WAR TIME RECIPES FOR THE HOUSEWIVES.

This is the season for pumpkins, and even though patriotic, will not use them for lanterns, we can keep up the American liking for pumpkin pie and have it without a quail of conscience. The following recipe is prepared by the United States Food Administration and is recommended as being one of our very patriotic winter desserts.

Two cups pumpkin (cooked and strained).
Half cup molasses or sorghum.
Teaspoon cinnamon.
Half teaspoon ginger.
Half teaspoon salt.
Two eggs.
Two cups milk.

Conservation Crust.

One and a half cups wheat or rye flour.
Half cup barley or corn flour.
Half teaspoon salt.
Quarter to half cup of fat.
Water to make stiff dough.

Sift flour and salt together. Cut the fat into the flour mixture. Add water, mixing and handling as little as possible. Wheat substitutes need a little more water than all wheat flour. Chill until ready to roll out.

If you want to have pumpkins ready for quickly made pies all winter, you may can them or dry them most successfully.

You may can pumpkin by cutting it in cubes after removing the rind. Blanch or scald, and pack in clean, freshly scalded jars. Fill the space left in the jars with boiling water. Place lids and rubbers on the jars, and arrange them in the boiler. Boil for two hours on the first day, and then let stand in the water. Always fasten the lids tightly after the first fifteen minutes of boiling.

On the second day boil for one hour, and for two more successive days, one hour of boiling is necessary. Pumpkin, as well as winter squash, may be treated as follows: Remove seed, cut the pumpkin or squash into strips, peel and remove stringy center, slice into small pieces and boil until thick; pack in jar and sterilize 120 minutes in hot-water bath. With steam pressure outfit sterilize sixty minutes and five and ten pounds pressure.

Pumpkin may be dried in this way: After removing the rind, slice the pumpkin thin. Thread these slices on a string, and hang them over the kitchen stove, or place them on racks in the oven. Do not have too much heat. Store them in paper bags, well tied.

If you use the dried kind for pies, soak it for one hour, preferably longer, then cook it as fresh pumpkin.

Apple-Grape Butter.
Four quarts of cored and sliced apples.
Half pound of sugar and one and one-fourth cups syrup.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
One pint grape juice.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.

Cook apples in double boiler without adding water until soft. Then put in preserving kettle, add grape juice, sugar syrup and salt; cook slowly until thick. Be careful not to scorch. Stir in cinnamon.

PRIVATE BENJAMIN B. MATOTT.

Private Matott volunteered with the heavy artillery on November 28, 1917, and was assigned to Battery C, 31st Regiment, C. A. C., Fort Casey, Washington, where he was in training for about seven months before being transferred overseas, in July.

Private Matott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Matott, 1604 Jefferson avenue. He comes from an old and highly respected family in this part of Oregon. Mr. Matott's grandfather having come over with the French hero, Lafayette, during the Revolutionary war, and Mrs. Matott being well known as the daughter of Judge Baker, closely associated with the early growth of this country.

His captain, W. M. Vestel, has this voluntary tribute to pay: "He seems to take an interest in the training and will not doubt prove a worthy figure when we get him into action."

In letters home, Private Matott writes as follows: "Am learning to like France more every day, but cannot grow accustomed to the wooden shoes and sleigh bells. One would think it was Christmas here sometimes, as nearly every horse has bells on. Of course we never see as many horses here as we did in the states. We see more oxen than anything else."

"I am going to play left-end in football this year. I think it will be better than baseball."

"I am living in a house with French people, and enjoy it very much."

Mr. and Mrs. Matott are justly proud of their boy and each week a letter is exchanged between the United States and "Somewhere in France." "In all our correspondence," said Mrs. Matott, "we have not once mentioned the war. Before Bennie went across and while he was still in the training camp, we often discussed it, but now that he is in the midst of it he does not need to be reminded. We try to write cheerful letters."

Gilbert W. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hunter, of Island City, writes from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, that 13 out of his company have died of influenza and that but 30 out of the 130 in the company have escaped the disease.

Private Hunter is a graduate of the La Grande high school. His detachment was to have left for overseas service about September 23, and was detained first on account of an epidemic of the measles, and later influenza.

He writes in part: "I have been drilling as acting-sergeant and expect to get my warrant before I leave here."

"Well, the Spanish influenza virus did hit this camp, but it's on the decline now. Our battalion was hit worse than any other camp. Last Monday, there were over one hundred from our company in the hospital and only thirty of the company escaped having it. Thirteen out of our company escaped having it, and three more are not expected to live. There is not much danger from influenza unless it develops into pneumonia and then you are a goner."

"I don't suppose we will get away from here for some time, at least not until our men get out of the hospital. We would have left here two weeks ago, if it had not been for the influenza."

"It is monotonous being in quarantine, the only thing we can do is to attend the open air Y. M. C. A. movies."

Private Hunter further writes that a medical examination is conducted each morning and any with symptoms of sickness are immediately sent to the hospital where they are given every medical attention.

just fine and weigh 167 pounds. You can see it is doing me good as I weighed only 136 when I was inside all the time.

"About two weeks ago one evening, I was going for a walk and who do you suppose I met? Bobbie Hatterson. You can't imagine what a surprise it was to both of us. He had heard we were somewhere in this part of the country and had walked about eight miles to see me. I went back with him and spent three days in their camp. I saw them all and they are enjoying good health. Homer hasn't changed a bit and is a real soldier. I also saw Rev. Clark and had a long talk with him. Afterwards he came to our camp to visit Dr. Bouvy who is with us. I sometimes think this world isn't so large when you can meet someone you know way over here in this land."

"I guess Uncle Sam is sending the young and old both to shoulder a gun now, but I think it will all be over in another year and we will be home about a year from this Christmas. We are expecting something big to happen right soon. Before this reaches you it will mean a whole lot to us."

Don't Always Blame the Telephone Operator When You Are Called By Mistake

Were you ever called to the telephone when another number was wanted? When this occurs, the operator, to be sure, may have humanly erred by ringing on the wrong line. More often, however, it is the fault of the person making the call. People often ask for 456, for example, when 546 is wanted and then either "hang up" when the mistake is realized or become impatient when the wrong person answers. Unfamiliarity with the work of telephone operating often prompts unjust criticism. Please don't forget the earnestness of the operator's effort when some occasional service difficulty does arise.

ACQUIRING A PERFECT FIGURE

Most women who have perfect figures did not have them originally. They have acquired them. A woman gradually takes the shape of her corset so the corset produced by the most artistic designer is the right one to wear to secure a perfect figure.

MODERN CORSETS Front Laced

are most symmetrically and artistically designed. They are comfortable, stylish and gradually mold the figure into those beautiful lines that every woman admires and desires.
