

Other States Have Number of Normal Schools

WISCONSIN, frequently praised for educational advantages, has nine Normal Schools scattered generally over the state. Massachusetts has ten, all so located that each section of the state is served. Minnesota has five; South Dakota has three; Nebraska has four; Kansas has three; Missouri has five; Oklahoma, a new and literally modern state has six; Tennessee has five; Pennsylvania has thirteen and New York has ten.

• These facts conclusively prove that Oregon is not providing for the training of teachers for the boys and girls. Eastern Oregon will not provide for the education of its children until it furnishes a Normal School for the training of its teachers.

Parents, your opportunity for providing for the proper education of your children confronts you.
