ACQUIRING A PERFECT FIGURE

Most women who have perfect figures did not have them originally. They have acquired them. A woman gradually takes the shape of her corset so the corset produced by the most artistic designer is the right one to wear to secure a perfect figure.

MODART CORSETS Front Laced are most symmetrically and artistically designed. They are comfortable, stylish and gradually mold the figure into those beautiful lines that every woman admires and desires. PAULINE LEDERLE

Displays Coin Collection Mrs. J. C. Walrath of the Land and Investment Company in the Foley building has placed an interesting collection of different denominations of Swiss, English, French, German, Norwegian and Chinese coins on display in the windows of her office. The coins have been collected by Private Walrath who is connected with the intelligence department with the American Army in France. The coin of oldest date is an English one made in 1782.

A Lorraine cross, souvenir cigarette lighter from Paris are also being exhibited. The latter is a round case of copper, about three inches in diameter and bearing on either side a caricature of the Crown Prince, in one instance in sorrow at his failure to take Paris and the other in hopes of capturing that city. It was sent to Nolan Skiff, by Private Walrath.

Completing the display are three samples of exquisite hand embroidery which Private Walrath purchased from a little Belgian girl whose eyesight was destroyed in injuries received during the raid on her country during the early part of the war. One piece represents "Les Halles" Ypres and another is a personal token. On the card enclosed in an embroidered card case the little maid had written in script seldom equalled by Americans, the only words she knew in English, "I love you."

Renovating Theater Manager H. E. Thrull of the Sherry theater is taking advantage of the closed season to thoroughly renovate the place. All the cubber matting will be replaced and many other improvements will be added for the comfort and convenience of patrons.

"Godmother of the Polish Army" Greeted With Cheers by Officers and Men.

Paris.—A woman alighted from the train at what remains of a little railroad station very close to the front. Her hair was a trifle gray but her cheeks were pink, and she seemed to be very happy to be arriving in that place.

Very soon the reason became apparent. A military policeman was on duty in the station. He stared and gave a shout, "Mrs. Haring." "I got here at last," she said as she shook hands—a handshake such as is exchanged between friends long separated.

"You're going to be with us?" "As long as they let me." Mrs. Haring went out and up the street, searching for the daily shifting headquarters of the Y. M. C. A.—for the war was moving with great rapidity since the new offensive began.

An automobile containing a captain and three lieutenants stopped with a screaming of the brakes. Young men bolted out of the car to surround Mrs. Haring as if she were the belle of the season.

Another car stopped. More officers. Around the edge privates lined up waiting their chance. From that moment here was a triumphal progress up the street. It seemed as if the whole American army wanted to follow her.

It was a happy party, a laughing, handshaking, congratulating party that surrounded the little Y. M. C. A. woman. She was back, back with the troops she had served and left for a time. They were doing their best to show her how glad they were to see her and were succeeding wonderfully.

The record of Mrs. Augusta Haring of New York city is enviable. She is a musician. It was she who, with Miss Myrtle Stinson of Greenfield, O., organized the Y. M. C. A. work in the new Polish army, most of which was recruited in the United States. For four months she worked among these men—a country until the war is over and victory comes to the allies.

Her proudest moment was when the commander of the Poles, in a public manner, bestowed on her the title of Godmother of the Polish Army.

Wasted Energy. Eleanor, aged five, was outwitting with her parents in the rural districts one cool summer evening. On approaching a farm that boasted of a windmill, she said: "Oh, mamma, the farmer's got his fan going on a cold night."—Chicago Examiner.

JUDGE BENNETT'S CANDIDACY

The recent death of Justice Moore, of the Supreme Court, has left a vacancy to be filled, and as there is not time to legally have any names printed on the ballot, the voters must write in a name. Among the candidates, is A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, who is recognized as one of the ablest lawyers in the state, and will be a credit to that high court. This is not a partisan office, though there are already six Republicans on the bench, besides the place to be filled.

Write "X—A. S. Bennett" in the vacant place on the ticket. Such positions as this should never be made a matter of political schemes or pulls, but merit should be given the greater weight in selection of jurists. JNO. S. HODGINS, La Grande, Oregon. Paid Adv.—10-30-1t.

Mrs. Smith Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have had more or less stomach trouble for eight or ten years," writes Mrs. G. H. Smith, Brewerton, N. Y. "When suffering from attacks of indigestion and heaviness after eating, one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets have always relieved me. I have also found them a pleasant laxative." "These tablets tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you are troubled with indigestion give them a trial, get well and stay well. Adv.

PAY CASH AND SAVE

As announced before, November 1 is the date when we shall transform our business into a strictly cash one. We make this second announcement to prevent any possible misunderstanding in the matter, because we believe all customers will co-operate with us in making it a success when they realize that we adopt the cash system because we know it will enable us to better promote the interests of all who trade with us.

It should also be understood that the adoption of the cash system has no individual bearing. We have in the past extended credit to everybody we thought worthy whether they were financially responsible or not.

In changing to the other plan, we must, in justice, be equally unbiased and decline credit to every one, no matter how ample their financial resources may be.

No one can take any exceptions to a rule that applies to everybody alike and we ask all customers to kindly bear this rule in mind after November 1, and not ask for credit, and oblige.

Those having accounts with us will please call and settle same, as we wish to close our books as soon as possible. LA GRANDE PHARMACY. 10-29-3t.
