly trained teacher cannot advance the majority of her pupils. We owe it to the boys and girls and to our country to furnish them with the instruction that only trained teachers can give.

Consider these facts when you consider the Normal Bill on election day.
